PLAZA CLEARING BEGUN, BUILDINGS ON CHESTNUT ST. ARE FIRST TO GO

U.S. Housing Chief Announces Project Has Been Made Eligible for Liberalized Financing.

Wreckers began razing buildings in the Plaza area today after a brief ceremony in which Mayor Raymond R. Tucker hailed the end of the planning stage and the beginning of demolition and construction of the urban rehabilitation project.

Buildings at 1627 and 1631 Chestnut street were the first to be demolished in eight and one-half blocks of slum property to be cleared for sale to private redevlopers who plan to erect middle-income housing on the site for some 1100 families.

Meanwhile, Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole announced in Washington that the Plaza housing project as well as 32 others throughout the nation had been made eligible for liberalized FHA financing under the 1954 Housing Act.

Insurance Ceiling Boosted.

Under the new law, the Federal Housing Administration is authorized to insure, on long-term mortgages, up to 95 per cent of the first $9000 of the cost of each family unit. Previously, the insurance limit was 80 to 83 per cent of the cost. The insurance applies only to residential units and not to commercial space. For that reason it was impossible to determine immediately how much less equity capital the private redeveloper will have to advance on the project.

Mayor Tucker mounted the cab of a 22½-ton crane on a vacant lot next to 1627 Chestnut and under the directions of the operator, Charles Murray, swung a 4710-pound "headache ball" against the side of the structure. It was a clean hit and the heavy ball penetrated the brick wall amid a cascade of bricks and clouds of dust.

Thereafter, Murray manuvered the ball into position for six more passes at the wall, knocking down an area of about 20 by 20 feet. Workmen and some of the guests scurried away from the choking clouds of dust. Later a hose was used to dampen the dried out mortar.

Reviews Project's History.

Mayor Tucker called the ceremony the most important he had shared in since becoming Mayor. He reviewed the history of the project, which includes a block-wide park or mall between Market and Chestnut streets from Fifteenth to Eighteenth streets. It will connect Aloe and Memorial plazas and serve as a recreation area for the tenants of the housing project.

Recalling that a proposal to issue bonds for the park and the remainder of the city's share of the project cost had been defeated by the voters in 1952, he said this defeat was followed by a new spirit that had pervaded the city. A new bond issue proposal of $1,500,000 was overwhelmingly approved in September 1953.

"When our citizens see the results of our years of planning I am sure they will be convinced that public improvements such as this are the springboard for greater things for a greater St. Louis," he said.

"This will only be a sample of the many things we can accomplish in our city if the voters approve the $110,639,000 bond issue program which was announced only last Sunday."

Thanks Citizen Groups.

He expressed thanks to Edwin M. Clark, chairman of the citizens' committee which successfully conducted the campaign for the Plaza zond issue, and to the Urban Redevelopment Corp.

WORD STILL BEING AWAITED HERE ON MASS SALK SHOTS

Inoculation of East Side children with Salk polio vaccine entered its second day today but St. Louis and St. Louis county health authorities still had not been informed when vaccine for mass inoculation would arrive.

City and county health departments received letters yesterday from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which is supplying vaccine free for inoculation of all first and second-grade school children, reporting that vaccine for a total of 56,700 children would be shipped as soon as possible.

There are about 56,000 eligible children in the city and county, but parents of only about 90 per cent have given permission for the inoculations. Thus, the amount of vaccine to be sent will be ample for the first shots. Second shots will be given about a month later.

Letters from the foundation, in addition to stating the amount of vaccine, also said that telegrams would be sent by the producing laboratories when shipment is made, announcing the shipping means used and expected time of arrival.

Meanwhile, health departments and physicians' offices were being swamped by an increasing number of inquiries from anxious mothers wondering when their children could receive the "shots."

Doctors repeated assurances that inoculations given in the next few weeks would be in ample time to be effective when the polio season starts this summers.

Dr. C. F. Leonard, director of the East Side Health District, covering East St. Louis and three adjoining townships, said inoculations would start tomorrow in two East St. Louis and seven Centreville Township schools. Inoculations started yesterday in other parts of St. Clair county and in Madison county.

Dr. Leonard planned a trip to Springfield today to pick up additional vaccine to take the place of about 3000 shots, which apparently were mislaid in a mail shipment from Springfield, Ill. A box containing 2700 shots arrived yesterday.

East Side District schools where inoculations begin tomorrow will be Dunbar and Edgemont in East St. Louis and the Centreville, Maplewood, Jerome, Pitzman, Cahokia, Immaculate Conception and Holy Family in Centreville Township.

Today's schedule in St. Clair and Madison counties called for inoculations at the Niedringhaus and Washington grade schools in Granite City; Cathedral, St. Theresa's and Franklin schools in Belleville and four schools in Collinsville.

Schedule for the rest of the week: St. Clair county—Freeburg, Lebanon, Marissa and Millstadt tomorrow; New Athens, O'Fallon and Caseyville Thursday and Mascoutah and Dupo Friday. Madison county—Alton, East Alton and Troy tomorrow; Roxana and Wood River Thursday and Edwardsville, Highland, Bethalto and Livingston Friday.

SPLIT TO END ON BROADWAY STREETCAR LINE

Public Service Co. announced today it was abandoning the split in the Broadway streetcar line, which resulted in traffic jame in the downtown area, and that the line would be operated on a "through" basis again, starting May 1.

The line was split starting April 10, as a result of the zone-fare increase granted Public Service Co. by the Missouri Public Service Commission.

The company said today the Public Service Commission, at an informal meeting, had approved a "slight change" in zone-fare collection procedure that would be necessary for return to the "through" single-line for Broadway cars.

The change from split line operation was suggested in a letter to the company by Charles G. Gonter, city traffic commissioner, and Maj. William Cibulka, head of the police traffic division.

RISK FIRM CANCELS 'JOE MUST GO' CLUB HEAD'S CAR POLICY

SAUK CITY, Wis., April 19 (UP)—Editor Leroy Gore today searched for an insurance company which will give him a policy on his automobile even though he once led a campaign to recall Senator Joseph R. McCarthy.

Gore said the Lumberman's Mutual Casualty Co. had canceled his car insurance because of his leadership of the "Joe Must Go" club.

The insurance company explained that Gore's anti-McCarthy stand might prejudice the company's case if Gore should be involved in an automobile accident, Gore said.

"The insurance company is presuming that because I headed the Joe Must Go club, I could not get a fair trial or an unprejudiced jury to hear my case if I ever became involved in an automobile damage suit," Gore said.

DENMARK RATIFIES PARIS TREATIES TO REARM GERMANY

COPENHAGEN, April 19 (AP)—Parliament today approved 145-24 the Paris treaties providing for West Germany's rearmament and membership in the North Atlantic treaty alliance.

The action makes Denmark the last country but one to give parliamentary approval to the Paris treaties. Only The Netherlands's Senate has not yet made the final decision.

FRENCH AIRLINER OVERDUE, FEARED DOWN OFF AFRICA

DOUALA, French West Africa, April 19 (UP) — A four-engine French airliner with 12 persons aboard it was long overdue and was feared to have gone down at sea today.

The plane disappeared last night and six search planes were dispatched to look for it. They were unsuccessful, but officials here refused to give up hope that the missing craft would be found.

The plane carried 10 passengers and two crew members.

DULLES SAYS M'CARDLE GAVE OUT YALTA TEXT

Asserts Aid Did Not Violate Security by Releasing Papers to New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today that Carl W. McCardle was the man who gave out the Yalta papers a day ahead of their general release.

Dulles told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that McCardle, assistant secretary for public affairs, "gave a galley proof" to the New York Times the evening of March 15.

"This involved an exercise by Mr. McCardle of a discretion that was his," Dulles said. "It involved no breach of security."

Dulles said he had concluded by the time the one copy was given out that the British government had withdrawn its objections to publication and that that publication would not hurt United States relations with its allies.

Reversal in One Day.

The release of the single copy came just a day after the State Department had said disclosure of the record of the wartime conference among British Prime Minister Churchill, Soviet Premier Stalin and the late President Roosevelt would not be in the national interest.

Dulles was summoned to a closed-door session of the committee, headed by Senator George (Dem.), Georgia, and read a prepared statement. In it Dulles said that James B. Reston of the New York Times told Dulles and McCardle the morning of March 15 it was Reston's "impression" of a conversation he said he had with George "that the Senator wished t see the Yalta record made public by the State Department."

Reston is the Washington correspondent for the Times.

Reston, Dulles said, "urged that it was of the utmost importance that the papers be published as a whole and not in garbled form."

"I said that such matters fell under the jurisdiction of Mr. McCardle . . . who was a former newspaper man."

Reston, McCardle Leave.

Dulles said Reston and McCardle left him at that point and Dulles "subsequently learned" that McCardle "gave a galley proof to Mr. Reston about 8:30 that evening."

Dulles told the committee it was not until shortly after 10 a.m. of March 16 that "the British ambassador phoned me that his government agreed to publication and that a confirmation cable from London was on its way to me."

Thus the papers were, by Dulles's account, given to the Times before the British formally agreed to publication.

But Dulles said the British Ambassador had "indicated his concurrence" to publication on March 15. In a telephone conversation with the Ambassador that morning, Dulles said, "I said I would advise Sir Anthony Eden (now Prime Minister and then Foreign Secretary) of my views" that publication should not be delayed longer.

"I sent a message to Sir Anthony saying that I thought it undesirable to perpetuate a situation which created an atmosphere of mystery and concealment and that, accordingly, unless he felt strongly against it, I proposed to publish."

Although the Times got its copy ahead of other news media, it did not publish a story on the papers until after the general release.

After the session, Senator Morse (Dem.), Oregon, accused Dulles of acting in "collusion" with McCardle and Reston in

BILL FOR MAY 26 VOTE ON CIVIC BOND ISSUE GOES TO ALDERMEN

Mayor Tucker Asks Board to Meet Every Day So That Measure Can Be Approved This Week.

(Picture in Everyday Magazine.)

A bill to submit to the voters a $110,639,000 bond issue for public improvements at a special election next May 26 was introduced today in the Board of Aldermen as the board held its first meeting of the new session.

After Mayor Raymond R. Tucker asked the aldermen to meet daily so that the bill could be passed this week, the board agreed to meet tomorrow. If no opposition develops, the bill could be passed on Thursday under suspension of the rules. The measure was introduced jointly by Board President Donald Gunn and Aldermen James W. Noonan, Third ward, the majority floor leader, and Anton Niemeyer, Eighth Ward, vice president of the board.

Introduction of the bill at the opening meeting required a brief recess to permit Gunn to attend a meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, the city's fiscal agency, whose approval was necessary for the bond issue bill before it could be offered.

Expressway Routes.

While the bond issue measure was the only bill introduced before the board recessed for the day, the Board of Public Service immediately after the recess gave approval to two bills prepared for introduction establishing the routes of the proposed Ozark and Daniel Boone expressways. The aldermen established the route of the Mark Twain expressway during the preceding session.

Introduction of the bill followed the inauguration of Gunn as new president of the board. Fourteen aldermen from even-numbered wards also took the oath of office following an invocation by the Rev. Anthony F. Schuermann of St. Engelbert's Catholic Church. The board now has 25 Democratic and 4 Republican members.

In addition to calling for action on the bond issue election, Mayor Tucker said he would submit in the near future bills "calling for the election next September of a board of freeholders to draft a new city charter" and another to establish a master truck route plan for the city.

Need for Haste.

In his speech appealing to the aldermen for passage of the bond issue bill this week, Mayor Tucker said "there is a need for haste because of the legal requirements for advertising an election. I am sure the people of St. Louis can look forward to quick action on the measure."

Reviewing the work of the Citizens' Bond Issue Screening Committee, he said a list of proposed projects with an estimated cost of $242,000,000 was received by the committee. This demonstrates, he declared, how the needs of the city have accumulated over the years. The screening committee cut the list of recommended projects down from the higher figure to the present one.

He told the board that since 1946 voters in Cleveland have approved issuance of $110,000,000 in improvement bonds; Baltimore, $102,000,000, and Kansas City, $107,000,000. In St. Louis, in that period, he added, only $5,500,000 in bonds have been authorized, including $4,000,000 for rubbish collection facilities and $1,500,000 for the Plaza slum clearance project.

Bonded Indebtedness Low.

"At the present time," Mayor Tucker said, "the city's bonded indebtedness is among the lowest of all the large cities of the nation. That makes this the opportune time to launch a campaign for a bold program of public improvements.

"In view of the fact that the budget is not ready for your consideration, I urge that you meet daily to consider the bond issue ordinance. Counsel has advised us that there are no legal objections to adopting the bond issue ordinance before consideration of the budget.

"As you know, I have publicly stated that passage of all bond issue propositions will mean a property tax increase not to exceed 5 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. This means that this bold, comprehensive program will cost the average small home owner about 17 cents a month. This is based on our city assessor's statement that the average small home is assessed at approximately $4000.

"This very small tax increase will be materially reduced or eliminated by the new city earnings tax regulations which permit individuals to deduct their federal and state income tax payments before computing their earnings tax."

23 Categories.

The improvement program as recommended in the bond issue has been divided into 23 categories. Each of these will be listed separately on the ballot and to be adopted, each category must receive two-thirds of the votes cast on that proposition.

Mayor Tucker did not enumerate in detail the various

RUSSIA CALLS FOR AUSTRIA PARLEY; U.S. SYMPATHETIC

State Department Conferring With Britain, France on Speeding Peace Treaty.

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—The United States said today "prompt and sympathetic consideration" is being given to Russia's call for a meeting of Big Four foreign ministers on Austrian independence.

A State Department said the United States, Britain and France are in fact "already exploring the most expeditious methods of reaching a speedy conclusion of the state treaty for Austria."

The statement said the United States "is glad to learn that the Soviet government appears now to seek urgently" a treaty restoring Austrian independence.

This has been the goal of the Western Allies for nine years, the statement said. It added that they have "consistently pressed the Soviet government for a settlement of the Austrian question as essential to the relaxation of international tensions in Europe."

TELLS BANDUNG CONFERENCE U.S. IS SUBVERTING REDS IN CHINA

Premier Assures Asian-African Delegates He Will Not Raise Questions of U.N. Seat or Formosa.

By ROBERT EUNSON

BANDUNG, Indonesia, April 19 (AP)—Red China's Premier Chou En-lai told the Asian-African conference today that "both in the East and in the West, the danger of war is increasing."

But he also added: "The peaceful coexistence of countries with different social systems can be realized."

Chou's only reference to the Formosa situation was one sentence: "The United States continues to create tension in the Taiwan (Formosa) area."

Chou had other tough words about the United States.

He declared Communist China was not interested in subversive activities but instead is being "subverted by the United States of America."

"If you do not believe this," he told the delegates, "then you can send representatives to China to take a look. You are all welcome."

Chou continued: "We do not hide the fact that we believe in Communism. But this is not a meeting to discuss ideologies but to seek a common ground and not great divergencies."

Communist China, he said, had come to Bandung ready to comply with the decisions of the sponsoring nations, and not to raise other questions.

'We Have No Proposals.'

"We have no proposals," Chou asserted. "China could raise the question of the liberation of Taiwan (Formosa) and the neighboring islands. We could have made criticism of the unfair treatment of China in the United Nations but we are not going to do that."

Aside from the charge of United States subversion, most of Chou's speech followed a conciliatory line, emphasizing chiefly his contention that "peaceful coexistence of countries with different social systems can be realized."

Chou said international tension was reduced following the Korea armistice and the Indochinese cease-fire.

He invited the whole world to join with China, India and Burma in supporting the five principles of "peaceful coexistence."

"Following these principles, China and Indonesia have already achieved good results in their preliminary talks on the question of the nationality of the citizens of one country residing in another," Chou said.

"During the Geneva conference China also expressed readiness to develop friendly relations with the Indochinese states on the basis of these five principles. There is no reason why the relations between China and Thailand, the Philippines and other neighboring countries cannot be improved.

Ready for Normal Ties.

"China is ready to establish normal relations with other Asian and African countries on the basis of strict adherence to these principles and is willing to promote the normalization of relations between China and Japan.

"In order to promote mutual understanding and co-operation among us, we propose that the governments, parliaments and peoples' organizations of the Asian and African countries make friendly visits to each other's countries."

Chou's speech followed a line that he has been promoting throughout the conference—"sweetness and charm" in the words of one impressed Middle Eastern delegate.

He denied that Communism sought to interfere in the internal affairs of independent countries and said China was ready to co-operate for cultural and economic development.

"If nations give us an assurance not to commit aggression against each other, conditions will be created in international relations for peaceful coexistence," Chou said.

"If nations give us assurance not to interfere in each other's internal affairs it will then be possible for the people of those countries to choose their own political system and way of life in accordance with their own will. . . .

"By following the principles of mutual respect for sovereignty and territorial integrity, nonaggression, noninterference in each other's internal affairs, equality and mutual benefit, the peaceful coexistence of countries with different social systems can be realized. When these principles are insured of implementation there is no reason why international

FIRST RED CHINA DRAFT FINISHES BEHIND SCHEDULE

HONG KONG, April 19 (UP)—Red China today announced the completion of its first draft for the armed services a month behind schedule.

The Communist New China news agency in dispatches in local Chinese newspapers said the conscription program was finished by the end of March. The order issued last Sept. 11 called for 450,000 men to be drafted between Nov. 1 and Feb. 28.

Chekiang province along the eastern coast north of Formosa was the last to fulfill its quota, the news agency said.

The conscription is the preliminary step to compulsory military service in Red China. The standing committee of the National People's Congress has circulated a proposed draft law to provincial governments for study and will bring it before the full legislative body in Peiping later this year.

NEHRU RECEIVES EINSTEIN PLAN FOR COLD WAR TRUCE

BANDUNG, Indonesia, April 19 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru of India has just received a letter from Dr. Albert Einstein containing proposals for a five-year truce in the cold war, a member of the Indian delegation to the Asian-African conference said today. Einstein died yesterday in Princeton, N. J.

The delegation spokesman said the truce plan was proposed to permit statesmen to work out a long-term substitute for war.

In his letter, Einstein warned Nehru that weapons of mass destruction would destroy the world unless man could find means of living in peace, the delegation source said.

Nehru and the scientist had corresponded occasionally for some years on world problems and possible solutions. The Indian source did not say exactly when the last communication from Einstein had been written.

STRONG QUAKES IN GREECE

ATHENS, April 19 (AP) — Strong earthquakes were felt today in central Greece. An unofficial report from Volos, port city of 50,000 population, said "very great damage" was suffered.

Security police in Volos said by telephone to Athens one person was killed, and perhaps half the houses damaged. The town was plunged into darkness because of a power failure. Volos is about 100 miles northwest of Athens.

Stevenson Arrives in Rome.

ROME, April 19 (UP) — Adlai Stevenson arrived by plane from New York tonight on his way to a three-week business and sightseeing trip in Africa. He was accompanied by William McCormick Blair Jr., a law associate.

CHOU AGREES TO MEETING ON FORMOSA ISSUE

To Confer With Leaders of Seven Neutral and Pro-West Nations at Bandung.

BANDUNG, Indonesia, April 19 (UP)—Premier Chou En-lai of Communist China agreed today to meet with top officials of seven neutral and pro-Western nations to discuss the potentially explosive Formosa situation.

Sir John Kotelawala, Prime Minister of Ceylon, announced that the eight powers would meet tomorrow to discuss world tension and seek an end to the Formosa crisis despite a new vow by Chou in an address here to "liberate" it.

Kotelawala said Chou had agreed to meet with him, Prime Minister Nehru of India, Prime Minister Ali Sastroamidjojo of Indonesia, Premier U Nu of Burma, Premier Mohammed Ali of Pakistan, Gen. Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines and Prince Wan of Thailand.

Kotelawala said he was "bringing them together" informally, but reliable sources said the threat of war in Formosa would be the chief subject of discussion.

The Chinese Reds have threatened to invade Formosa, bastion of American-backed Generalisimo Chiang Kai-shek, leader of the Nationalist Chinese.

Chou's speech today to the Asian-African conference delegates, in which he assailed the United States and referred again to "China's will to liberate her own territory of Taiwan (Formosa)," seemed to doom tomorrow's meeting to failure.

WIRE USED TO FLY KITE HITS POWER LINE, TWO KILLED

WAYNESVILLE, Mo., April 19 (AP)—A copper wire being used to fly a kite came in contact with a high voltage wire yesterday, electrocuting a man and his wife. A third person suffered shock and burns.

Sheriff Dorsey Rayl said the wife, Mrs. Fred Martison, 22 years old, was flying the kite near a trailer parking area where the couple lived. When the kite wire struck the voltage line, the husband attempted to rescue his wife. Both were enveloped in a ball of fire.

Also injured was Sgt. James J. Wagnitz who was nearby. He was taken to a hospital at Fort Leonard Wood. Wagnitz said he had warned the couple of the danger of using the wire as a kite string.

No Women--Not Even the Bride--At Wedding of King of Jordan

AMMAN, Jordan, April 19 (AP) — Twenty-year-old King Hussein married his schoolteacher cousin, Princess Dina Abdul Hamid, today in a Moslem ceremony from which all women—including the bride — were barred.

Dina's father, Prince Abdul Abdul Hamid, signed the official contract making the marriage legally binding. King Hussein signed for himself with his 20-year-old cousin, King Faisal II of Iraq, at his side.

The King and his new Queen were to meet for the first time as man and wife at an evening reception in Raghadan palace, overlooking Amman.

The day was a public holiday. Jordanians jammed the streets of the city for the parades and other festivities, including fireworks shot from surrounding hills.

The 26-year-old bride — a former English instructor at Cairo university—is a member of the Hashemite family as are both Hussein and Faisal.

She grew up in Egypt and has a master's degree from Cambridge university. Hussein also was educated in England and both he and his bride have adopted many Western ways.

The royal couple has been showered with wedding gifts from around the globe. President Eisenhower sent a Steuben glass bowl along with his personal congratulations.

Convicts Lose Secret Golf Links, Official and Guard Suspended

BOSTON, April 19 (AP)—The golfers among Massachusetts State Prison inmates today had their secret golf course and their golf clubs taken away from them.

In addition, Deputy Warden Albert Thompson and Guard Victor Anchukiatis were suspended yesterday for lowering four golf clubs from the wall to the prisoners on March 31.

Acting Warden Perley S. Vance said he had no knowledge of any golf course within the prison walls.

An employe of the corrections department said, however, that some of the prisoners who work in the foundry built a miniature course in the yard outside the shop.

47 LIBERALS APPEAL TO U.S. NOT TO DEFEND QUEMOY, MATSU

Prominent Group Supports Protecting Formosa, but Says Situation of Off-Shore Islands Is Different.

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 19—Forty-seven prominent American liberals urged President Eisenhower today to make clear that the United States will not commit its forces in defense of Matsu and Quemoy and not permit them to become a cause of war.

In a telegram made public by the Americans for Democratic Action, the signers affirmed their belief in strong support for the defense of Formosa and the Pescadores islands but pointed out that Matsu and Quemoy "are inseparable from the mainland by reason of their situation and, as you observed some months ago, not essential for the defense of Formosa and the Pescadores."

The telegram backed up Adlai Stevenson's recent nation-wide radio address by asking the President to "invoke the co-operation of other free nations, through the General Assembly of the United Nations or by direct negotiations, to join with the United States in seeking a solution, in accordance with international law, which will remove the danger of war over the Quemoy and Matsu islands."

Among the Signers.

Among the signers were Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt; Norman Thomas, veteran Socialist leader; W. P. Kennedy, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen; Elmer Davis, author and radio commentator; Benjamin V. Cohen, former State Department adviser; the Rev. John Haynes Holmes, former pastor of the Community Church, New York; Dr. Frank Aydelotte, former director of the Institute of Advanced Studies, Princeton, and Harvard Professors Zechariah Chafee Jr., Seymour E. Harris, Alvin Hansen and Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr; and Arthur M. Schlesinger Sr., former Harvard professor.

"The undersigned, believing that when you said there is no alternative to peace you expressed the passionate desire of all Americans, do respectfully entreat you to use all the powers of your great office to prevent the United States from becoming engaged in hostilities over the possession of the islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

"We respectfully urge that you take immediate steps to extricate the United States and the world from the present menace of war in the Formosa Strait. We submit that the islands over which this threat arises are inseparable from the mainland by reason of their situation and, as you observed some months ago, not essential for the defense of Formosa and the Pescadores.

Support on Formosa.

"We support wholeheartedly your determination to defend Formosa and the Pescadores against Communist aggression. We believe the future status of Formosa should be determined by international agreement, without the use of force, and with due regard to the wishes of the Formosan people. We believe this policy will command the support of the American people and of the peoples of the free nations throughout the world.

"We ask that you invoke the co-operation of other free nations, through the General Assembly of the United Nations or by direct consultation, to join with the United States in seeking a solution, in accordance with international law, which will remove the danger of war over the Quemoy and Matsu islands. In these negotiations, we urge you to make clear that the United States will not commit its forces to the defense of these islands and will not permit them to become a cause of war. The operations in the Tachens earlier this year offers a useful and successful precedent for withdrawal from the Quemoy and Matsu islands."

The other signers were:

Mrs. Sadie T. M. Alexander, Philadelphia attorney; Arthur V. Altmeyer, former social security administrator; Miss Mary Anderson, former director, Women's Bureau, Department of Labor; Roger N. Baldwin, national chairman, American Civil Liberties Union; Theodore M. Berry, Cincinnati attorney; Prof. Henry M. Busch, sociology dept., Western Reserve University; Albert Sprague Coolidge, Massachusetts civic leader; the Rev. A. Powell Davies, pastor, All Souls Unitarian church, Wash., D.C. disputes cannot be settled through negotiation."

'No World War Without Us.'

Syria's Foreign Minister, Khaled Azem, told the representatives of the Asian and African nations:

"Without us, a world war cannot be waged. We command great manpower and vital materials."

He raised the Palestine problem again and accused Israel of being "neither a part of Asian or of Africa, but only an outpost of imperialism."

He called French possessions in North Africa "one great concentration camp" and appealed for conference support of Indonesia's claim to Dutch New Guinea.

"To achieve peace," he said, "pockets of imperialism must be wiped out."

New Attacks on Reds.

Chou's speech followed new attacks on Communist expansion by Asian allies of the West today. They did not call the Reds by name but their meaning was clear.

The Philippine delegation chief warned the conference "not to surrender blindly to a new super-barbarism, a new super-imperialism, a new superpower." He declared:

"We do not want leadership in our countries subservient to foreign rulers, be they in London or Paris, The Hague or Washington, or, we might add, Moscow."

"Do we fight to regain our manhood from Western colonial rulers only to surrender it to rulers among ourselves who seize the power to keep us enslaved?" Romulo asked.

"This kind of power, once established, roots itself more deeply, gets more and more committed to perpetuating itself. Moreover . . . this system of power becomes inherently expansionist. It cannot accept the promise of peace with opponents outside its borders any more than it can make peace with opponents inside its borders.

"It seeks and must seek to crush all opposition wherever it exists."

Romulo also paid pointed and specific tribute to the United States and his nation's long association with it. He said:

"We of the Philippines have experienced the good faith of the United States in our own relationship and we feel the principles upon which it was based will ultimately prevail."

The Pakistan Prime Minister, whose government receives United States military aid and is a member of the Western-backed Turkish-Pakistani alliance, also avoided mentioning Communism by name. He warned the Asian and African nations to "be careful not to open the door to new and more insidious forms of imperialism that masquerade in the guise of liberation."

"Weaker nations must have no cause to fear aggression or economic expioitation or ideological domination," he declared.

"If peace in the world is to be preserved, every nation must respect the independence and integrity of other nations, their way of life and their pattern of government, abjuring acts of aggression or cocercion and, more insidious but equally reprehensible, acts of subversion."

Ali earlier had been reported planning to defend defense arrangements with the West by asking directly: "If it is proper for the Chinese Communists to enter into a mutual defense pact with Soviet Russia and at the same time proclaim peaceful coexistence, by the same logic why isn't a similar arrangement proper for others?"

He modified this, however, to an assertion that all nations should have the "right to self defense, exercised singly or collectively."

Ali also said he would speak later on the "necessity of banning the experimental explosion of nuclear and thurmonuclear weapons" and on reduction of armaments.

Dangers of allowing the Asian-African conference to become an organization of non-white races against the whites were pointed out by Romulo.

"It is one of our heaviest responsibilities that we of Asia and Africa have not to fall ourselves into the racist trap," he said.

"We will do this if we respond to the white man's prejudice against us as non-whites with prejudice against the whites simply because they are white...

"There is no more dangerous or immoral or absurd idea than the idea of any kind of policy grouping based on color as such. This would, in the deepest sense, mean giving up all human freedom in our time."

'Source of Confidence.'

Romulo added:

"I think that over the generations the deepest source of our own confidence in ourselves had to come from the deeply rooted knowledge that the white man was wrong, that in proclaiming the superiority of his own race he stamped himself with his own weakness and confirmed all the rest of us in the dogged conviction that we could and would reassert ourselves as men. . . .

"This kind of racist attitude has been the practice not of all white men, but of only some.

"In almost all Western lands, and especially in the United States, an internal struggle against racism and all its manifestations has been going on steadily and victoriously. . . .

"Let us not preserve the stupid racial superstitions which belong to the past. Let us work to remove the ugly disease wherever it is rooted, whether it be among Western men or among ourselves."

The loudest ovation of the conference was accorded Romulo when he finished speaking, but he got no recognition from Chou and Nehru.

Neither Applauds.

Neither applauded and both were looking in another direction when Romulo passed their chairs on his way back to his own seat. The little general, former president of the U.N. General Assembly, was the first delegate to mention the race issue from the rostrum.

The coolness with which Nehru and Chou received Romulo's speech, seemed to be in an agreed pattern. Neither has applauded a speaker who is considered a friend of the West.

Outside the conference hall, Chou has been trying to make friends with Japan's Minister of State, Tatsunosuke Takasaki. But when the delegate from Tokyo made his maiden speech at the conference this morning, Chou cut him dead. So did Nehru.

The Palestine Question.

The Arab nations continued their attacks on Israel today, with Foreign Minister Sayyed Wahid-Salah of Jordan and Lebanese Prime Minister Sami Solh terming the creation of the Jewish state a violation of the human rights of Palestinian Arabs who had been driven from their homes.

Wahid-Salah said he realized some of the conference countries recognized Israel. He said the Arab states wished to lay their case before the conference and would outline their position during committee discussion.

Libya's Prime Minister Mustafa Ben Halim also told the conference the Palestine question as "one of the most pressing problems before the conference."

E. GERMAN PURGE SPARKED BY FEAR OF NEW REVOLT

10 Party Leaders Arrested as Reds Announce Increase in Work Quotas.

BERLIN, April 19 (UP)—The Communist-dominated East German government announced the arrest today of 10 Government coalition party leaders in a new purge aimed at heading off another workers revolt against their Soviet masters.

Hans Luthardt, member of the leadership of the National Democratic party of the Red-run "national front" which dominates East Germany, said the party leaders were arrested in the Leipzig and Chemnitz areas.

He said the Western powers had "smuggled" agents into the party to plot a new uprising similar to the one which flared on June 17, 1953. This revolt was put down by Red Army tanks.

Boost in Work Quotas.

Western observers said the new purge apparently was an effort by the Soviet zone government to strength itself for worker protests against plans to boost work quotas again.

Gerhart Ziller, Communist party economist, said in a speech released today that these quotas must be increased to boost output.

He said the work norms of all miners in East Germany were increased April 1. He said 97 per cent of the miners accepted the increases as justified.

Ziller said the campaign to boost work norms now must be extended to other industries.

"New June 17."

In announcing the seizure of the party leaders, Luthardt said a group in the Chemnitz area "formed an agents' group which had the goal of organizing a new "June 17 in our republic."

The purges extended to members of two of the largest parties in the Soviet zone's coalition government as they moved to rid themselves of "enemy elements" said to be plotting revolt.

The purges were announced by the East German Liberal Democratic party and the National Democratic party.

A purge also appeared imminent in still another group, the Free German Youth organization. Karl Schirdewan, secretary of the Communist party's central committee, accused the organization in a speech released today of failure to combat "pacifist conceptions." He said the youths must be convinced it is necessary to defend the homeland with weapons.

Deputy Liberal Democratic chairman Johannes Dieckmann, president of the East German lower house, said in a speech to party leaders that "the purging and cleansing of the party of the last hidden enemy element is and remains our most pressing task."

Dieckmann hinted the purge would hit the highest officials of his party, saying "every party member must be alert to see that in the party's elected organs the right man and the right woman is in the right place."

He said it was a "painful fact that members of our party have taken part in the increased enemy activity against" the Soviet zone government.

Both Dieckmann and Luthardt renewed threats against West Berlin, saying the agents came from there. Dieckmann warned party members not to enter West Berlin for fear they would be recruited as spies and saboteurs.

President Favors Quick Approval Of Bill to Give Award to Dr. Salk

Eisenhower to Thank Discoverer of Vaccine and Polio Foundation Head at White House Friday.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 19 (UP)—President Eisenhower today proposed Dr. Jonas Salk as a new national hero for his discovery of the polio vaccine.

If Mr. Eisenhower has his way, Congress will rush through legislation which will make it possible for the Chief Executive to confer a new award for "distinguished civilian achievement" on the scientist-doctor next Friday.

On Friday at 2 p.m. the Chief Executive will receive Salk and Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, to thank them for their contribution to the fight against polio.

According to the White House, legislation will be introduced in Congress this week setting up a new award for civilian achievement and Mr. Eisenhower would be pleased if the bill were put through Congress in time to make the first award to Salk Friday afternoon.

The President conferred this morning with his foreign aid chief, Harold E. Stassen, on the final wording of a special message for Congress, outlining the $3,500,000,000 overseas military and economic assistance program for the 1956 fiscal year. The message goes to Congress tomorrow.

The message was completed several days ago, but has been undergoing revision by Stassen. His revisions will be put up to the President today for final decision. The revisions have to do with language, rather than the amount of money involved.

Stassen has a dual job—head of the Foreign Operations Administration and special assistant to the President for disarmament matters. FOA as such will go out of existence within a few months and its functions will be split between the State and Defense Departments.

Stassen and McCann were scheduled to fly back to Washington today. The Chief Executive, himself, who has been here since April 12, will return to Washington late tomorrow.

Dr. Salk 'Surprised' Over Plan to Give Him Award.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 19 (UP)—Dr. Jonas E. Salk said last night "this is something you can feel but not express in words" when informed that President Eisenhower has recommended he be given the first proposed congressional award for "distinguished civilian achievement."

Salk said he had received a telephone call from the White House asking him to be present this Friday but that he had "no idea" why he had been summoned. Salk expressed "surprise," a University of Pittsburgh spokesman said when told he had been recommended for the decoration.

REBELS SHELL VIET NAM ARMY HEADQUARTERS

8 Nationalists, 2 Binh Xuyen Commandos Wounded in 50-Minute Battle.

SAIGON, Viet Nam, April 19 (AP)—The Binh Xuyen private army shelled the headquarters of the Viet Namese national army today in a new outbreak of violence in South Viet Nam.

Eight nationalist soldiers and two Binh Xuyen commandos were wounded in a 50-minute battle around the three-story yellow building in the heart of Saigon.

(The French news agency reported in a dispatch to Paris that fighting had broken out in the Dakao quarter, on the northeast side of the Viet Namese capital across town from the army headquarters. The dispatch said armed groups were exchanging shots and grenades.)

Break in Truce.

The bombardment of the army headquarters was the most serious break in the uneasy truce between the government and the Binh Xuyen since their street battle March 30 when 26 persons were killed and 112 wounded.

The shelling was preceded by a skirmish between an army patrol and blackshirted Binh Xuyen commandos disguised as refugees from Communist North Viet Nam.

This preliminary action occurred at the rear of the army headquarters. Guards on duty outside said a Jeep full of Binh Xuyen commandos but with a French Legionnaire at the wheel raced to the scene to establish quiet. The guards reported that this jeepload opened fire on them with pistols as they screeched by on their return trip.

At this point the shooting became general and two mortar shells landed in the crowded headquarters compound. One pierced the inspector general's office, causing most of the army's casualties.

The chief of staff, Gen. Le Van Ty, took personal charge of the defense of the building. Armored cars were sent out and quiet was restored.

Jeep Fired On.

Half an hour after the fighting subsided, a national army jeep was fired on and two soldiers were wounded. This brought the army injured to 10.

(In Washington the State Department announced that Gen. J. Lawton Collins has been recalled to report on conditions in Indochina, where he has been serving as special United States ambassador.)

ARMY CONVICTS 4 MORE WIVES OF BLACK MARKETING

HEIDELBERG, Germany, April 19 (AP)—The United States Army said today that four more American women have been convicted by Army courts here of charges of petty black marketing.

A fifth woman was acquitted of charges that she traded cigarettes, coffee and tea to a German for three fishing rods.

The names of the women, all Army wives, were not made public. The Army said all of the cases were minor. The convictions are subject to review by higher authorities.

Three weeks ago four American wives were convicted here of similar violations.

Mountain Lion in Michigan.

LOWELL, Mich. (AP) — An animal's foot print excited so much interest in this western Michigan area that investigators made a plaster cast of it—then learned from the Grand Rapids Public Museum it was that of a mountain lion. Conservation men said it probably escaped from captivity somewhere.

CITY IN GOOD POSITION FOR BOND ISSUE, SAYS MAESTRE

Banker Cites High Credit Standing, Asserts Works Borrowing Would Boost Taxes Only Slightly.

St. Louis can borrow $110,639,000 for public works and pay it back with only a slight increase in taxes because of the city's extra-strong financial position, Sidney Maestre, chairman of the board of Mercantile Trust Co., told the Post-Dispatch today.

The banker served as general chairman of the Citizens' Bond Issue Screening Committee which recommended that St. Louis, in order to get badly needed expressways, bridges, parks and other improvements, float the largest bond issue in the history of the city.

A bill calling for a special election May 26 on the 23 cate- proposed bond issue was introduced in the Board of Aldermen today.

Cites Credit Rating.

Maestre said St. Louis could "comfortably support" the big bond issue for the following reasons:

1. The city's credit is excellent, which means that St. Louis can borrow at lower interest rates than many other cities.
2. The present municipal debt is low.
3. Most of the current debt will be wiped out by 1961, so that it would be possible to start paying off new bonds then without any double burden.
4. All of the new bonds would not be issued at once.

"No city in the United States has better credit than ours," Maestre said. "Bonds issued by St. Louis are considered a prime investment. For this reason, the city can borrow money at less interest than many other municipalities."

A subcommittee headed by Harry F. Harrington, president of Boatmen's National Bank, made a thorough study of the city's ability to support a big bond issue. It concluded that St. Louis could get an interest rate of 1½ per cent on bonds maturing in one to five years; 1¾ per cent on bonds maturing in six to 10 years; 2 per cent on bonds to be paid off in 11 to 15 years, and 2¼ per cent on bonds to be retired in 16 to 20 years.

These interest rate estimates are conservative under present market conditions, it was pointed out.

Although permitted to go into debt to the extent of $166,515,235—the constitutional limit is 10 per cent of the assessed value of all tangible property in the city — St. Louis has a current debt of only $46,700,000, this being the amount of bonds presently outstanding, plus bonds authorized but as yet unissued.

Debt Retirement.

Most of this current debt will be retired by April of 1961. It would be possible to start issuing new bonds in 1956 and begin paying off those of short, five-year term in 1962. Under this arrangement, the city would not be required to meet heavy principal payments on old and new bonds at the same time.

Each of the 23 public improvement proposals would be voted on separately, and would require approval by two-thirds of those voting. If all 23 carry, the city will be authorized to issue bonds totaling $110,639,000, but not all of the bonds would be issued at once.

Some of the projects could be started this summer, Mayor Raymond R. Tucker pointed out, listing in this category street improvements, parks and playgrounds, bridges and viaducts, modernization of the Fire Department and expansion of the zoo in Forest Park.

But there are other projects which would take some time for preliminary study and the drafting of detailed plans.

For example, the bond issue program includes $4,000,000 for a new hospital to handle chronic ailments. But the citizens' committee which drew up the program recommended that a comprehensive study of the city's hospital and health needs be made before building, and allocated $100,000 for such a study.

Similarly, a $1,000,000 children's building is proposed to replace the dilapidated detention quarters on Clark avenue beside the City Jail. But it is recommended that, before any construction is undertaken, some national organization should make a study of the Juvenile Court program to determine just what kind of building would be best.

Slum clearance is allocated $10,000,000 in the bond issue program, but it might be years before all of this sum actually was needed. The city is required to guarantee that funds for its share of urban redevelopment projects are available in order to obtain millions of dollars in federal grants on a two-for-one basis. The bonds, however, would not be issued until local funds had to be put up.

Mill Creek Valley.

Projected redevelopment of the Mill Creek Valley area calls for two years of preliminary surveys. A federal loan for this work has been provided and the surveys are about to get under way. Local funds for acquisition of property and demolition of old buildings will not be required before 1957, at the earliest.

Flood control is allocated $7,547,000, but this outlay is contingent on federal aid of approximately $112,500,000 to carry out a program recommended by the Army Engineers. Municipal bonds for levees, sewers and other protective works on the Mississippi riverfront would be issued only if and when Congress appropriated money for the Government's share.

Size of the tax increase needed to finance the bond issue would be determined principally by the rate at which bonds were sold. Mayor Tucker has stated that the increase would not exceed 5 cents on each $100 of assessed property valuation. For the average St. Louis home owner, this would add $2 to the annual tax bill.

The present tax rate for debt retirement is 32 cents per $100 valuation. The traditional rate for years was 40 cents, but when the city was hard pressed for money to meet current operating expenses in 1950, it reduced the rate to 22 cents without making any net change in the property tax rate, using the 18-cent difference for operating funds.

In 1951 the rate for debt service was further reduced to 18 cents. In 1954 it was raised to 32 cents.

It would be possible for the city to issue bonds for public improvements without increasing the current tax rate of 32 cents, the finance subcommittee stated, but this could be done only by deferring the first of the new bonds until 1959.

Under this plan, $10,000,000 could be issued in 1959, $7,500,000 in 1960, and $79,400,000 in 1961, but even then only a total bond issue program of $96,900,000 would be possible without a tax increase.

"It is the opinion of the subcommittee that this would not afford a satisfactory plan because the bonds could not be issued rapidly enough to meet the probable requirements of the program," the finance group declared.

Organized labor should be for the bond issue 100 per cent, said Delmond Garst, regional director of the CIO.

"In addition to accomplishing the direct purpose of literally remaking the face of St. Louis," he stated, "the bond issue would provide many construction jobs and attract additional industries here, which would afford steady employment to many persons."

Others who were on the speakers' stand included members of the Board of Aldermen, commissioners of the Land Clearance Authority and St. Louis Housing Authority, President Aloys P. Kaufmann of the Chamber of Commerce, Powell B. McHaney, president of Civic Progress, Inc.; Donald Gunn, president of the Board of Aldermen; Russell Gardner, president of the Urban Redevelopment Corp. of St. Louis; Postmaster Bernard Dickmann; Clark; Arthur Blumeyer, chairman of the St. Louis Housing Authority; Sidney Maestre, general chairman of the Citizens' Bond Issue Screening Committee; Sol Dubinsky of the City Plan Commission and Comptroller Milton Carpenter.

After the first two buildings are torn down, wrecking crews will demolish other buildings in this block. In all, 87 buildings are to be removed within 90 days.

Demolition is being handled by Prock Construction Co. and C. S. Ehinger & Associates of Kansas City, who jointly submitted a low bid of $158,900 to clear the eight and one-half blocks bounded roughly by Market, Olive, Fourteenth and Eighteenth streets. The wreckers are required to employ trained exterminators and take measures to kill rats before tearing down any buildings found to be infested.

Some Buildings to Remain.

Buildings in the area that will not be wrecked include the Eighteenth Street Garage, St. John's Catholic Basilica, Centenary Methodist Church, Ford Apartments and a row of commercial buildings on the south side of Olive street between Seventeenth and Eighteenth streets.

The Land Clearance Authority intends to advertise for redevelopment bids next month. Five and one-half blocks of the cleared area will be sold to the private redeveloper submitting the highest bid for the land. The municipal agency hopes to turn this tract over to the redeveloper by July.

3000 CHILDREN MARCH IN ANNUAL CLEAN-UP PARADE

(Picture in Everyday Magazine.)

About 3000 school children, shouldering rakes, mops, brooms, hoes and assorted cleaning devices, paraded through downtown streets shortly after noon today to begin observance of St. Louis's annual springtime clean-up, fix-up, paint-up and plant-up campaign.

School bands spaced throughout the parade column set the cadence for the columns of marching youngsters bearing banners and symbols of varied cleaning and repair projects designed to give the city a fresh look in keeping with the season.

The clean-up campaign is being held for the twenty-fourth time under sponsorship of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, city officials and the public and parochial schools.

The parade, which began at Twelfth boulevard and Locust street, moved on schedule at 12:15 p.m., as the smart-stepping Lutheran High School Band, put the marching column under way in brisk step.

Elementary school youngsters, moving along behind a huge banner, "Lutheran Schools," carried signs urging the public to "Check Your Plugs and Wiring," "Rebuild," "Plant Flowers and Shrubs."

A persistent breeze almost lifted some of the younger paraders, carrying large banners, off their feet, but they marched determinedly forward, faces set grimly into the wind.

The drum and bugle corps from Our Lady of the Visitation School, an all-Negro grade school unit, wearing gleaming helmets, red jackets and white trousers, drew applause along the parade route with its precision marching.

The parade, which took 32 minutes to pass a given point, was viewed by thousands. Parade units turned south in Twelfth from Locust. From Twelfth, the parade swung east in Olive and moved to Sixth street, then south to Chestnut to Fourteenth past the reviewing stand.

The Washington Technical High School Band, all-Negro, a particularly well-drilled unit, was a crowd-pleaser with its fast and lusty tempo and its prancing, twisting majorettes who kept batons whirling high in the air.

The George Dewey School's drum and bugle corps, made up of well-scrubbed tots just barely big enough to carry their musical instruments, brought smiles and warm murmurs of approval as they stepped by, dressed in neat sailor suits.

On Chestnut street, the wind began lifting a number of caps, and some of the young owners broke ranks to retrieve their headgear, but others marched ahead, with little more than a glance to the right or left to see which way it went.

DALTON'S TONGUE SLIPS IN REMARK ON TAX PENALTIES

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 19 —Missouri taxpayers who heard Attorney General John M. Dalton say on a Columbia television program that there is no penalty for persons failing to file state income tax returns had better check further before deciding to go on a taxpayers' strike.

"There must have been some sort of misunderstanding," Assistant Attorney General John W. Inglish told a Post-Dispatch reporter today. "I think General Dalton meant to say that he knew of no prosecutions instituted by his office."

Inglish, who is in charge of delinquent tax collection matters, said the state income tax law provides maximum punishment of a $1000 fine and a year in jail for persons found guilty of fraud in failing to file or to pay the tax.

There is also a 50 per cent penalty in fraud cases, Inglish said. In cases where there is no fraud the maximum penalty is 25 per cent plus interest of 6 per cent annually on unpaid tax.

Dalton, who was en route to Stockton, Mo., today, was heard by viewers of television station KOMU-TV to agree with Prosecuting Attorney Edwin C. Orr of Columbia that there was "a lack of penalty" in the state income tax law.

MAN FOUND HANGED IN HOME

The body of William H. Cobb, 1807 South Compton avenue, was found hanging yesterday in the basement of his home by his son, L. V. Cobb, 1012 Van Nostrand street, Jefferson Barracks. The elder Cobb was 81 years old.

L. V. Cobb told police his father had left the living room of the home and gone to the basement. When he failed to return, the younger Cobb investigated. A stool was near the body.

TRUMAN STOPS HERE AFTER DOING 'LITTLE EXPLODING'

Harry S. Truman stopped briefly in St. Louis today, on his way home to Independence, and told reporters he had greatly enjoyed his most recent trip to Washington. "It gave me a chance to do a little exploding," he said, smiling broadly.

Speaking of his appearance yesterday before a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee considering revisions of the United Nations charter, Truman said: "I was gratified because Senator (Walter) George of Georgia said afterward I gave the most constructive statement yet made on the subject. Senators from both sides of the aisle were highly complimentary." George is a Democrat.

Accompanied by his wife, the former President arrived at Union Station at 1 p.m. Expressing a desire to avoid the crowd in the station midway, they almost immediately boarded a train which was to take them home.

Truman said he had no ambitions for any political office. "I think I made history yesterday," he added, referring to his appearance before the Senate subcommittee. "I believe I was the first president ever to allow himself to be questioned by a legislative committee."

BOY HURT BY AUTO THAT FAILS TO STOP

Ricky Kemp, 7 years old, 2139 South Ninth street, suffered a fractured elbow and a scalp wound last night when he was struck by a motorist who failed to stop.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kemp, was playing "tag" in front of his home, and ran into the street. He was struck by a northbound automobile which continued on. Police think the driver may have been unaware he struck Ricky, who is in City Hospital.

SALES TAX RISE IS ADVANCED IN STATE SENATE

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 19 —A bill to submit to Missouri voters a proposal calling for a $24,250,000-a-year increase in the state sales tax won temporary approval today in the Senate.

Under the proposal, the sales tax would be increased from 2 cents to 2½ cents on the dollar.

If the bill is passed by the Legislature, the tax increase proposal would be submitted to the voters in a special election next Oct. 4. The higher tax rate would become effective Jan. 1, 1956, if approved by a majority of persons voting on the proposition.

One-Cent Boost Halved.

The original bill, as sponsored by the joint legislative education study committee, proposed a full 1-cent increase in the levy, but the Senate adopted an amendment to limit the proposed tax boost to one-half of 1 per cent.

The additional revenue was sought by the special committee to finance the proposed new school "foundation" program, which would boost state aid to the public schools $22,000,000 a year. The school aid bill has been passed by the Senate and is pending in the House.

Although Senate leaders believe that additional revenue also is needed to finance improvements in the penal and mental health programs, they decided to limit the proposed sales tax increase to one-half of 1 per cent as more acceptable to the voters.

Cigarette Tax Urged.

However, Senator John W. Noble (Dem.), chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said he thought that the extra new revenue needed in excess of the additional sales tax receipts could be obtained through "more vigorous enforcement of the state income tax and levying of a state cigarette tax."

But the House today killed a bill providing for a two-cent-a-package cigarette tax. The proposal had been beaten in the House last week by a voae of 63-41. On reconsideration today it was defeated 59 to 46.

The sales tax increase measure was approved by the Senate in amended form and ordered advanced for final Senate passage, possibly next week. The bill must still be acted on by the House.

The Senate voted down an amendment to exempt all foods from the sales tax. It adopted an amendment to set up a bracket system of collecting the tax under the proposed 2½ per cent rate. This would legally eliminate the use of sales tax tokens.

'RED' SMITH HAD $40,000 INCOME IN 1947, U.S. SAYS

Ex-Gangster Reported Only $3690, Government Attorney Tells Tax Trial Jury.

Louis C. (Red) Smith, oldtime Egan gangster and convicted mail robber, had an income of approximately $40,000 in 1947, although reporting only $3690, Assistant United States Attorney Robert C. Tucker told a United States District Court jury of 12 men in an opening statement yesterday.

Tucker made the statement at the trial of Smith on an indictment charging him with making a fraudulent income tax return in 1947. Smith paid a tax of $343 on the $3690 income reported, but should have paid $17,759 on a net of $39,984, the Government alleged.

Smith earned $1093 as a steamfitter in 1941, Tucker said, following his release from Leavenworth Penitentiary where he served a term for participation in the 1922 downtown mail robbery. By 1946 the former gangster's net worth amounted to $11,284, and was increased by $39,984 the following year, the United States attorney declared.

Income received by Smith in 1947, the Government alleges, was largely from his interest in the Plaza Amusement Co., vending machine and jukebox firm, and from real estate holdings. The Government reported that the defendant invested $16,600 in Plaza Amusement Co. in 1947 and repaid a $11,500 loan the same year.

Income tax returns filed for Smith prior to 1947 were read into the record by Ernest M. Flinn, assistant director, Internal Revenue Service here, the first Government witness. In 1945, Flinn testified, Smith's return showed a total income of $2490, of which $1790 was listed as from "gambling gains." Smith's tax that year was $400, the record showed.

In 1946 Smith reported income of $5477, with a tax of $688. The 1947 return listed only $3690, of which $2000 was attributed to "gambling gains" and $1300 from Plaza Amusement Co., Flinn said.

On cross-examination, Morris A. Shenker, defense attorney, obtained a statement from Flinn that it is possible for "money to come into possession of an individual without being subject to taxation." Flinn replied, "Yes, there are a few exceptions in the Internal Revenue code covering that."

Now 62 years old, Smith was an associate of the late William P. (Dinty) Colbeck, head of the old Egan gang; David (Chippy) Robinson, Steve Ryan and other gangsters of the 1920s. He is a former representative of the Capone syndicate and was one of several local hoodlums who evaded subpena service for an appearance before the Kefauver crime investigation committee.

Th trial Is in the court of Judge George H. Moore.

$186,500 INJURY SUIT VERDICT AGAINST MO. PAC.

An award of $186,500, thought to be the largest verdict of record in a personal injury suit in Madison county, was returned in circuit court at Edwardsville today in favor of Marion Lauderdale, of Overland, against the Missouri Pacific Railroad.

Lauderdale, 28 years old, suffered amputation of the left foot, partial amputation of the left hand and other injuries when three railroad cars passed over him in the Twenty-third street yards here June 9, 1953. He was a member of a Missouri Pacific switching crew.

Lauderdale, who appeared in court in a wheelchair, alleged his crippling injuries resulted from negligence of other railroad emloyes.

Th suit, filed last May, was for $265,000. Lauderdale, who is married and lives at 1117 Scott road, was represented by John H. Haley Jr., of St. Louis and Stanford Meyer, an East St. Louis lawyer.

BIG RENO CLUB TO SELL $2,500,000 IN PROPERTY

RENO, Nev., April 19 (AP)—Harold's Club of Reno, Nevada's biggest gambling enterprise, put an estimated $2,500,000 worth of its property up for sale yesterday.

Club executives would not tell why, publicly. But some said privately that a sharp increase in state taxes and the cost of an expansion program prompted the move.

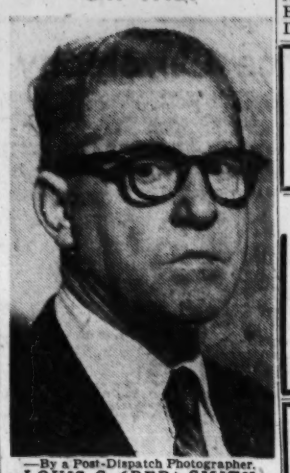

On the block are two big Reno motels, a trailer park, two large ranches and other property in the city.

3 Autos Wrecked in Showroom.

CHICAGO, April 19 (UP) — Three new automobiles became used cars yesterday without leaving the showroom floor. An auto agency employe, Alec McQuire, lost control of a car outside and crashed through the showroom window. He banged into a display car which smashed into two others.

INCOME TAX CUT IN GREAT BRITAIN IS ANNOUNCED

Basic Rate to Be 42½ Per Cent Instead of 45 — Tax-Free Allowances Increased.

LONDON, April 19 (AP)—The Government today announced a cut in income taxes.

The basic rate will be 42½ per cent of taxable income instead of 45 per cent. This is a cut of sixpence (seven cents in the standard rate, making it eight shillings sixpence ($1.12) to the pound ($2.80).

R. A. Butler, Chancellor of the Exchequer, also announced increased allowances in tax-free income. The tax-free allowance was increased $56 to $392 for a single person and from $568 to $672 for a married couple. Allowances for children also were increased.

Butler made the announcements in presenting his budget to the House of Commons, barely a month before next month's general elections.

Anticipated Surplus.

Butler's estimated revenue for 1955-56 was £4,620,000,000 ($12,936,000,000) and his estimated expenditures were £4,562,000,000 ($12,773,600,000). This anticipated a surplus of £58,000,000 ($162,400,000).

Butler said the tax cut would cost the nation £40,000,000 ($112,000,000). Britain had a surplus of £433,000,000 ($1,212,400,000) last year, he said, and could afford some relaxation.

By increasing exemptions Butler removed 2,400,000 taxpayers in the lower income groups from all income tax liability.

He described the sixpence income tax cut as a boost for all industries, saying:

"To industry it offers the prospects of a tax relief of rather more than £40,000,000 ($112,000,000) — a relief which should give fresh encouragement to expansion and a keener edge to our competitive power."

The income tax cut is the second announced by a major country in the last month. Canada is reducing its basic rate by 10 per cent, effective July 1.

Butler also announced the purchase tax (basic sales tax) is being reduced from 50 to 25 per cent for cotton, rayon and linen textiles. This action is designed to aid the Lancashire textile industry, hard hit by Japanese and Indian competition.

Big Tax Bites.

British income and sales taxes take the biggest bites from the ordinary man. If he earns £1000 ($2800 a year and has a wife and one child, the government takes 139 pounds, 15 shillings $391.30) in income tax.

If he buys a car costing £360 ($1008), he must also dig down for a saels tax of 151 pounds, 2 shillings, 6 pence ($423.15).

Butler said he had halted a deterioration in Britain's economic position by clamping down on installment buying and boosting interest rates in February.

Despite fiercer competition abroad and a struggle to maintain the nation's gold and dollar reserves, the Conservative government does not intend to return to a policy of consumer controls or rationing, Butler said.

Butler said the Government's total revenue for the 1954-55 fiscal year amounted to £4,738,000,000 ($12,566,400,000). This was £205,000,000 ($574,000,000) more than he had estimated.

While the Government was collecting more taxes at home, the terms of trade were running against the country.

Britain was importing more than it was exporting. Butler said that from October 1954 to March 1955 imports amounted to about £1,875,000,000 (5¼ billion dollars)—or some $630,000,000 more than in the corresponding period of the previous year.

Butler recalled that at the time of last year's budget the British "were concerned about the possible effect of a recession in America." He added:

"I am glad to say that the Government and people of the United States did much to stem the threatened decline in their output. Now I am able to report an upsurge of new confidence and reinvigorated production in that country."

4 Boys Dead in Hotel Fire.

TOURS, France, April 19 (UP)—Four 11-year-old British boys were asphyxiated today in an early morning flash fire which destroyed a hotel. Thirty-four other children in a touring group from a school in Hale, England, fled to safety.

CAPT. R. N. BROOKS MISSING OFF ALASKA

University City Air Force Officer on Plane Unreported Since Sunday.

Capt. Robert N. Brooks of University City is one of three Air Force officers aboard a B-47 jet bomber missing since Sunday on a North Pacific flight, it was announced today.

The plane made its last report when it was 100 miles southwest of Attu island, on the western tip of the Aleutians. It was on a non-stop, 3500-mile routine training flight from Eielson Air Force base, 26 miles south of Fairbanks, Alaska, to the Aleutians, and return.

Capt. Brooks, 34 years old, is the son of Mrs. Ruby Brooks, 6748 Crest avenue, University City. He and his wife, Verna, and their 2-year-old son, Robert Charles, have been living at Columbus, O., while he was stationed at Lockburne Air Force Base.

The missing stratojet was attached to the Twenty-sixth Reconnaissance Wing at Lockburne. It was temporarily at Eielson as part of the Strategic Air Command's overseas rotation program. Others on the plane were Capt. Lacie C. Neighbors, aircraft commander, Miami, Okla., and Capt. Richard Watkins Jr., pilot, Washington, D.C.

Capt. Brooks was a navigator-radar observer. In World War II, he served as a bombardier on a Liberator based in England, and was awarded the Air Medal with several Oak Leaf Clusters. After the war, he worked here before he returned to active duty.

He was graduated from University City High School, where he was a star on the track team. A brother, Charles H. Brooks, lives at the Crest avenue address.

HUNGARIAN MINISTER IN VIENNA REPLACED

VIENNA, April 19 (AP)—Radio Budapest said today that Lenard Szery, Hungarian minister in Vienna, has been replaced.

Western diplomats in Vienna said the change may be connected with the dismissal of Hungarian Premier Imre Nagy yesterday for alleged right-wing tendencies.

WOMAN WHO HIT 2 AUTOS TO GO TO TRAFFIC SCHOOL

Miss Floraine Thompson, who took a driving lesson Feb. 12 and wound up by running into two automobiles and a fire plug, pleaded guilty of careless driving today and was let off with a suspended sentence after she agreed to attend traffic school.

Asked by Police Judge Morris Rosenthal whether she would attend the school in lieu of a fine, Miss Thompson replied: "Judge, your honor, I don't want any part of driving an automobile," and burst into tears.

The judge excused her from the witness stand and she conferred briefly with a deputy probation officer, then agreed to attend the school.

Joseph Miles, who was giving Miss Thompson a driving lesson when the accident occurred, was not in court. Miss Thompson lives at 2629 Natural Bridge avenue.

FOREST PARK EXPRESS BUS ROUTE EXTENSION APPROVED

Permission to extend Forest Park Express bus service to the Audubon Park and Manhassett Village areas was granted last night by the Richmond Heights City Council.

The service will be extended May 9 for one mile and one-half beyond the present terminus at Harter and Boland avenues. The additional route will be west in Dale avenue, north in Hanley road, west in Eager road, south in Brentwood boulevard, west in Wrenwood lane, north in High School drive to a new terminus at Eager road.

Approval of the service also was voted by the Brentwood Board of Aldermen for that portion of the route in Brentwood. The board sent a request to the Public Service Co. asking that the service be extended south in Brentwood boulevard to Manchester road, to serve more customers.

ALDERMEN GET BILL TO SET VOTE ON BONDS MAY 26

items in the bond issue, but called attention to one proposition for $18,000,000 to cover the city's share of the right-of-way cost for three expressways.

Stating that the Board of Aldermen at its last meeting approved a route for the Mark Twain Expressway, he said he hoped the board will approve the routes for the Daniel Boone Highway through the central part of the city and the Ozark route through the south and southwestern sections of the city before the voters go to the polls to cast their ballots for the bond issue.

"Construction of these highways will mean daily savings to motorists," he said. "It has been estimated that residents will save 15,108,000 hours annually by using the three proposed expressways rather than our present streets, where speed must be curtailed because of congestion.

Time Worth $1 an Hour.

"Experts establish a cost of about a dollar an hour on the driver's time. Applying this to our expressway plans, the annual savings will be $15,108,000. This means St. Louisans personally will save almost the entire cost of the expressways in one year after they are constructed."

On the proposed new city charter, the Mayor said the city needs a new charter which will put an end to the "antiquated manner in which we are now required to operate our local government."

He said an election of a board of freeholders for a new charter should not come at the time of the bond issue election, because the voters should not be subjected to the confusion of making a decision on freeholders and the bond issue at the same time.

"Each of the items in the bond issue," he said, "is essential if St. Louis is to progress and expand and the responsibility for making them a reality now lies solely in your hands. Such things as the bond issue, a sound budget, a modern charter, expressways and so on cannot progress beyond the talking stage unless you make them possible."

Stresses Responsibility.

The future of the city not only lies with the Board of Aldermen, he added, but with the Democratic party of St. Louis, because at the last election the party assumed overwhelming control of the board and "it is my fervent hope that you realize that control does not simply mean power, it also means responsibility."

The last board though controlled by the Mayor's own party, frequently opposed major portions of the mayor's program. His bill for election of freeholders to draft a new city charter was bottled up for almost a year in committee where it died, despite the Mayor's frequent appeals for a favorable report on it.

The Democratic majority also overrode many mayoral vetoes of spot-zoning bills and bills to weaken the master traffic control ordinance until the closing days of the last session, when the election campaigns in the even-numbered wards were in full swing.

The Democratic platform, adopted by candidates for the Board of Aldermen prior to the election April 5, called for "modernization" of the city charter, but was silent on the election of a board of freeholders to draft a new charter. The platform, in general terms, opposed unlimited spot-zoning and pledged that the party's successful candidates would seek advice of the City Plan Commission on zoning legislation.

Niemeyer was elected vice president of the board, and Noonan was elected majority floor leader. All of the board's employes were reappointed.

New Board Members.

New board members seated today include: Thaddeus H. Mayberry, Fourth Ward; Archie Blaine, Sixth; James E. Geisler, Tenth; Joseph Kavanaugh, Fourteenth; W. F. Smith Jr., Eighteenth; and Anthony T. Mascazzini, Twenty-fourth.

Re-elected members who took oaths for new terms are: Leo McLaughlin, Second Ward; Niemeyer, Eighth; Fred Haag, Twelfth; Clinton Watson, Sixteenth; Edgar Freely, Twentieth Alfred Harris, Twenty-second; William C. Brady, Twenty-sixth; William A. Stolar, Twenty-eighth.

Stolar and Haag are the only Republicans inaugurated today, With holdovers George Grellner of the Thirteenth and Carl Guetschow of the Twenty-third they constitute the entire Republican membership.

DULLES SAYS M'CARDLE GAVE OUT YALTA TEXT

"leaking" the papers to the Times.

"As I told the Secretary, the release of these documents to the New York Times cannot be reconciled with fair play to the rest of the American press," Morse said to reporters. "A free press is entitled to equal treatment from any department of Government."

Morse said Dulles "tried to deny" that a conference he held with McCardle and Reston "justfied the assumption that he had given his implied permission for the release of the papers, but even the Secretary's statement shows that on its face."

Defends Inclusion.

Dulles strongly defended inclusion of side comments in the official publication. He said the Senate Appropriations Committee, which authorized a special appropriation for compiling the papers, called for publication of the "unexpurgot" record.

"There were no agreed tripartite minutes," Dulles said.

And, he said, some of the remarks "which otherwise might have been omitted" from the Yalta papers, "have been included because they had previously been incorporated in authoritative memoirs and given wide publicity."

U.S. TO GIVE W. REICH SOVEREIGNTY TREATY IN CEREMONY TOMORROW

BONN, April 19 (AP).

THE UNITED STATES plans to deposit in Bonn tomorrow the treaty to restore West German sovereignty.

With this action, the United States will become the first nation to deposit the treaty to free West Germany of 10 years of Allied occupation.

High Commissioner James Conant will deposit the treaty in a ceremony to be held in the presence of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and other high West German and American officials at the Palais Schaumburg, the German White House.

The sovereignty treaty will become effective only when the other signatory nations—Britain, France and West Germany — formally deposit it. All have ratified it.

LONDON NEWSPAPER STRIKE SETTLED AFTER 25 DAYS

LONDON, April 19 (AP)—A strike which has halted publication of London's newspapers for 25 days was settled tonight.

A walkout of electricians and maintenance men in support of a wage claim had silenced the city's 23 daily and Sunday newspapers with circulations totaling 50,000,000.

Unions representing the strikers said they hoped work would be resumed tomorrow in time for Thursday morning papers.

2 MEN ARRESTED AS THEY SEARCH HOLDUP VICTIM

Policeman Walks Around Corner, Sees Person Being Held Against Store.

Two strong-arm men were arrested last midnight by police man, who walked around a corner at Vandeventer avenue and Windsor place and saw the men holding a victim against a store window while searching his pockets.

The men said they are Richard Duncan, a painter, 4900 block of Wabada avenue, and Walter L. Smith, a waiter, 4200 block of Finney avenue. Both are Negroes. Patrolman Leo Stewart, of the Lucas Avenue District, reported he caught the pair searching the pockets of George McGarry, 3534 Olive street. They had taken $6 and were looking for additional cash, Stewart said.

Robbed of $100.

Joseph Baker, a chef employed at Bevo Mill restaurant, 4749 Gravois avenue, was robbed of $100 last night when he was getting into his automobile at the rear of a cafe at 5214 Gravois. Baker, who lives at 5273 Waterman boulevard, said he was held up by two men, one of whom held a revolver against his back.

After taking his wallet the men ran east through an alley and escaped. The empty wallet was recovered.

Quincy Fowler, night clerk, and Augustus Armstead, bellboy, were held up early today in the lobby of the Reed Hotel, 1433 Pine street, by a masked and armed man, who fled with $50.

Fowler handed the man several $1 bills, but was told "You have more, hand it over." The clerk gave the robber a total of $50. The man, who wore a handkerchief mask and sunglasses, ran west in Pine street.

Irving Kahn, a salesman, 721 Interdrive, University City, suffered a scalp wound when he was slugged and robbed of $90 in his automobile last night. Kahan said he was starting the machine in the 600 block of O'Fallon street when someone reached in the window, struck him on the head, grabbed his wallet and ran away. Kahan was treated at City Hospital.

Hurt Fighting Purse Snatcher.

Mrs. Thelma Mennemeyer, a widow, 3315 Humphrey street, was cut severely on the right hand by broken glass when she struggled with a purse snatcher in her automobile at Grand and West Pine boulevards last night.

Mrs. Mennemeyer told police she was preparing to start her machine when a young Negro reached in and picked up her purse. She grabbed the purse and in the struggle a window was broken and her hand was cut. The thief fled with the purse, which contained $10.

Mrs. Minola Marshall, 4209 West Florissant avenue, was knocked down and robbed of her purse, containing $7, by two men at a bus stop at Thirteenth and Warren streets last night. The robbers ran away.

MAN IN FIGHT AT DRIVE-IN THEATER SERIOUSLY INJURED

William Hoffman, 866 Harlan avenue, was in serious condition at Christian Hospital today with injuries suffered when he was struck on the head with a baseball bat by an unknown assailant in a fight Sunday at the North Drive-in Theatre, 9425 Highway 67, Jennings.

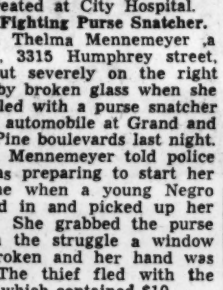

Hoffman, 24 years old, suffered a concussion and partial paralysis of both legs, his physician reported.

Hoffman and an unidentified man became involved in a dispute while Hoffman, his brother and two other men were watching the movie in their auto, Jennings police reported.

EFFORT TO CURB TARIFF-CUTTING POWERS BEATEN

6 Democrats, 2 Republicans Vote Against Limit on President's Plan—Vote Is 8 to 7.

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP) — President Eisenhower's foreign trade program came through its first test in the Senate Finance Committee today by one vote, 8-7.

Six Democrats and two Republicans voted against a proposal to limit the extension of the reciprocal trade agreements law to two years instead of the three asked by the President and to cut back his proposed new tariff-cutting powers.

Five Republicans and two Democrats supported the amendment, offered by Senator Millikin (Rep.), Colorado, senior Republican on the committee.

The vote was a 7-7 tie at first. Chairman Byrd (Dem.), Virginia, had a call put through to Senator Long (Dem.), Louisiana, in New Orleans, and the Louisiana Senator cast the deciding vote.

Could Be Changed.

Byrd said the three-year extension, coupled with new power to the President to cut tariffs by 15 per cent—5 per cent each year—then was adopted by voice vote. He noted this could be changed, however, any time before the committee completes its work on the bill.

The Millikin amendment, if it had been adopted, would have reduced Mr. Eisenhower's new tariff-cutting authority to 10 per cent at the rate of 5 per cent each year.

The Finance Committee began its voting today after six weeks' consideration of the House-passed measure which gave the President substantially what he wanted in the reciprocal trade field.

The House, after a bitter fight, voted narrowly for the three-year extension, coupled with the additional authority to lower tariff rates by 15 per cent.

Supporters and Opponents.

The Millikin amendment was supported by these Senators in addition to Millikin: Edward Martin (Rep.), Pennsylvania; Williams (Rep.), Delaware; Carlson (Rep.), Kansas; Bennett (Rep.), Utah; Kerr (Dem.), Oklahoma, and Frear (Dem.), Delaware.

It was opposed by Senators Byrd, George (Dem.), Georgia, Smathers (Dem.), Florida; Flanders (Rep.), Vermont; Malone (Rep.), Nevada; Lyndon B. Johnson (Dem.), Texas; Barkley (Dem.), Kentucky, and Long.

Malone has been a critic of the entire reciprocal trade agreements program and has frequently called for its extinction.

When asked about Malone's vote against the Millikin amendment, Byrd said he did not know the reason but that the Nevadan raised no objection when the three-year extension in the House bill was approved by voice vote after the defeat of the two-year proposal.

Extension of War Powers.

The House yesterday unanimously approved President Eisenhower's request for a two-year extension of emergency war powers in handling Government contracts affecting national defense. The measure now goes to the Senate.

The House also passed a bill to give farm veterans the same advantages on buying houses enjoyed by former service men in the city. At present ordinary G.I. home loans are guaranteed by the Government up to $7500, but the maximum guarantee on farm homes is $4000. The new bill would raise the maximum farm home loan guarantee to $7500. It now goes to the Senate.

TRUMAN TO BE HONORED BY JEWISH WAR VETERANS

Former President Harry S. Truman will receive the first Americanism award of the Department of Missouri, Jewish War Veterans, at a luncheon in Kansas City April 30, Norman A. Goldberg, department commander, announced here today.

Mr. Truman was selected for the honor by the department's committee on awards on the basis of "his consistent protection of the rights of individuals while he was in office," Goldberg said.

The award, a bronze plaque, will be presented by Joseph Barr, Washington, national commander. It will be given to an outstanding Missourian annually, Goldberg said.

Want to feel like a pilot feels?

Today's the day to "Join The Test Pilot Club" and see what a thrill you get when you try Variable Pitch Dynaflow*

We're not kidding.

When you try a '55 Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflow, you'll feel like a pilot does when he heads his plane down a runway for take-off.

For you, in the driver's seat, are doing what that pilot does—you're changing the pitch of your propellers—one way for instant response on getaway—another way for better gas mileage in cruising.

Your propellers are whirling in oil, deep inside the Dynaflow unit. When you press the pedal in the normal way, you hold those propellers in their economy angle—and you enjoy plenty more miles from your gasoline.

But when you want instant acceleration—for quick getaway, or for a sudden safety-surge of emergency power—you just press the pedal way down, and—with absolute smoothness—you get the action you want, and split-second quick.

It's the thrill that's the talk of the industry—performance unlike anything you have ever known before on the ground.

And so many folks have been asking to try it that we Buick dealers across America have set up April as "Test Pilot Club" Month. All it takes to join the "Club" is a test drive at the wheel of a new Buick. That's all.

So we cordially invite you to win your "wings"—to try the spectacular performance of Variable Pitch Dynaflow—and to feel the mighty V8 power that puts the whip to these gorgeous new Buick beauties. Drop in this week.

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

HOTTEST BUICK IN HISTORY
No wonder you see so many '55 Buicks on the highways—they're rolling up bigger sales than ever before in history—topping the popularity that has already made Buick one of the "Big Three" of America's best sellers.

Said a sleuth: Ah! The mystery's unravelin'—
About cars that "take off like a javelin."
But with Dynaflow's switch
Of its Variable Pitch—
You were here. Now you're there.
Boy, that's travelin'!

(Why don't you try a Buick?)

BOMB THREAT STIRS RESTUDY OF HOUSING POLICY

By EDWARD F. WOODS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 19 — President Eisenhower has ordered federal housing officials to reappraise their slum clearance and urban development programs on the ground that they could result in concentrations within cities of large sections of the population which would be especially vulnerable to nuclear bombs, the Post-Dispatch learned today.

A task force of the Housing and Home Finance Agency has been at work several months on a preliminary survey of the problem at presidential directive and while there has as yet been no change in policy on the matter of urban rehabilitation the Administration is "impressed" with a theory of dispersal, rather than concentration, of population as a factor of civil defense.

Policy Since 1949.

Since 1949, Government policy has been to aid in rehabilitating blighted areas of large cities. In general these efforts have resulted in large housing projects which, to some extent, stemmed the trend toward movement of population to the suburbs. Now, in the atomic age, President Eisenhower has decided that it is time to determine whether the policy leading to urban concentration should not be stopped.

The "new look" the Administration is taking at mass housing is in line with the thinking of civil defense officials who are known to favor dispersal rather than concentration in housing because of the nuclear weapons threat.

Mass housing is not the only area in which the Administration now is showing concern, the Post-Dispatch was told. It is keeping a close watch on the booming residential construction and is prepared to take steps to head off the home building boom if it tends to get out of hand this year.

Warning Received.

In 1954, there were 1,220,000 residential housing starts in the nation. High Federal officials have had a warning from the Bureau of Labor Statistics that the number of starts in 1955 may soar to 1,500,000.

The Administration is taking the position privately that the economy this year can sustain no more than 1,300,000 starts. If it goes beyond that there will be a crackdown on credit through the Federal Reserve System. Other steps will be elimination of the no-down-payment provisions of Veterans' Administration loans, increasing the down payments on Federal Housing Administration loans and lowering the amortization periods.

MARINE DROPS SHELL IN MESS LINE, 33 HURT

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif., April 19 (UP)—A dud artillery shell dropped by a Marine in a mess line exploded last night and injured 33 Marines.

In serious condition with upper leg and lower abdomen wounds is Pvt. Dorman T. Swann of Winnsboro, Tex. Twelve other Marines were kept in a hospital for check-ups and the rest were released after treatment for minor injuries.

Base officials said the shell was of "an undetermined calibre" and apparently had been picked up by a Marine on the Camp Pendleton artillery range as a souvenir. The man who dropped the shell was unidentified, but officers confirmed it was not Pvt. Swann.

HIGH SCHOOL YOUTH FINED, POSED AS DEPUTY SHERIFF

John O. Connell, Webster Groves High School student, was fined $25 last night by Police Judge John A. Walsh of Kirkwood on a charge of peace disturbance based on the youth's impersonation of a deputy sheriff last March 27.

Connell pleaded not guilty but admitted he posed as a deputy sheriff when he accused Miss Mary Overland, 9705 Midland avenue, Overland, of violating a stop sign after forcing her automobile to the curb.

Miss Reich testified she was instructed by Connell, who was wearing a cowboy hat and displaying a badge, to follow his machine to the police station. She gave the license number of the automobile to police, who traced it to Connell. He admitted he and two companions had halted eight other motorists that day in similar manner. Connell, who lives at 92 Webster Woods, Webster Groves, said it was a prank.

EXPRESS HIGHWAY TO CLOSE

The Express Highway will be closed from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. tomorrow to permit an annual cleaning of the roadway. In the event of rain the work will be done Thursday, Director of Streets and Sewers Frank Kriz said.

Included in the clean-up will be patching of holes, removal of weeds, flushing of pavement and a check and cleaning of sewers.

Squatter Braves Old Man River 40 Years, Law May Scuttle Him

(Picture in Everyday Magazine.)

An old Navy man who has attached himself like a barnacle to the banks of the Mississippi river here for 40 years, for want of salt water, is about to be forced to drier land by court order, but he is holding on as long as he can.

He is Eugene B. Alberter, livin galone in a three-room house he built at 4218 South Main street, where he beached a house boat in 1914.

He is 66 years old, and exists on the disability allowance of $78.75 a month, which he receives by virtue of 11 months of Navy service in World War I and a case of arthritis.

His war service was in Ireland guarding airplanes. "The only sea duty I had was in coming and going," he told a reporter. "But I still get homesick whenever I get away from water."

Eviction Order.

The city of St. Louis obtained an eviction order against Alberter to make way for an expanding rubbish dump near the incinerator, but he has never been to court in the case.

Yesterday was to have been the final day, but "Old Gene," as he is known along the waterfront, "got a friend to call the sheriff's office, and they said they would not be here until Thursday."

And what is he going to do about it? "I don't know. I don't know," he mused. I may get a lawyer. I tried one though, and he didn't give me much encouragement. He said something about a retainer. I thanked him, and he said, 'that won't buy me anything' and hasn't been back."

His favorite hangout is a tavern at 2745 Chippewa street, where he has been going every day, except Sundays, ever since beer came back. Nevertheless, he was curious to know how it was a reporter came there looking for him.

When told that someone on the river had made the suggestion, he said, "if you had been a deputy sheriff, they wouldn't have told you!"

Assaults of Wind and Water.

Alberter has withstood the assaults of wind and water but concedes he may have to yield to the law. The river has come up to his door four times, as he has pictures to show, and in 1948, a small tornado lifted his house three feet north. He patched it up at a cost of $100 and stayed.

Now the river has been moved east of him by a large amount of dumping.

He has lived alone since 1939, when 16 years of marriage ended in divorce. In his working days, he was a lather in the plastering trade. His only companions now are a dog named "Buddy," strong enough to drag him by the leash and a terrapin named "Bozo," which he sheltered all winter.

The city has offered to pay Alberter $253.60 for his place, but he refused to accept it. When a deputy sheriff shows up to take possession, "Old Gene" may have a loophole. On the papers they have his name misspelled as "Alberta."

DR. W. A. YOUNGE FILLS VACANCY ON SCHOOL BOARD

Negro Physician Named by Mayor—Led 'Blue Ribbon' Slate in Votes April 5.

Dr. Walter A. Younge, Negro physician, was appointed to the Board of Education yesterday by Mayor Raymond R. Tucker, filling a vacancy created by the resignation of Henry O. Whiteside. He will serve until April 1957.

In announcing the appointment, Tucker called attention to the fact that Dr. Younge received the most votes of any unsuccessful School Board candidate in the April 5 elections. Dr. Younge polled 53,543 votes, only 1637 fewer than the total cast for the low man on the winning ticket.

Dr. Younge ran on the "blue ribbon" slate sponsored by the Citizens' School Improvement Committee. None of the citizens' committee candidates was electing, cutting "blue ribbon" membership on the board to four, including Whiteside.

Dr. Younge's appointment leaves unchanged the alignment on the 12-member board. The "old guard" faction regained control as a result of the election.

Dr. Younge will be the second Negro to serve on the board. Dr. Edward L. Grant, Negro dentist, served by appointment from December 1949 until the April 1951 elections when he was defeated in a bid for a six-year term.

Dr. Younge is chief of staff at St. Mary's Infirmary and senior instructor in medicine at St. Louis University School of Medicine. He is a past president of the National Medical Association, and is a former chairman of the Community Chest's midtown division and the Pine Street Y.M.C.A.

Born in Georgetown, British Guiana, he was educated in schools there and at Meharry Medical College, Nashville, Tenn. He came to St. Louis in 1920. Dr. Younge is 55 years old, married and has two grown children, both of whom attended St. Louis public schools. He lives at 4903 Wabada avenue.

Persons appointed to the Board of Education serve until the next regular board election.

TWO MEN SENTENCED FOR ROBBERY OF BANK

Levi (Smiley) Porter, Mulberry Grove, Ill., and Ronald E. Moore, Pana, Ill., were sentenced to prison terms today by United States District Judge Fred L. Wham at East St. Louis for the $4359 robbery of the State Bank of Keyesport, Ill.

Porter, 26 years old, was sentenced to seven years and Moore, 24, to five years. Both previously had entered please of guilty and had asked for leniency.

In refusing to grant probation or make the sentences light, Judge Wham commented, wryly: "It is becoming the fashion for people short of money to recuperate their finances by robbing banks."

Assistant United States Attorney Jack Morris told the court that Porter had flourished a pistol during the holdup last Jan. 17 while Moore scooped up the money from a teller's cash drawer.

The two men escaped in an old model automobile but were captured within 12 hours after the machine was seen by State Police Offcier Eugene Hood, who was flying a private plane. The automobile had been abandoned on a farm belonging to Porter's uncle, Werner Porter of Mulberry Grove.

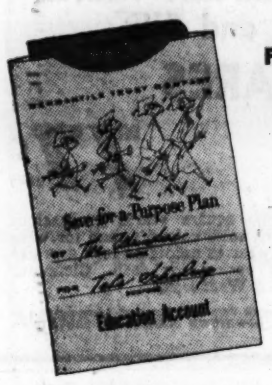

Werner Porter and another nephew, Herbert F. Porter of Pana, was acquitted last week of charges of being accessories in the holdup. Moore appeared as a government witness at the trial, testifying the two Porters had entered into an agreement to share the bank robbery loot.

Levi Porter is married and has two children. Moore is married and the father of three.

2 BILLS REVISING AUTO LICENSE SYSTEM BEATEN

House Rejects Plan for $15 Flat Fee, Opposes Ending of Staggered Issuance.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 19—Two bills recommended by the state division of motor vehicle registration were defeated today in the House. One would have established a flat $15 annual registration fee for passenger automobiles, the other would have done away with the staggered system of issuing state automobile licenses.

Opponents of the measure which would have provided a flat license fee protested that it would penalize persons with older automobiles in that their fees would be increased. The bill was voted down 77 to 28.

Opposes License Staggering.

David A. Bryan, director of the Registration Division, had recommended passage of the second bill killed, asserting that the staggered system of issuance of license tags had proved "cumbersome and unenforceable" during the five years it has been in effect.

Members of both the St. Louis and Kansas City delegations in the House opposed abandonment of the system, asserting that a return to the old system of issuing license plates annually would result in confusion and inconvenience for automobile owners in the heavily populated urban centers where most of the automobiles in the state are registered. The bill was defeated by a vote of 91 to 23.

The House gave tentative approval yesterday to a measure designed to curb pollution of Missouri's streams, in the interest of health and welfare and the development of recreational facilities.

The measure was acted on after two hours of debate during which repeated attempts were made to kill the bill through adoption of crippling amendments, most of which were submitted by Representative Kelso Journey (Dem.), Clinton.

Representative Robert C. Smith Jr. (Dem.), Columbia, sponsor of the measure, who successfully opposed Journey's efforts to damage the measure, charged that Journey's only purpose in attempting to amend the bill was to defeat it by rendering it unenforceable.

Henry County Strip Mines.

Smith pointed out that there are many strip mines operated in Journey's home county (Henry) which are responsible for considerable contamination of streams in the area.

Journey contended that he was interested in seeing that the measure would not work undue hardships on industries and cities in the state.

As tentatively approved, the bill would provide for creation of a stream pollution commission which would be charged with determining what needs to be done to clean up Missouri's watercourses and planning steps to be taken to accomplish that aim. The commission first would cause a survey to be made to determine the present degree of pollution.

The House gave some consideration to a proposed constitutional amendment to lower the voting age from 21 to 18 years, but took no action on it.

CHARGED WITH USING FALSE DEED OF TRUST TO GET LOAN

Lee C. Richards, 9 Conway Woods, St. Louis county, was sued for $15,000 for allegedly using a false deed of trust to obtain a loan, in a suit filed in circuit court in Clayton yesterday. He is a real estate dealer.

Joseph Klearman, 7150 Dartmouth avenue, University City, who filed the suit, said he lent Richards $15,000 on May 10, 1954. The suit charged that security for the loan, a deed of trust on an apartment building, was not valid, although the seal of Richards, as a notary public, was on the deed.

The suit also charged Richards with a breach of his duties as a notary and asked a $5000 judgment against him and the American Bond Co. of Baltimore, Md., who had bonded Richards as a notary for that amount.

Are the PRICE FIXERS at it Again?

At each session of the Missouri State Legislature, for the past many years, bills have been introduced under the guise of "Fair Trade Laws" seeking to fix the retail price at which the merchandise you buy must be sold.

Actually these bills are price maintenance bills. They seek to prevent a merchant from selling merchandise at any price lower than the price set by the manufacturer. These bills are "fair" only to those who are unwilling to take a lesser profit, or are unwilling to take the risk of doing business in a free and openly competitive market.

The Missouri State Legislature has repeatedly resisted all such efforts in restraint of free competition and we citizens of Missouri are among the few remaining states where we can buy merchandise at cut prices.

CHANGES ARE BEING SOUGHT

This year a new and subtle approach is being made as an opening wedge—a foot in the door method—to pass through the "back door" another "Fair Trade" bill. It is Senate Bill No. 231. It seeks to control the wholesale prices at which liquor may be sold to retailers. This bill would make illegal any price concession of more than 1% for quantity purchases or for payment of invoices before a certain date. The effect of this bill is obvious! If the wholesale prices on this one commodity are fixed, the next step may be to fix the prices on all other merchandise, and then to fix the prices at which that merchandise may be sold at retail. Senate Bill No. 231 is a "Back Door Fair Trade" bill which may make you pay higher prices.

THE DANGER IS REAL!

Senate Bill No. 231 "regulating the sale of liquor and wine by wholesalers to retailers and providing penalties for violation" was passed by the Missouri Senate Thursday, April 14, 1955. It now goes to the Missouri House of Representatives for action.

THERE IS STILL TIME FOR YOU TO ACT—BUT, YOU MUST DO IT NOW!

The motto of the Great Seal of Missouri reads: "The welfare of the People Shall Be the Supreme Law." Unless you tell your State Representative that you consider this bill against your welfare, that it may increase the cost of living, that it may destroy free competition, all the people may be paying higher prices for everything they eat, drink, wear and use.

WRITE, NOW, TO YOUR STATE REPRESENTATIVE—TELL HIM TO SAY "NO" TO SENATE BILL NO. 231.

COUNTY PLANS SUIT TO TEST NEW POLICE SETUP

Council Votes $10,000 Salary for Superintendent Who Will Be Named.

St. Louis County Supervisor Luman F. Matthews said yesterday he would instruct County Counselor Herbert C. Funke to proceed at once with a friendly suit to determine the legality of the new county police department.

In another action, the County Council, at a special meeting, voted a $10,000 salary for the new superintendent of the department that is scheduled to take over law enforcement duties of the sheriff and constables next July 1.

A legal test of the charter amendment setting up the police department was made necessary by Sheriff Arthur C. Mosley's assertion that he would not relinquish his law enforcement powers until given legal assurance that he would no longer be liable on his bond in event of failure to enforce the law.

Dalton Action.

Missouri Attorney General John M. Dalton turned down a request last month that he file a test suit in the State Supreme Court. He said his pending ouster suit against Mosley had put him in an inconsistent position to take such action.

The special meeting of the County Council was called at the request of the new police board. Chairman Walter L. Metcalfe said the board had scanned the field of men available for the post and found that it could not get the type of man it wanted for less than $10,000 a year.

In answer to a question by Councilman Frank L. Martini, Metcalfe said the board was "very close" to a final selection but did not feel it could ask the prospect to accept the job until it could assure him he would receive a salary commensurate with his ability.

Fringe Benefits.

Metcalfe said the board had been unable to find any area exactly like St. Louis county in its examination of police systems. He added that many systems have certain fringe benefits the county cannot offer.

Much remains to be done by the board and by the man it will name as superintendent, he said; hence the need for immediate action on the salary question.

The members of the Council then passed an amendment to the salary classification bill for employes of the county, authorizing the $10,000 annual salary for the police superintendent. The action was without dissent. Councilmen Gordon L. C. Davis and Thomas Dunne were absent but Dunne sent word he would approve the new salary.

Gen. Lemnitzer in Korea.

RUSSIA CALLS FOR BIG 4 PARLEY ON AUSTRIAN PACT

matic representatives of Britain, France and the United States this morning to hand them notes declaring:

"As a result of the exchange of opinion (with Austrian Chancellor Raab and his delegation last week) it is clear that the possibility exists to settle the Austrian question and conclude a state treaty with Austria."

The Soviet note said that representatives of the Austrian Government should take part in the talks.

In the note handed to United States Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, Molotov said:

"The Soviet Government expresses the hope that the Government of the U.S.A. on its part will contribute to the necessary understanding between the governments of the four powers and the Government of Austria concerning the conclusion of a state treaty with Austria.

"The Soviet Government considers it expedient that the ministers of foreign affairs of the United States, France, Britain and the Soviet Union with the participation of Austria convene in the nearest future to consider the question of a state treaty establishing an independent democratic state of Austria and to sign this treaty.

"The city of Vienna is proposed as a place of the said conference."

Foreign ministry spokesman Leonid Ilyachev told a news conference that Bohlen, British Charge d'Affaires C. C. Parrott and French Charge d'Affaires Jean Leroy had promised to transmit these notes to their governments without delay.

Talks With Raab.

Molotov also gave the three western representatives information on the result of the talks he held with Raab.

He told them these talks had resulted in a situation "that will permit the restoration of a democratic Austrian state which will be an essential contribution to the strengthening of peace in Europe."

Western diplomats said they believed the quick Soviet follow-up showed a determination to keep the initiative which the Soviet Union has gained in the past 10 days.

GODFREY SAYS FIRED SINGERS LOST TEAM SENSE

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP)—Arthur Godfrey says the nine persons he fired last Friday had lost their sense of being on a "team." He says they no longer "had their hearts" in his television and radio shows, and spent too much time looking for greener pastures.

Godfrey gave his version of the sacking of six singers and three writers in an interview yesterday.

Some of the dismissed performers have complained they were let go without notice and that Godfrey had been too brusque.

"They're wiping tears out of their eyes with fistfulls of dollar bills," he said. "Notice? I gave them 11 weeks notice and paid them off to the tune of $75,000 (through the expiration of their contracts July 1.)"

In talking of a lack of teamwork and of a desire for advancement elsewhere, Godfrey referred mainly to Marion Marlowe, former St. Louis singer; the Mariners male quartette and Haleloke, Hawaiian girl singer and dancer.

"They sat around wondering how to get into the big dough," Godfrey continued. "They tried to figure ways of getting attention for themselves. They got off the team."

MISSING RANSOM INQUIRY TO BE RESUMED THURSDAY

An inquiry into the missing $303,720 Greenlease ransom will be resumed Thursday by the Federal grand jury, William K. Stanard II, assistant United States Attorney, said today.

The present phase of the investigation involves events at the Town House, apartment hotel at 5316 Pershing avenue, on Oct. 6, 1953, when Carl Austin Hall, kidnap-killer of Bobby Greenlease, was arrested there by Police Lt. Louis Shoulders and Patrolman Elmer Dolan.

JUSTICE DOUGLAS INVITED TO HOUSE WIRETAP HEARING

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Douglas was invited by a House Judiciary subcommittee today to substantiate a published assertion by the jurist that New York City police obtained 58,000 wiretap orders in 1952.

Chairman Celler (Dem.), New York, directed an invitation to Justice Douglas after the figures were challenged by Edward S. Silver, Brooklyn district attorney. Silver, a witness in a hearing by the subcommittee on proposals to revise wiretap laws, defended official taps as a crime detection measure. He testified also that only 480 wiretap orders were authorized in 1952 by the state courts as required by New York law. He said 388 of them went to the police department to cover 500 telephone taps.

U.S. MILITARY MEN PUSHING IBERIAN PENINSULA BASES

By ANSEL E. TALBERT
The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Radio.

MADRID, April 19—The Iberian peninsula is well on its way toward becoming the most-nearly impregnable nest of United States strategic air power in Europe.

Completion in two years of four big new air bases in Spain to accommodate the heaviest long-range jet bombers, is bound to do irreparable damage to Soviet capabilities for a sudden westward sweep across the continent. Soviet propagandists are trying to convince Europeans that America's current program in Spain means the West's stand in a future war will be at the Pyrenees rather than on the Rhine. Exactly the opposite is true.

No Last-Ditch Fortress.

No top United States strategist envisions the Iberian peninsula primarily as a "last ditch fortress." The air bases at Saragossa, Torrejon (near Madrid) and Sevilla—where two are being built—actually comprise the No. 1 European springboard for United States strategic attacks that would have the purpose of drying up supply sources of any Red army offensive.

Natural geographical protections and the toughness of the inhabitants make the area most difficult to overwhelm by ground, sea or paratroop assault. United States Air Force chiefs believe that the Iberian peninsula could become more vital during the crucial first weeks of a sudden emergency than any spot across the Atlantic except the British Isles.

For this reason, the most intensive training and modernization of all branches of the Spanish armed forces is being underwritten by the United States. Units of the United States Navy frequently hold joint maneuvers with the Spanish Navy to perfect a mutual communications system. American-designed radar and sonar equipment and anti-aircraft guns are being installed throughout the Spanish fleet.

The Spanish air force on paper is supposed to have 700 first-line airplanes; actually it possesses only 300 fully operational ones. Most of these are ready to be junked. However, Spanish pilots are excellent, according to Maj. Gen. August W. Kissner, chief of the American military mission to Spain. The first sizable group of Spanish pilots to finish jet training is about to graduate from T-33 trainers to F-86 Sabre jet fighters.

U. S. Arms Arrive.

The Spanish army for several months has been receiving tanks, modern recoilless rifles and anti-aircraft guns and many other items of new equipment from the United States.

One factor lending some stability to long-term military planning involving Spain is the thoroughly anti-Communist sentiment of the nation. This cannot be credited exclusively to activities of the present government of Gen. Francisco Franco.

Actually all former elements which fought on the loyalist side against Franco — Republicans, Socialists, Anarchists and Syndicalists—are bitterly aware of how Communist political interference and double-dealing affected military operations disastrously.

MORE CITIES ARE USING TV TO INFORM PUBLIC ON ISSUES

CHICAGO, April 19 (UP)—At least 14 communities are using television to acquaint the public with local affairs, according to the International City Managers' Association. The latest addition is Bangor, Me., which has begun a 15-minute weekly TV program.

Other places using TV to inform its citizens are Cincinnati, Peoria, Ill., Kansas City, Mo., Chico and Butte County, Calif., Los Angeles County, Phoenix, Philadelphia, Des Moines, Greensboro, N.C., Toledo and Dayton, O., and Milwaukee.

St. Petersburg, Fla., has its own TV station and uses some of the broadcasting time to program municipal interest shows.

New York City has a permit to build a TV station, and Jacksonville, Fla., has filed an application for permission to build its own station.

Plans to Study Einstein's Brain Stir Up Professional Dispute

Montefiore Laboratory Says It Is to Be Delivered There—Princeton Hospital Denies It Will Be Moved.

PRINCETON, N.J., April 19 (AP)—A professional tangle developed today over plans to study the brain of Albert Einstein, which the scientific genius willed to science.

Princeton Hospital announced today a group of pathologists, headed by Dr. Thomas S. Harvey, of the hospital, would conduct the brain study.

John W. Kauffman, administrator of Princton Hospital, told of an earlier report that Einstein's brain would be taken to Montefiore Hospital Laboratory, New York, for the study, said:

"The brain will not leave Princeton Hospital."

Dr. Harry M. Zimmerman, chief of the laboratory division of Montefiore Hospital, and professor of pathology at Columbia University, was announced earlier in the day as the man to conduct the study.

A Montefiore Hospital spokesman said Einstein's brain was to be delivered there at 3 p.m. today.

Commenting on the Montefiore Hospital announcement, Kauffman said:

Brain to Rest in Solution.

Kauffman said the brain would rest in solution at Princeton Hospital for a few days to harden before the group of pathologists begin work on it.

A Montefiore Hospital spokesman, told of Kauffman's statement, said the latest information received at Montefiore from Dr. Harvey was that the brain would be delivered there today.

The Montefiore spokesman said Dr. Harvey had asked if the New York laboratory facilities would be available, and was told that they were. The spokesman also said Dr. Zimmerman had been asked to head the pathology study and had accepted. However, Dr. Harvey said Zimmerman was going to be only a consultant in the study and that there are no plans to move the brain.

Einstein, who died yesterday at the age of 76, willed his brain to science. Its examination will take weeks, according to the Montefiore Hospital spokesman.

The ashes of Einstein's cremated body were still at a West Trenton Crematorium today. An undertaker said he had not yet been advised whether they are too be stored or the family will pick them up.

Memorial Tribute Planned.

National and international leaders have been invited to a public memorial tribute, set for Sunday night at New York's Carnegie Hall. A memorial service, sponsored by the Hillel Foundation at Princeton University, will be held Friday night at the University's Whig Hall.

Messages of sympathy and tribute came from President Eisenhower, former President Truman and other national leaders.

Dr. Arthur H. Compton, chancellor emeritus of Washington University, St. Louis, said that "more clearly than any other in the modern age, Albert Einstein showed us the limitations of what we call common sense judgment about the way things act."

The flag flew at half staff at the Institute for Advanced Study here, where the Nobel prize winning scientist was professor emeritus. Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, director of the institute, said it was a day of mourning "for all scientists and most men."

M'CARTHY SAID TO BE IN CLEAR ON INCOME TAX

Senator Reported to Have Received Refund — He Summons Press for Report.

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service was understood today to have cleared Senator Joseph R. McCarthy's income tax record after a detailed investigation.

Various informed sources reported last night that the Wisconsin Republican had been granted a refund for 1946-1952.

In New York, the Associated Press received by mail today what presumably was a photostatic copy of a Treasury Department check to McCarthy, marked "tax refund." The check, for $1056.75, was dated April

A Secret Service agent called and took the photostat because it is illegal to reproduce a Treasury check in any manner.

In Des Moines, Ia., State Department Security Chief R. W. Scott McLeod, a friend of McCarthy, said he had been informed T. Coleman Andrews, Internal Revenue commissioner, had notified McCarthy Friday that he had a refund due him. The Revenue Service refused to comment on the McCarthy case.

McCarthy declined to be quoted on the matter in advance of a press conference today, which he billed as a report "to the people" on an internal revenue investgiation that began in the fall of 1952 and ended about a year ago.

A Senate Elections subcommittee raised questions about McCarthy's financial affairs during a 1951-52 investigation. However, the subcommittee did not attempt to answer those questions, saying in its report that McCarthy had declined to testify on his finances.

The matter was turned over to the Internal Revenue Service. The subcommittee report also went to the Justice Department. In October 1953 Attorney General Brownell said his department had found nothing to show McCarthy had broken any laws.

The Senate, meeting in unusual session, last Dec. 2 condemned McCarthy in part for abusing members of the Elections subcommittee that investigated him. McCarthy has contended the subcommittee conducted itself improperly.

The Wisconsin Republican told reporters in scheduling his news conference:

"I am not going to report to the Senate, but to the people who paid for the special (censure) session. I want to show them what they were getting for their money."

McCarthy said his report would "answer completely" the questions raised by the Elections subcommittee.

Among other things, the subcommittee questioned whether McCarthy had profited by speculating in 1950 in soybeans futures "with funds advanced for his anti-Communist drive." McCarthy has denied that he did so.

BILL TO CONTROL COMIC BOOK SALES IS SIGNED BY MAYOR

Mayor Raymond R. Tucker signed yesterday a bill establishing a board of review to censor comic books considered objectionable because they feature crimes of violence, horror stories, immorality or obscenity.

In a letter to the Board of Aldermen, the Mayor, who vetoed a similar bill recently, said the present measure appears to contain safeguards against violations of the constitutional guarantees of free speech and press.

The board has authority to issue cease and desist orders on the sale and distribution of objectionable comic books. Failure to obey the board's order is made punishable by a fine and workhouse sentence.

FREED OF CHARGE OF INCITING DEATH FOR M'CARTHY

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 19 (AP)—Hank Greenspun, Brooklyn-born publisher with a touch of western maverick in his editorial make-up, is free of a federal charge of mailing matter tending to incite the murder of Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep.), Wisconsin.

A jury of six men and six women acquitted the 45-year-old publisher and columnist of the Las Vegas Sun last night after 2 hours and 45 minutes of deliberation.

Jury Foreman Gail Andres said "there was never any doubt in our minds" that Greenspun's column posed no threat to McCarthy's life. The column said:

"Destroy people and they in turn must destroy you! The chances that McCarthy will eventually be laid to rest at the hands of some poor innocent slob whose reputation and life he has destroyed through his well-established smear technique."

MONSANTO, STRIKING UNION, CONCILIATOR DISCUSS ISSUES

Representatives of Monsanto Chemical Co. and of 1500 striking AFL Chemical Workers met today at the office of the United States Conciliation Service to discuss issues in the strike called at the company's John F. Queeny Plant yesterday. Conciliator Nicholas Fillo conducted the meeting.

The chemical workers are demanding an increase of 13 cents an hour. Their union, Local 16, rejected a company offer of 5½ cents, plus an adjustment amounting to one-half cent an hour.

Leaders of the strike contend that the offer made by the company involves loss of several advantages gained over a period of years. These include, it was said, a proposed change in sick leave and changes in certain job rates. Supervisory employes are able to maintain production at 20 per cent normal, the company said.

TAIPEI SPEEDS DISPERSAL PLAN FOR CIVILIANS

Arrival of Soviet Jet Bombers in China, Gen. Liu in Foochow Reported.

TAIPEI, Formosa, April 19 (AP)—The Chinese Nationalists today speeded up plans for dispersing non-essential civilians from Taipei amid reports the Communists might soon be able to reach the city with jet bombers.

The official Central Daily News said the Reds already had completed preparations for an attack on the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu across the Formosa strait.

Only yesterday Mme. Chiang Kai-shek said her husband, the Nationalist president, was inflexibly determined to defend those islands with or without outside help.

Talks Continue.

An unverified Nationalist press report said one-eyed Communist Gen. Liu Po-cheng, commander of the Second Field Army, had arrived April 12 at Foochow, capital of Fukien province about 40 miles west of the Matsu islands.

It connected his reported arrival with Red plans for an attack on Matsu and Quemoy.

Nationalist intelligence reports said a number of Soviet-built IL-28 jet bombers had arrived in central China and speculated that they would be transferred to five jet bases in Fukien province as soon as they are ready for use.

Generalissimo Chiang today received C. K. Yen, the governor of Formosa who heads this island's civil air defense command.

Yen's office issued fresh warnings of the possibility of Communist air attacks and urged everyone who could to move to the countryside. It urged people to build private shelters, dig wells for alternative sources of water, and move inflammable goods out of cities. It made plans to build more public shelters.

Pupils Evacuated.

Pupils of seven schools in different cities are being evacuated to the country and arrangements made for others to go.

The Central Daily News, in reporting what it called Communist preparations for an invasion of Matsu, 120 miles northwest of Formosa, said the defenders of that island now are ready to repel an invasion since the arrival of more effective weapons.

A joint United States-Nationalist communique in the mutual defense conference today said it was proceeding "in an earnest and harmonious way" discussing "matters according to a prearranged agenda."

FINE MORATORIUM AT LIBRARY BRINGS FLOOD OF BOOKS

The St. Louis Public Library's moratorium on accumulated fines produced a windfall of long-overdue books yesterday. The Central branch alone received 355, almost one-fourth of which had been missing for more than a year.

The other 19 branch libraries also reported getting back books long missing from the shelves. Carondelet branch received 15 in the long-overdue category, one of which was out five years. It was a book on mushrooms.

Miss Elizabeth Summersby, chief of the circulation department at Central Library, was pleased to see two missing books arrive in the mail from Los Angeles. A St. Louisan returned an expensive two-volume Cambridge History of Poland.

Library users were not the only ones to gain a benefit from the one-day moratorium on fines. The employes of Benton branch in the Roe Public School received a cake in the form of a book from a library patron, grateful for past favors.

550 ARRESTS HERE IN 1954 FOR DRIVING WHEN DRUNK

A total of 550 arrests for driving when intoxicated were made by St. Louis police in 1954, Arthur Meyer, statistician for the St. Louis Police Department, reported last night at the first meeting of the St. Louis Committee on Alcoholism at the County Health Department auditorium, 651 South Brentwood boulevard, Clayton.

Besides the conventional breath test, in which the subject breathes into a balloon, blood and urine tests can also determine the percentage of alcohol in a person, Dr. Meyer said. The tests are more accurate when given by a trained technician, he added.

The percentage of women arrested for driving when intoxicated was extremely low last year, he said. Dr. Joseph B. Kendis was chosen acting chairman.

CZECHS COMPLAIN IN NOTE OF 'HOSTILE' U.S. ACTIVITIES

LONDON, April 19 (UP) — Communist Czechoslovakia complained in a formal note to the United States against what it called "systematic hostile activities against the Czechoslovak republic."

The official Czech news agency Ceteka said in a Radio Prague broadcast heard here that the note was delivered to the United States embassy in Prague.

Why "THAT IVORY LOOK" means a prosperous look for St. Louis!

Because so many women want "That Ivory Look," this famous soap, made at the Procter & Gamble factory here in St. Louis grows more and more successful, year after year. And every bar, every carload that's shipped to serve throughout this part of the country leaves a little "extra something" for St. Louis—better jobs, better living, greater prosperity for the community as a whole.

Since the success of every P&G product is reflected everywhere in town, Procter & Gamble is working full time to help make these benefits even greater as the years go on.

Better Jobs!

Employees at Procter & Gamble are able to help make better jobs for others because they enjoy unusually steady jobs themselves—are year-'round customers for local business of all kinds. Procter & Gamble's famous employment plan guarantees eligible employees 48 weeks' work each year—in addition to profit-sharing and pension benefits.

Better Business!

Most of the dollars that Ivory brings to St. Louis in P & G payroll and plant-operating expenditures are quickly passed on to local business. Whenever possible Procter & Gamble buys the supplies and services it needs right here in town.

Better Living!

Tax money paid by P & G and other leading local industries benefits the entire community. It helps provide safer streets, better schools and parks. P & G people like it this way. In fact, many of them work as private citizens for the betterment of St. Louis. For this is, after all, their home town, too.

CHILDS

Many of Dulles's Troubles Rise From Trying to Please Congress And President at Same Time

Misunderstanding of Importance of 'Housekeeping' Details Within State Department Also Causes Difficulties Like Corsi Affair.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1955, The Pulitzer Publishing Co.)

WASHINGTON, April 19.

AS a lawyer of great skill and experience, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has two clients whom he feels he must satisfy. One is President Eisenhower and the other is Congress, or, rather, the congressional leaders of both parties.

The difficulty for Dulles in recent months has been that these two clients were not in complete agreement on the objectives of foreign policy.

To please one, he had to say one thing which was almost certain to displease the other. Particularly has this been true with respect to such determined policy-shapers as the Senate's minority leader, Senator William F. Knowland of California. The Senator has put all and sundry on notice, including the President, that if the United States fails to intervene in the defense of Quemoy and Matsu, he will break with the Administration.

In addition to the conflicting views of his two principal clients, Dulles has been plagued with housekeeping troubles such as the row over the dismissal of Edward J. Corsi, who was deputy director of the refugee-immigration program, and the release of the Yalta papers. As a consequence, he finds himself in more public trouble with more criticism directed at him than at any time in the two and a half years that he has been Secretary of State.

Administrative Uproar.

Dulles's attitude toward his housekeeping problems and the uproar they have created is one of puzzled and pained surprise. He sees them as unimportant in relation to the shattering questions of peace and war with which he must deal from day to day. The fact is that he has had little interest in the Administration of a department that is today a huge enterprise with 20,000 employes in every corner of the globe.

While he was Under Secretary, Gen. Walter Bedell Smith took most of the administrative responsibility. When Smith resigned to accept a highly paid job with private business, he was replaced by Herbert Hoover Jr. who was new not only to the department but to Government. Hoover is credited with working hard to rebuild confidence and morale in the department, but most reports indicate there is still considerable confusion and lack of confidence at all levels.

What Dulles has not understood, in the view of this observer, is that the administrative problems which have made the headlines are not merely housekeeping details. In many instances, they have involved the kind of loyalties on which the public places great significance. If you don't stand by your own people, then you won't before long have good people working for you. It comes down to something like that.

Trying to Please Critics.

At the outset, in his effort to please the congressional leadership, Dulles gave W. Scott McLeod, friend and protege of Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, a key position as head of the department's security division. Whether rightly or wrongly, McLeod has been considered the agent of the right wing of the Republican party in the State Department. In one case after another, the Corsi affair being the latest, Dulles has followed the same course of trying to please his most captious critics.

It so happens that in this matter of loyalties there is an example which goes counter to the Dulles pattern. Secretary of the Air Force Harold E. Talbott last year named as Assistant Secretary in charge of research and development Trevor Gardner, a brilliant young scientist-business man from California. Shortly before his appointment, Gardner had testified in behalf of J. Robert Oppenheimer during the Atomic Energy Commission's investigation into security charges brought against the nuclear physicist who directed the wartime work on the atomic bomb at the Los Alamos laboratories.

Gardner believed in Oppenheimer's integrity and honesty and he believed, too, that the loyalties existing between scientists and government were directly involved. After his name was sent to the Senate for confirmation, Senator Knowland asked that it be returned to committee without action.

But the Air Force kept Gardner on as a special assistant and he was finally confirmed on Feb. 28.

Thus a man of extraordinary capacity was saved for government service.

This question of deeper loyalties may be one reason why the California Institute of Technology, one of the two or three leading scientific institutions in the country, is this week giving Gardner an honorary degree of doctor of science.

Distorted Prominence.

No one can question the magnitude of the foreign policy issues confronting Dulles. It is understandable that he should be a little hurt and surprised that his achievements and his difficulties in the field of his major concern should be obscured by disputes over who fired whom and why. The culminating success of bringing Germany and France together in a European alliance seems, as viewed from the State Department, scarcely to have been noted in the furor over the Corsi case.

For the same perspective, the public seems little aware of the grave peril to peace in the Formosa strait. After his conference with the President on Sunday, Dulles talked of the significant-military buildup on the Communist mainland in much the same terms that Adm. Robert B. Carney used in his background warning, but, at the same time, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty wanted it made clear that this was not an emergency which Dulles was putting before the President.

There must be an old saw which goes: Too many clients spoil the case. Certainly it is impossible to please all the clients and there must have been times of late the harassed Secretary felt that he was pleasing no one.

New Approach to Peace Through Moral Force Sought by Leaders of Asian-African Nations

West Might Well Consider Move to Subordinate Power to Ideas.

By DONALD GRANT
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

BANDUNG, Indonesia, April 19.

IN a world which shows symptoms of drifting toward an atomic war, the representatives of the former "voiceless ones in the world"—the 1,500,000,000 people of Asia and Africa—are trying desperately to find a new approach to peace.

We Westerners who managed to fight two world wars within a generation might well consider what that approach is. At the same time, the old power struggle in the world is going on and it cannot but be reflected here.

That struggle here takes the form of Communist and Western bids for the loyalties of this majority of mankind. China, which spoke softly at the conference opening, may well raise its voice in the old Communist refrain against the United States and its allies. Yet the United States, though not participating in the Asian-African conference, also has its friends here to press the Western advantage where possible.

Can't Be Ignored.

The new approach, however, is something else and we may accept it or reject it, but when the issue is the survival of civilization, if not of the world itself, we cannot in sanity ignore it, even though it is presented in terms unfamiliar to American ears.

To a great many Asians here, particularly India, Burma and Indonesia, there exists a moral force stronger than the force of tanks, guns, ships and atom bombs.

The new approach, which is being tried on a grand scale here for the first time, is to mobilize that force in an effort to halt the drift toward atomic war.

It is fashionable to dismiss this idea in the West as a form of Eastern mysticism. From the vantage point of the Bandung conference it does not appear as simple as that. Thoughtful Asians and Africans begin by pointing out that Gandhi broke the power of the British Empire with an idea, a moral force. Indonesians who fought in the war of liberation against the Dutch can tell a hundred instances of moral force breaking the power of The Netherlands' tanks and guns.

Perhaps it is because this moral force is all that Asians and Africans have that they believe with a terrible conviction that people are superior to physical power when people are armed with an idea.

Idea on Its Own Legs.

It is true that both Communism and the West have ideas—but to Asian eyes the ideas tend to be subordinate to power and this is at once a cause and a symptom of the power struggle now appearing to lead the world to a war of total destruction. What this conference is trying to forge is the power of an idea that will stand on its own legs, will control power rather than be controlled by power.

This certainly was behind the thinking of President Soekarno of Indonesia as he opened the first session of the conference. That address deserves a most careful rereading. This kind of thinking is behind the "pancha shila," the five points to which all the nations here are being asked to agree. United States foreign policy makers tend to dismiss the "pancha shila" as a meaningless collection of generalities, although American Ambassador John Sherman Cooper in New Delhi last week associated himself with the five points, even though Red China also has subscribed to them.

The Five Points.

The points are:

1. Mutual respect for one another's territorial integrity and sovereignty.
2. Non-aggression.
3. Non-interference in one another's internal affairs.
4. Equality and mutual benefit.
5. Peaceful co-existence.

What is significant about the "pancha shila," however, is that it represents an attempt to find an area of agreement which might lead to peace. Again, the power of an idea. Reaching such an area of agreement certainly is the great purpose of the Bandung conference, whether it is achieved or not.

In Western eyes, however, the participation of Red China, which fought in the Korean war and aided Ho Chi-minh in Indochina and which seized Tibet, is a form of hypocrisy that clouds the whole proceedings of this conference. How does it appear in Asian eyes?

The only sure answer is "differently."

Asian Distinction.

India and Indonesia and perhaps other Asian nations make a distinction between China and Communism, between an aggressive doctrine imported from the West and an ancient and great Asian nation, and they believe there is a spirit of Asia and Africa which transcends both Communism and the Western alliance.

Can this spirit restrain powerful nations from war?

President Soekarno pointed out that Asian nations played a large role in ending the Indochinese war. Indian leaders and many other Asians believe Red China would not have entered the Korean war had India's advice to United Nations troops not to cross the thirty-eighth parallel been heeded. In the present hour there can be little doubt, this writer believes after lengthy conversations with highest Asians, that it is the spirit of Asia and Africa—so easy to dismiss as "Eastern mysticism"—that is restraining Red China from further aggressions in the Formosa strait.

Reds Appreciate Spirit.

To whatever extent Chinese Communist leaders speak softly at the Bandung conference, that is a result of their knowledge that, whatever their Communist ambitions, they must take into account the spirit of Asia's and Africa's millions who yearn for peace, who mistrust power as the victims of power and who believe in a dream of a united mankind.

Asians also have a tolerance for the frailty of mankind not shared by the deterministic West. They do not expect the violence and the repression of Communism to disappear in a day or doubt that other forms of violence and repression may replace Communism. But they believe that if a large enough area of consensus can be achieved at this conference the spirit of Asia and Africa will grow more powerful and that it cannot then be ignored by any power on earth.

EGYPT TO PUT UP BARBED WIRE ON ISRAEL'S BORDER

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., April 19 (AP)—Egypt told the United Nations Security Council yesterday that it soon will build barbed wire fences along its demarkation line with Israel.

A letter from the Egyptian delegation to the Council president, Arkady A. Sobolev of the Soviet Union, said Egypt is prepared to string the wire even if Israel does not. Israel, however, has consented to do so.

Headquarters of Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, the U.N. Palestine truce chief, announced that an oral agreement between Israeli and Jordan commanders in the Jerusalem area to prevent or suppress hostile acts went into effect yesterday.

The Security Council turned today to a review of progress, if any, made toward easing the dangerous tension along the Egyptian-Israeli border. The council has been meeting intermittently on the Palestine situation since 38 Israelis and eight Egyptians were killed in a clash near Gaza, Egypt, Feb. 28. The council subsequently blamed Israel for the attack.

Atomic War Over Quemoy, Matsu Might End All Western Influence In Asia, London Writer Believes

Barbara Ward Jackson Says Future of Formosa and Pescadores Could Be Settled by Meeting of 48 Nations That Signed Japanese Peace Treaty.

By GEORGE H. HALL
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 19.

ATOMIC WAR to save the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu from the Chinese Communists might well insure the disappearance of all western influence from Asia, in the opinion of Barbara Ward Jackson, former foreign editor of the Economist, of London.

Mrs. Jackson, whose views are respected in the United States as well as in Great Britain, sees nothing but disaster as a consequence of an atomic attack on the mainland of China to protect Quemoy and Matsu, Chinese Nationalist occupied islands within gunshot of China. She expresses her opinion in an article in the current issue of Look magazine.

The future of Formosa and the Pescadores, about 100 miles across the Formosa strait from the China mainland, should be settled at a conference of the 48 nations which have signed the Japanese peace treaty, Mrs. Jackson thinks. Formosa was a Japanese colony for 50 years before World War II. President Eisenhower has been authorized by Congress to defend Quemoy and Matsu if that action seems necessary to the defense of Formosa, to which the United States is committed.

U.S. Maintains Silence.

The United States has never said what it would do about defending Quemoy and Matsu if the Red Chinese attacked, and the subject has been a touchy one for the Eisenhower Administration. On Sunday, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who has been gloomy about peace prospects in Asia, told President Eisenhower the Red air-power build-up opposite Formosa is more intense than had been supposed.

This statement of Dulles brought word from Senator William F. Knowland (Rep.), California, the Senate minority leader, that he would ask Dulles and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to tell the Senate Foreign Relations Committee whether the build-up threatens the United States Seventh Fleet.

Knowland wants to defend Quemoy and Matsu.

The dangers in the Formosa situation extend far beyond the area of a few relatively inconsequential islands, Mrs. Jackson maintains.

Her theme runs this way:

Force is respected in Asia and weakness, or its appearance, despised. There must be no appeasement. On the other hand, virtually all America's allies abroad advocate caution, which in itself is a powerful reason for giving careful consideration to any means by which war may be avoided honorably. Communism presses on the free world in a wide arc and its outward thrust cannot be resisted by one nation "going it alone."

Important as Divisive Issue.

Mrs. Jackson continues:

"Unity of policy and action in the Free World is a fundamental basis of successful resistance to Communism, and if any issue can be made to divide the grand alliance, it is inevitably a card, perhaps a trump card, in the Communists' hand. The question of military policy in the Formosa strait has become such a divisive issue. It has become a danger and a threat.

"It is not simply America's enemies who are denouncing the policy of risking atomic war over the offshore islands. It is not only the cry of the Bevanites, the neutralists, the pacifists, the professional America-haters. The conviction exists in the minds of America's most loyal friends and supporters—among whom the writer would wish to be included—that the danger of war has risen in the Formosa strait not because it is there that strategically and morally a stand must be made, but because the United States has been maneuvered into an untenable position by past mistakes. No one outside the United States believed in the 'unleashing' of the Nationalist Chinese.

"Yet the military reinforcement of Matsu and Quemoy and their emergence as a major

Navy Officers Dine on Oysters Gathered on Government Time

IF YOU like oysters, join the Navy, but don't enlist—get a commission and have yourself assigned to the Cheatham Annex Depot of the Naval Supply Center between Yorktown and Norfolk, Va.

For years, oysters have been dug and shucked on Government time at Cheatham Annex by civilian workers of the Navy Department exclusively for the digestive tracts of Navy brass. They were eaten at the officers' mess at Cheatham Annex.

They were shipped via Navy facilities, at the rate of six to eight quarts a week, to the officers' mess at the Norfolk Supply Center.

Prior to his retirement on Aug. 1, 1953, they were also expressed regularly to Washington for the personal use of Vice Adm. Charles W. Fox. Adm. Fox, known to his men as "Oyster Forks Charley," was the Navy's paymaster-general from 1949 to 1951 and was Chief of Navy Material from 1951 to 1953.

Officers on Carpet.

Now on the carpet over this and other revelations at Cheatam Annex are Comdr. F. L. Chapman, who commanded the depot from 1948 to 1953; Lt. Comdr. L. W. Race, who was there from 1953 to 1954; and Comdr. W. G. Nichol, who was in charge from Jan. 4, 1954, until his replacement by R. Adm. A. A. Antrim on April 1, 1954.

A General Accounting Office investigation also discloses that officers at Cheatham Annex used Government money and Government personnel to make toys for their children and to build a virtual country club for their off-duty enjoyment.

Moreover, due either to sheer incompetence or negligence, additional thousands of dollars in public funds were lost to the Government through faulty administration.

Lt. Comdr. Race was found to have bought parts for a toy locomotive for his own personal use, and paid for them with a check written on Government funds. The parts comprised 30 small wheels and axles for an electric train set.

"An excessive stock of pallets was on hand," states the confidential GAO report, "some deteriorating in open storage space. New pallets were being purchased for this and other

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Support for a 'United Fund'

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The St. Louis Diabetes Association, by order of its Board of Directors, wishes to go on record as being in favor of the United Fund Drive.

Each year our group conducts two drives—one a financial campaign, and the other the annual Diabetes Detection Drive. Naturally, there is much work involved in both of these undertakings. We would much rather devote our entire time to the Detection drive so that we could help more and more St. Louisans.

If the United Fund drive becomes a reality, we can put all our efforts behind the Detection drive. During this Detection drive last fall, we distributed more than 90,000 test strips and discovered 245 people who had diabetes and did not know it. There are still about 10,000 people in this area who have this disease and don't know it. We must find them.

We don't like to ask for money any more than people like to be asked. But we must have funds to operate. We will start our fund raising campaign in about two weeks, and we hope that it is the last we will ever have to conduct.

We are 100 per cent behind the United Fund drive and hope that it is inaugurated. Frankly, our only objective is to help our community. If we are included in the United Fund drive, it will mean that we'll have much more time to devote to our primary task. MRS. C. PAUL TILEY,
President,
St. Louis Diabetes Association.

The World Grows Better

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Thank you for Christopher Billopp's column, "Volunteers," in the April 14 issue. As one who has worked with volunteers for many years, I know how truly it tells the story.

Whoever doubts the world is growing better has only to consider the thousands of volunteers in our own community.
RED CROSS VOLUNTEER.

Gov. Donnelly's Duty

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Your recent editorial on the proposed Missouri constitutional amendment to eliminate our present nonpartisan court plan, the blame for which you placed on Gov. Donnelly's refusal to appoint anyone recommended by the Sixteenth District Judicial Commission, is most appropriate and timely.

A careful reading of the section providing for our nonpartisan court plan indicates clearly that the duty of the Governor is "ministerial" and not "discretionary."

If the Governor has the authority to turn down all recommendations, he can by that act nullify the entire nonpartisan court plan.

Even though Gov. Donnelly is not friendly to these nominees, he should go ahead and do his duty by appointing one of them.

Not to do so would be to fail to do his duty which he solemnly "swore" he would do. And surely the Governor does not want to be in that position. CITIZEN.

Speaking of Left Wings

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Dr. Bryngelson reports in a recent reprint in your Mirror of Public Opinion that there are 30 years of research at the University of Minnesota to support his testimonial that left-handedness is determined by heredity.

Many students of genetics would go along with this. But who are the geneticists who back up Dr. Bryngelson's assumption that the inheritance of this physiological trait determines (or even occurs simultaneously with) the inheritance of one's "basic personality structure?"

Exploiting the Consumer

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Congratulations on your recent editorial, "Hoaxed on Watches." Your exposure of the facts behind the prohibitive taxes on imported watches is very timely indeed.

If those tariffs do not even provide for the maintenance of the essential skills as has been the rationale of their enactment they most certainly ought to be rescinded.

No Puzzle in Pakistan

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Under the heading "Regression in Pakistan," you editorialize sorrowfully about the failings of this "rice-Christian" entity. Just why you are so painfully surprised and shocked by the failure of the government of Pakistan to spread "democracy" among its inhabitants is going to puzzle some of your readers.

This mongrel "democratic state," whose creation was greeted by whoops of joy, plus a satisfactory amount of connivance by our energumens in government, is merely developing in the conventional pattern which has proved so useful in establishing a sure-fire relationship with the United States Treasury.

Every little dictator who has sprung up in the past 20-odd years has been coddled and protected and had his private pocket lined by dollars commandeered from the American taxpayer. And each one has proceeded to kick Uncle Sucker's teeth in whenever it seemed advantageous to do so. Had enough?

Mr. Truman's Sound Views

In the last few days the country has heard more from former President Truman than in a long time. He was the first witness Monday before a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee on possible revision of the U.N. Charter. Last Saturday he delivered a major political speech at the Democratic dinner in honor of Speaker Rayburn. On both occasions the man from Independence had things to say well worth the attention of thoughtful people.

Testifying before the Senate group—a new role incidentally for Mr. Truman, who first rose to national notice as chairman of the Senate defense watchdog committee in World War II—the former President took his stand squarely on the side of maintenance of, support for and improvement in the U.N.

Mr. Truman did not blink the deficiencies of the U.N. But, as he told the Senators, "whatever its weakness and difficulties, it is a power to be reckoned with, and no aggressor can afford to ignore it." Offering his considered opinion that the "present international situation is worse than the one which wrecked the League of Nations," Mr. Truman gave credit to the U.N. as having kept the world from "unlimited international warfare."

* * *

Mr. Truman was entirely right when he recommended to the Senators that the "current threats" to world peace should be taken before the U.N.'s General Assembly. That is the forum for hammering out decisions on these great world problems. That is the place where world public opinion can arise from the give-and-take of international debate.

The former President was equally wise in his stand against any attempt to force Soviet Russia out of the U.N., and in opposing those who would cause the withdrawal of the United States. Speaking in the presence of Republican Senate Leader Knowland, one of the leading "go-it-aloners," the former President said soberly:

> If the United States should withdraw from the U.N., we might just as well prepare for the third World War and get ready to go into it.

At the party rally Mr. Truman was much more the partisan leader. He was biting at times. There was a certain roughness about his remarks in spots and under it all was a political shrewdness. He went further than he needed to go, for example, when he said unqualifiedly that the Eisenhower Administration "has been playing partisan politics with our security, with our foreign policy, with our civil service and with our nation's resources."

Yet on each of these points the Administration of Dwight D. Eisenhower is open to honest criticism and Mr. Truman did well to move his spotlight from one to the other.

As the former President said, "there is no room for partisan bickering over the great issues of national survival." He mentioned no names but it would have been easy for him to have said that the Democrats under Senator George and Speaker Rayburn have given the White House far stronger support on foreign affairs, including aid to our allies and the uncommitted peoples, than have the divided Republicans.

* * *

There were many other sound observations in Mr. Truman's address at the rally. He emphasized the need for allies. He declared that our aim is not to make people fight for us, but to win them over to freedom. He called attention to the danger of tailoring our defense forces to budgetary controls. He remarked that atomic warfare "takes more men, better-trained men, than pre-atomic warfare," and thus warned against the folly of putting all our reliance on new weapons.

But best of all was his overriding plea for cooperation. Congress is Democratic. The White House is Republican. In such a situation co-operation is the only way. And co-operation is a two-way street, which not everybody in Washington has yet come to see.

One Man's Mission

At the Bandung conference, Congressman Adam Clayton Powell of New York is playing a remarkable role. He is there as an unofficial observer and reporter. But as an American Negro political leader he answers in his own person the Communist slanders of American racism.

Mr. Powell undoubtedly surprised and pained the Communists when he told a press conference that racism in the United States is on the way out, that "a peaceful revolution has occurred overnight."

The amazing thing is that Mr. Powell's service is being performed over the objection of the State Department, which tried to dissuade him from going to Bandung.

He described the power and pride of the new free nations in a way which would make Americans ashamed of such governmental indifference to them. And when he was finished his fellow Congressmen, led by Brooks Hays of Arkansas, thanked and congratulated Congressman Powell.

But why has the New Yorker insisted on going personally to the Bandung conference? The answer lies in a paragraph of his speech in Congress:

> The United States is the only power in Western civilization that has a very large minority of colored people, including our Puerto Ricans, Mexicans and Negro people. There are 23,000,000 American citizens who are colored, who are a racial link between this country and the people of Asia and Africa. Let the people of Asia and Africa know that we are rapidly eradicating second-class citizenship. Let them know, specifically, what we are going to do and let them know we are going to do it as soon as we can.

These are indeed things which Americans should let Asians and Africans know. Nobody is better equipped to tell them than Adam Clayton Powell, an elected representative of racial freedom in his own country.

Destroy 68 Manufacturing Plants?

We wonder whether the 71 members of the Missouri House who voted to outlaw filled milk realized they were voting to put 68 frozen dessert plants out of business. These plants produced last year 1,780,000 gallons of frozen desserts made with filled milk—milk from which the butterfat has been extracted and replaced with vegetable fat.

Do 71 Missouri Representatives really want to — in effect — confiscate these business enterprises, put their employes out of work, and stop the flow of hundreds of thousands of dollars a year into the Missouri communities where the plants are located?

Filled milk and filled-milk products are wholesome. Many consumers prefer them because they are lower-priced than whole milk and whole-milk products. If they are outlawed in Missouri, it will be solely because the dairy industry wants to avoid the competition. Missouri's dairy industry must be preserved—but not at the cost of destroying another worthy industry. And in the long run, the dairy industry cannot force consumers by law to buy its products.

The Success of Albert Einstein

The death of Albert Einstein is a reminder that most of us measure our fellows by success—but not always by the high success of the intellect. This we hold in awe, but also in some fear. Maybe that is because man always has been afraid of what he does not know.

So purposely the world may have made rather more than they were worth of Albert Einstein's rumpled appearance, his sweaters, his shyness, his fiddle-playing and his unworldliness when, asked to name his own salary, he said $5000 a year. All these are of human proportions; they helped to bring him to our size. Or did we talk about them because very few of us could talk very long or very well about relativity or the field theory?

The scientists explain that his formula made possible the bombs which bring the "annihilation of any life on earth," as Albert Einstein himself warned, "within the range of technical possibilities." We solemnly take their word for this—not without some concrete evidence. Yet many citizens are not nearly as alarmed as they would be in front of a robber's pistol. We put the scientists through a loyalty test, tell them to stick to their laboratories and give us what we want of them. We can handle such men.

This annoyed Albert Einstein, especially since he cared more about people and knowledge than about bombs. Long a pacifist, he willingly made the terror-weapon possible in a war for freedom. He expected the harvest of victory to be freedom. And he resented its limitation for what to him seemed unjustifiable political reasons.

So Albert Einstein came to say a foolish thing or two, but even the foolishness came of compassion and courage. He did not believe that people should be pushed around, or should allow themselves to be pushed around, and he said so. There were those who told him to keep his mouth shut; let the shoemaker stick to his last. But Albert Einstein knew that freedom is everybody's last. Some day recognition of his pure purpose will add to his fame.

And what is at the root of this otherwise exceedingly quiet and modest man's universal fame? The desire to know, to understand, to explain. He was fascinated by the unanswered questions. His mathematician's mind insisted that there must be answers, and that all the answers must agree; the universe must make exact sense. Hence the field theory which Bishop Scarlett once defined as an effort to formulate a scientific definition of the universe and its God.

Historians and philosophers will be skeptical about filling all the gaps which Albert Einstein set up as problems for succeeding scientists. But ever since the first bomb was tested in the wastes of New Mexico, not many will make light of a few fountain-pen squiggles on a bit of paper. Maybe most men will even change their attitude a little toward the few men who can make them. It seems a good idea not to fill scientists with resentment and bitterness, but to have them as good friends. Theirs is a phenomenal success. And it grows.

Against a Bootleg Traffic

Under a new agreement with Mexico, the United States pledges to seek legislation to punish American farmers and others who hire illegal "wetbacks." This idea has proved distasteful to Congress.

A commission named by former President Truman suggested penalties for employers of illegal alien migrant workers. Senator Paul H. Douglas of Illinois, among others, has introduced such legislation. But nothing ever came of it, so the wetbacks continue to cross the border, the farmers and ranchers exploit them as long as possible, the Border Patrol is hard-pressed to deport them—and nothing whatever happens to the employers.

The situation is not only unfair, but it is made to order for an illegal traffic which ought to be stopped. The best way to stop it is to bring law against those who hire wetbacks as well as the wetbacks. The agreement with Mexico calls for such legislation. In fairness to the Mexicans and in defense of our border, Congress ought to honor that agreement.

Some Go Broke

Appropriating funds for the handling of bankruptcy cases, the House Appropriations Committee revealed that the highest number of bankruptcies since 1932 is expected next year.

Because bankruptcies and depression are naturally associated in our minds, it is easy to assume that the first are a sign of the second. We doubt it. A rising bankruptcy rate could reflect falling national income, but it could also reflect various other factors. The important thing is the basic state of the economy at large, and right now it seems to be booming.

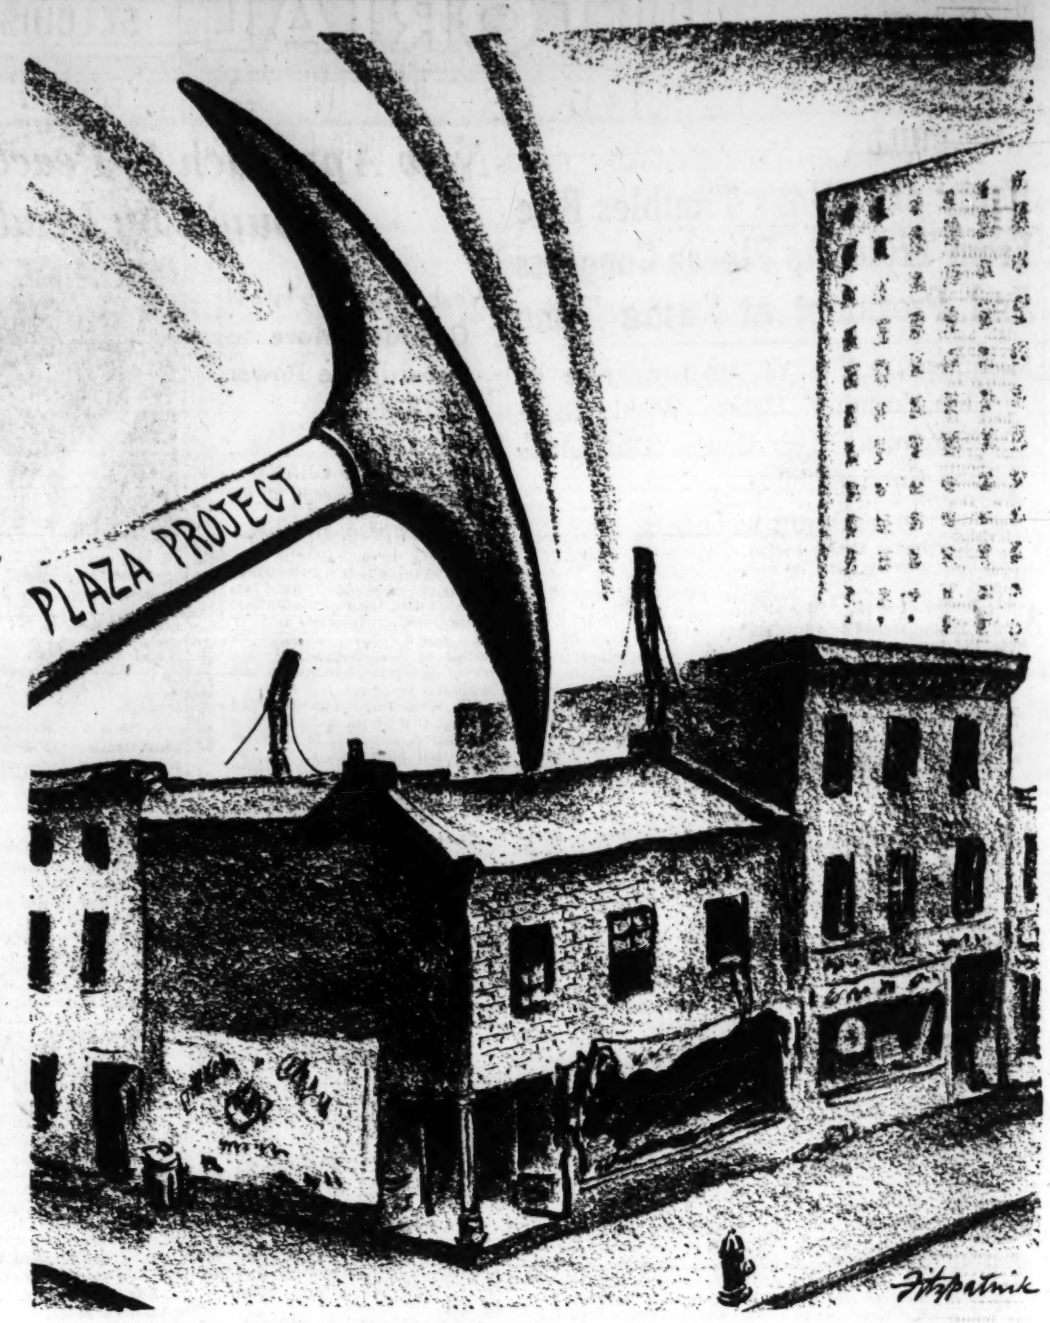

Rigorously withholding attention from the individual who goes broke, and looking only at the very large picture, it can be argued that rising bankruptcies during a period of rising national income and expanding production are merely a sign that the competitive system is working the way it is meant to work.

It is the essence of competition that somebody goes broke, especially in the new fields of endeavor, like television, power mowers and air conditioners, into which many enterprisers rush to capitalize on a new demand. So long as the way is open for new manufacturers to get into business, and to stay there in competition with the giants already established, the fact that some do not survive must be regarded as the price of the competitive system.

It is when bankruptcies occur in conjunction with monopolistic restraints to new competition, and in conjunction with falling national income, that we have to look out.

A Monument to Be

Some day there will be a magnificent highway the length of the Mississippi Valley. It will start in Minnesota, and follow the great river downstream, crossing and recrossing repeatedly so as to give travelers a succession of views of the scenic and historic sites. Wisconsin, Iowa, the Missouri of Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn, Illinois with its Nauvoo country, Cahokia, Fort Chartres and Kaskaskia, Arkansas, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana—all will have their parts in this great thoroughfare along the river that sweeps into the Gulf of Mexico. When that day comes and the highway is complete, the nation will have in effect a memorial to Albert P. Greensfelder, national and civic planner. The progress on his idea is a testimonial to his vision, hard work and persuasive powers. St. Louisans can be grateful that he was a citizen of their community.

BLOW FOR PROGRESS

Our Stake in World Trade

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Given our world position and our constant advice to the free world to end trade restrictions, it is axiomatic that America should lead the way, but this is what we are not doing, economists say; now the trade issue plagues Washington again.

Isador Lubin and Forrest D. Murden Jr. in a Pamphlet Published by the Foreign Policy Association

The United States for some time has counseled the free world to abandon its trade restrictions. But given our role of economic leadership, it is axiomatic that the United States must take the initiative to break the log jam in world trade. We cannot hope to unite the free world militarily and politically, if at the same time we divide it economically.

The dilemma the free world faces is what Stalin, in Marxist dialect, described as the "disintegration of the single all-embracing world economy." Asserting that the breakup of the world economy "has had the effect of further deepening the general crisis of the world capitalist system," Stalin went on gleefully to predict that we could not repair the damage and we would therefore collapse. He evidently hoped that the free world would devour and impoverish itself in a destructive struggle for markets and economic existence.

Charles Malik

It is obvious that Stalin went way overboard in his eagerness to forecast the destruction of the West. But it would be a setback to the cause of democracy everywhere if the free world failed to read the handwriting on the trade wall and to act in concert to prove Stalin wrong. It would be a greater travesty if we allow the Communists to wrest the initiative in trade, as they are attempting to do in the U.N., and thereby exploit the theme of freer exchange for their own propaganda ends.

For Free World to Expand

Despite some improvement, it comes down to the fact that the free economies of the West are not working together as well as they should. At times they are even operating at cross-purposes.

Charles Malik of Lebanon sets the facts of the situation in compelling perspective. After pointing out the importance of trade to the expansion of the free world, he asks:

"Which is more important—that only one part of the Western community should prosper even if that should endanger the whole, or that the whole world should more or less uniformly prosper and therefore stand firm against the adversary, even if that should mean a relative curbing of desire on the part of some? Here again is a test of how much the West constitutes a real organic community in face of the present danger, and therefore of whether it can develop the conscious human will to invalidate the forebodings of the Marxists."

The United States has three choices before it. First, we can continue to finance the dollar deficit of the free world. The American citizen can continue to pay out funds, and the United States can continue to offer charity when our friends want to earn their way.

Second, and more drastic, we can give up foreign aid without offering any alternative means for our allies to secure dollars. "No aid and no trade"—this policy, expounded by a vociferous few, would hurt our export industry, isolate us and endanger our security.

Or, third, we can reduce this country's trade barriers to help our friends earn the dollars they need. If polls are to be believed, this is the popular solution. A Gallup survey in the summer of 1953 indicated that all major segments of the population—by education, sex, occupation and geographic location—were in favor of lower tariffs.

In a poll of 500 business and labor leaders by the Research Institute of America, 92 per cent expressed the opinion that the United States should actively work for greater freedom in international trade. More than eight out 10 thought that "freer world trade would benefit the United States economy as a whole."

Trade as a Two-Way Street

The Council on Foreign Relations, in interviewing leading citizens of 25 cities, found that 98 per cent were in favor of renewing the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act. Only 12 per cent of those interviewed thought that the United States should not maintain its exports by increasing its imports if by so doing it would injure some domestic producers.

What we need is a tariff policy in the national interest—the interest of the consumer, the taxpayer, the laborer, the business man and the farmer—not a policy in the interest of a few at the expense of the many. The job ahead is to reduce and simplify our tariffs, abolish cargo preference, and end the unjust and discriminatory application of the Buy American Act, the escape clause and the peril point requirements.

In short we must clear away the debris blocking trade at our end of the street. Not all of the traffic will go through; but the part that does, will move at a more rapid rate. And it will help to bring nearer the day when the two-way street of trade becomes a fast moving superhighway with greater world productivity and a better life for all.

President Eisenhower, in his message to Congress on March 30, 1954, squarely set forth our stake in world trade: "If we fail in our trade policy, we may fail in all. Our domestic employment, our standard of living, our security and the solidarity of the free world—all are involved.

"For our own economic growth we must have continuously expanding world markets; for our security we require that our allies become economically strong. Expanding trade is the only adequate solution for these two pressing problems confronting our country."

Just Plain Mo.

C. E. McBride in The Kansas City Times

The gentlemen who shortened Missouri to Mo., on the state's new motor car licenses likely never has done much motor car touring. To the motorist who makes use of the highways of this country the state license tag is of considerable interest. You wonder where this car or that calls home and the license tells the story. Our highways are busy with tourists from all the states and every tourist, in a way, is a goodwill ambassador from his state. Sometimes on a day's drive you keep tab on how many states you see represented.

Therefore your state gets better advertising if the car license is easy to decipher. The old Missouri license, with the name spelled out, was easy to read. You have to ride the bumper on the car ahead to get wise to the "Mo." A small item but of passing interest to anyone who makes touring use of our highways and they are thousands.

Between Book Ends

Poet for the English Too

BURNS INTO ENGLISH: RENDERINGS OF SELECTED DIALECT POEMS OF ROBERT BURNS, by William Kean Seymour. (Philosophical Library, 160 pgs., $3.75.)

This reviewer is going to take his life, and his membership in the Burns Club of St. Louis, in his hands and assert that in producing this volume Mr. Seymour has put every English-speaking lover of Burns in his debt. For, as Sir William Craigie wrote in his "Primer of Burns," "the difficulty of his language to any but his fellow-countrymen must always prevent the world at large from fully appreciating some of his finest poems."

Every Burns-night tribute-payer to "the immortal memory" boasts of the Bard's universal appeal. Everyone agrees that he is the poet who, of all poets, reaches closest to the common heart of humanity. That is why his work has been so widely translated. Yet, ironically, the reader who hitherto has had the most difficulty in receiving his meaning has been the Briton or the American who has always had to struggle with a dialect which looks and reads like a foreign language. Because of this, every edition of Burns must include a glossary of some 2000 words.

Robert Burns

Now Mr. Seymour—a poet himself of no mean stature—has done away with the need of a glossary. Anyone who loathes having to depend on such aids cannot but welcome his achievement. His plea is "not that readers should substitute these renderings for the originals, but that they should take them as a sincerely enthusiastic introduction, and in the hope that they will follow up the acquaintance. After all, to know Burns only as the poet of some half-remembered lines which we all sing as the Old Year dies is a poor compliment to him, to his nation and to ourselves."

We can at least be thankful that the "translator" takes no more than minimum liberties with Burns's text. Thus in "Auld Lang Syne" all he does is to translate "my trusty fiere" into "my trusty friend," and the line: "And we'll tak a right gude-willie waught" into, "And we'll take a right good hearty drink."

Burns never wrote a poem of more universal meaning than "A Man's a man for a' that," and it is, therefore, good to have such un-universal words as, birkie, coof, fa', the gree, rendered into plain English as, dandy, fool, confer, the palm.

Burns's candle, said William Cowper, "is bright, but shut up in a dark lantern." Now, thanks to Mr. Seymour, that light can shine instantly forth. How can even the most perfervid Scot object to the benighted Sassenach now at last having his own translation? If this be treason to the Club all I can say is: my fellow-members will have to make the most of it. I will not resign!

Heat, Sand and Flies

Santal is the story of the religious fervor of an orphaned Arab child named Cherif. It is in a more serious vein than Firbank's other work and attempts to give in a poetical manner the feeling of the Moslem world of heat, sand, flies, droning, dirty old muezzins, and the white cupolas of mosques ever looming against the blue skies. Firbank, however, succeeded only in being saccharine and flowery. The publisher describes this book as a novel, which is misleading. The length is about 10,000 words, and a more accurate description would be a prose poem which didn't quite come off. Although written in 1921, the book is now published in the United States for the first time. Most likely it will be the last, and so that's over with. WILL WHARTON.

THOMAS L. STOKES

Television Costs and Campaign Funds

WASHINGTON.

HOW MUCH OF A CAMPAIGN ASSET—and necessity—television has come to be regarded is being emphasized directly and indirectly in current Senate Privileges and Elections subcommittee hearings on the bill sponsored by Senator Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (Dem.), Missouri, for revision of existing laws regulating campaign expenditures.

The cost of television is listed high among the heavy and increasing expenditures that political managers feel are essential to get their cases before the public. There is general agreement that professional politicians appearing before the subcommittee that television costs are now fixed items in campaign budgets and must be considered in any laws fixing a limit on campaign expenditures.

Hennings.

That, of itself, attests to the importance now attached to getting politics and political candidates on the TV screens in the homes.

Democrats Have Less Money.

In this comparatively new field for politics there can be special advantages, on one hand, and disadvantages and discriminations, on the other, depending upon the plenitude or lack of money to pay for television time. That raises basic questions of equality of treatment.

Democrats, who traditionally have less money to spend in political campaigning than Republicans and regularly spend less as records over the years reveal, are especially concerned about how extensively they will be able to use television in future campaigns, including the 1956 presidential campaign.

Aside from the matter of cash to pay for time, of which they foresee they will have less than their opponents, Democrats are conscious that control of radio and television already is in comparatively few big units, and that the country is in an era of mergers in all sorts of business and industry.

More Free Time on Air?

Democrats talk privately of the possibility of difficulties in getting their story told as completely as fairness demands if the control of communication facilities, including television, should get into the hands of fewer and fewer persons who might not be too kindly inclined to economic doctrines supported by the Democratic party.

These dangers may be mere imaginings, but the fear of them is reported here because it is discussed so frequently among Democrats.

This fear has an expression in suggestions, made before the Senate subcommittee as they have been elsewhere in recent months, that the big chains assign more free time for campaign speeches during the period of presidential campaigns so that political organizations less favored financially can get closer to an even break with the public.

Both parties, as we know, are trying to shorten the campaigns, at least that is the purpose of setting both conventions later than previously.

Reporters who have covered national campaigns closely know the difficulties met—even by presidential candidates on the Democratic ticket—in financing radio and television time.

Stevenson at Cleveland.

Recalled by this reporter was an episode in the Adlai Stevenson campaign of 1952. About 6:30 in the early evening the word came through the campaign train, then traveling in Ohio toward the end of the campaign, that Gov. Stevenson's speech at Cleveland about three hours later would be televised, instead of being carried only on radio.

This was because he was replying to a speech attacking him and some of his aides by Senator Joe McCarthy, which had been televised the night before and paid for by a group that included wealthy Texas oil men.

We learned later what had been necessary to get the Stevenson speech televised. Campaign assistants had got on the telephone during the afternoon to contact persons who might contribute to finance a television half-hour for the Democratic candidate. Enough was pledged on the cuff to pay for the speech.

Dewey's Time and Truman's.

Then arrangements were made for television time. The arrangements were completed so late, however, that it was impossible to get an announcement in the newspapers or a spot announcement on radio.

President Truman was on even leaner fare, campaign expensewise, in 1948. Still vivid is the contrast between his campaign and that of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the Republican candidate, especially in the West where this reporter traveled, alternately, on both campaign trains.

Gov. Dewey had frequent state, regional and national radio hookups. President Truman had but very few, and, on those occasions, campaign aides would get on the telephone and round up enough "angels" to finance them. It was a hand-to-mouth campaign, financially speaking.

Harry Truman did win, as you recall. So, perhaps Democrats are more worried about a fair break on television in the next campaign than they need to be.

SCIENCE FAIR OPENS TO PUBLIC TONIGHT

Exhibits by Elementary, High School Students on Display at Washington U.

Scientific exhibits made by elementary and high school students will go on display tonight with the opening to the public of the eighth annual Greater St. Louis Science Fair.

Subjects range from distribution of salamanders in the St. Louis area to peaceful use of atomic energy. One girl showed to what extremely practical use a knowledge of chemistry can be put. Her entry demonstrates how a person can make lipstick.

Judging of the 1700 entries took place today at the Washington University Field House, Big Bend and Forsyth boulevards, Clayton. Students are competing for 24 college scholarships, worth $23,500, and more than $3200 in cash awards. Winners will be announced in Friday's Post-Dispatch, sponsor of the fair, in co-operation with Washington University.

Ceremonies opening the fair to the public will start at 7:15 p.m. at the field house, with a concert by the Lincoln High School Band, East St. Louis.

The Rev. Thomas C. Donohue S.J., vice president of St. Louis University, will preside. John C. Talbot, special assistant to the chancellor at Washington University, will give welcoming remarks, and Norman R. D. Jones, general chairman of the fair, will explain details of the fair.

Visitors are invited to watch the proceedings from the balcony. After the ceremonies, the public can inspect the exhibits on the main floor. The field house will be open until 10 p.m. Hours for visitors tomorrow and Thursday will be from noon to 9:30 p.m. On Friday, the final day, hours will be from 9:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. There is no charge for admission.

Exhibits dealing with atomic energy have been more numerous year by year, and the current fair is no exception. Hopefully, a trend toward using the atom to benefit mankind is evident in this year's entries.

A display by Gerald E. Friton, eighth grader at Webster Groves Junior High School, shows the applications that industry, medicine and agriculture can make of nuclear energy. Included in the exhibit is a Geiger counter Gerald made himself. It has a less complex transformer circuit than most commercial products.

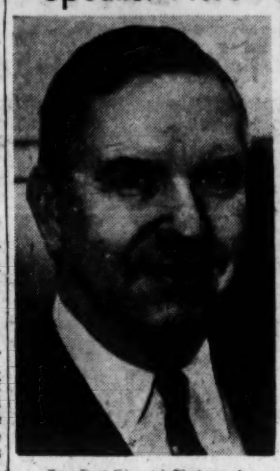

"Makes repairs easier and less expensive," Gerald casually explained yesterday as students and their proud parents and teachers milled about the field house setting up the displays.

Minor crises abounded. One occurred when David L. Hickenbotham, in the sixth grade at Sutton School, Maplewood, found that one of the arms on a windmill he made came loose. Although David was somewhat downcast, there was no question that the problem would be solved.

"I can fix it," he said confidently and then told how he had started four months ago "working now and then" to make the windmill from more than 1000 match sticks glued together. "Last year," David continued, "I won $2 for my waterwheel."

Entries are judged on the basis of how they show creative ability, scientific thought, thoroughness, applied principles and progress, technical skill, clarity and dramatic value. The first three factors are weighed most heavily.

DOGWOOD BLOOMS TO BE THEIR BEST THIS WEEKEND

Persons who want to see Missouri's hills while dogwood trees are in bloom were advised today by the state division of resources and development to do so this weekend.

With recent warm weather, the trees are expected to blossom earlier than usual in the central part of the state. In southern Missouri, dogwood blooms are well-expanded already.

Blossoms usually last about 10 days, the agency pointed out, but they may not last that long this year because of the warm weather.

MRS. ROOSEVELT SAYS U.N. MEMBERS IGNORE CHARTER

BOULDER, Colo., April 19 (UP) — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt yesterday compared the United Nations to a "machine functioning without all its parts" because member nations are failing to live up to their commitments as set forth in the U.N. charter.

The former United States delegate to the world organization said the major failures of the U.N. were widely publicized but that little was known of the many successes in non-political fields. In her address, opening the eighth annual Conference on World Affairs at Colorado University, Mrs. Roosevelt said the United Nations clearly had not accomplished its major objective —world peace.

But, she said, the U.N. could hardly be blamed as long as the member nations do not live up to their commitments.

THEDA BARA LEAVES SISTER BULK OF $100,000 ESTATE

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 19 (AP)—Theda Bara, "vamp" of the silent screen, left the bulk of an estate valued at $100,000 to her sister, Mrs. Lori Bara of Los Angeles. Her will was filed yesterday.

The actress's mother, Mrs. Pauline L. Bara, who lives with Mrs. Lori Bara, was not named in the will.

Former film producer Charles J. Brabin, Miss Bara's husband, was bequeathed her engagement and wedding rings "as a remembrance of our happy marriage." Brabin also received $8000 cash. The will left $1000 to Mrs. Alma Bara, Newport, R.I., widow of the actress's brother. Miss Bara died April 7 of cancer.

URGES LAW TRAINING ON HUMAN PROBLEMS

Law schools of the United States should devote more attention in their curricula to problems of human relations, Dean Erwin N. Griswold of the Harvard Law School said today at Washington University School of Law.

Dean Griswold, delivering the annual Tyrrell Williams Memorial Lecture, said law schools' preoccupation with the "case method," in which specific legal decisions are analyzed, has tended to produce "technicians who tend to look for detail rather than for larger issues."

He urged greater emphasis on what he called "the forgotten areas of law practice." He said this area concerns problems not dealt with in abstract law or covered in appellate court decisions—human problems encountered and solved in a lawyer's office.

"Of course, all law deals with human relations," Dean Griswold said. "But my point is that as it exists in its more or less scientific form, and as it is taught, it does not deal very much with people. Yet lawyers constantly deal with people."

The speaker said he felt it was fair to say that lawyers, as a class, were not very receptive to new ideas. He suggested that their training might be partly to blame.

A greater awareness of human relations problems, Dean Griswold said, might contribute to the effectiveness of lawyers in dealing with crime, with damage suits, with divorce and other domestic matters, and with labor relations.

Lawyers got off to a bad start in the handling of labor disputes because they failed to appreciate that the basic problems were problems of human relations and not of law, the speaker observed. Often, he said, strikes are not conducted or settled on a logical, or even an economic basis.

"If the union gets a raise, it has won the strike," Dean Griswold said. "It has status. It has made its members feel important. That is worth much on the bargaining table. It is more important for a labor lawyer to know and recognize and work with these attitudes than it is for him to know the latest decision of the Court of Appeals."

As for the controversy about resort to the Fifth Amendment to avoid giving sworn testimony, Dean Griswold said he believed this, too, had a definite human relations aspect. He expressed the view that some persons invoking the privilege were people who "just don't like to be pushed around."

Churches' Aid to Modern Art Hailed as Spur to Renaissance

American churches' growing acceptance of modern art can intensify and broaden religious experience and help usher in a true renaissance of all the arts in this country, nationally known authorities on religious art agreed in a panel discussion here yesterday.

The Rev. Dr. Harold Ehrensperger of Boston and the Rev. Dr. Von Ogden Vogt of Vero Beach, Fla., addressed a meeting of 100 St. Louis artists and Protestant clergymen of all denominations at Westminster Presbyterian Church, 5318 Delmar boulevard.

This session was the highlight of a three-day "Festival of Religion and the Arts" sponsored by the Metropolitan Church Federation, the first such festival to be held under a nation-wide program of the National Council of Churches of Christ. Presiding was the Rev. Dr. O. Walter Wagner, executive director of the federation.

The festival will conclude with a free public presentation of "The Questing Spirit," by Mrs. Eugene Meyer, a dramatic production integrating many arts for religious use, today at 8 p.m. at Pilgrim Congregational Church, 826 Union boulevard. Mrs. Meyer is festival chairman. Exhibits of art and architecture will be open today from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. at Westminster church.

These displays, described by both visiting speakers as a distinguished beginning for a national movement, already have been invited for showings at many St. Louis area churches and for a national Baptist convention in August at Green Lake, Wis.

The Rev. Dr. Ehrensperger, professor of religion and the arts at Boston University School of Theology, pleaded for increased patience and understanding for modern art from the clergy. Religion today, he declared, is in need of refreshment because "it has lowered its standards in aiming itself at mass media."

In church, he said, "we must make a place for creative spirits, people with insight and imagination to find ways to express anew the meaning and purpose of life."

The Rev. Dr. Vogt, professor of church art and architecture at Chicago Theological School from 1925 to 1944, discussed modern art indirectly, through an analogy with modern atomic science.

Old theories of the atom conceived of it as being composed of inert matter, whereas "today the atom is known to be a pattern of movements and energies," he said.

"The old religious atom, or ultimate unit of faith, was a structure of fixed beliefs. The new religious atom, like the new physical atom, is a pattern of moving energies.

"The old religious atom of static beliefs had been divisive of mankind, but the new religious atom will open new paths to ecumenical harmony. The old religious atom is as untenable for religion as the old physical atom is for science.

"Esthetic experience, like religious experience, asserts the triumph of order. And this new religious-esthetic atom will add as much power to the spiritual growth of man as the new physical atomic power may add to his material welfare."

Efrem Weitzman, member of the jury that chose the art show, told the clergymen too many of them relied on purely verbal expression of worship. Reports were made by chairmen of Metropolitan Church Federation committees on art, architecture, music, drama, liturgy and literature. Workshops in these subjects were held at several St. Louis churches yesterday and today.

COMMUNITY CENTER IS OPENED BY UNION

Teamsters to Help Solve Area Problems, Provide Personal Services.

A community center created for the purpose of considering neighborhood problems as well as providing other personal services was opened at 2132 Marconi street last night under auspices of the AFL Teamsters' Local 688.

Grievances called to the attention of the center by neighborhood residents will be handled in much the same manner as in the union, Sidney Zagri, community relations director for the Teamsters Union, explained.

These complaints will be processed by a "community steward"—similar to a shop steward—and referred to the proper city or governmental agency, Zagri said.

"It will be a practical course in civics," he added.

In a talk at the center's opening program, Harold J. Gibbons, secretary-treasurer of Local 688, said a union should be interested in the welfare of its members to the extent of recognizing that they spend more time at home than at work.

Consequently, improving the "total welfare of the family unit" should be one of the aims of a union in addition to securing better wages, hours and working conditions for members, Gibbons asserted.

Msgr. John H. Smith, pastor of St. Ambrose Catholic Church, praised labor for its "progressive program" in establishing the center.

The center is the result of a long-range program begun by the union in 1951 in a series of community meetings and if it proves successful others will be established, Zagri said.

DAN REED, AILING IN ROME, 'IMPROVING,' STILL IN DANGER

ROME, April 19 (AP) — The condition of Representative Dan Reed (Rep.), New York, was described as "improved" this morning, but his doctor said "he is not yet out of danger." The Congressmen from Dunkirk, N.Y., was taken to the Little Company of Mary Hospital Sunday after suffering a heart attack. He is 79 years old.

His physician, Dr. Domenico Bolognese, said "his condition is satisfactory this morning. He passed a restful night. But his illness is still grave, and he is not yet out of danger."

Reed came to Rome about 10 days ago to attend a meeting of the executive committee of the Interparliamentary Union, an organization of representatives from a number of national parliaments.

Election of Charles H. Burmeister as president of the Greater St. Louis Zone of the Lutheran Laymen's League was announced yesterday. Burmeister, advertising manager of John S. GRAHAM PREACHES TO 1,500,000 IN 2000 AUDITORIUMS

GLASGOW, Scotland, April 19 (AP)—American evangelist Billy Graham preached last night to an audience estimated by his organization at 1,500,000 persons.

They heard him in 2000 churches and auditoriums throughout Scotland and England, linked by relay lines to Glasgow's Kelvin hall.

About 17,500 persons were in Kelvin hall for the opening of the fifth week of Graham's six-week Scotland crusade.

Many English cities in the linkup heard Graham for the first time. They included Plymouth, Reading, Liverpool, Bristol, Newcastle, Birmingham, Bradford and Hull.

He was one of the founders of the Federal Paper Stock Co. in 1914, and was a past president of the Waste Paper Institute of the National Association of Waste Dealers. In the early 1930s he served as chairman of the waste paper division of the NRA code authority.

INDEPENDENT ARTISTS OPEN BALANCED PAINTING SHOW

A balanced display of paintings, partly experimental and partly concerned with skills of representation, was open today at Petit Pigalle, 4207 Lindell boulevard. The show, which will last three weeks, is the first of two sections of an exhibition by the Society of Independent Artists of St. Louis.

Bessie Copp Lotshaw is represented by a cubist abstraction that is a departure from her earlier work, and Fred J. Carpenter by "Man and Woman," a low relief with elaborate, if obscure, symbolism. In Albert Aloe's impressionistic "Shepherd Boy," the influence of Carl Holty, Aloe's former teacher, is evident but recessive.

Others taking part, mostly competent realists, are Lillian V. Beck, Elizabeth Ann Cavanaugh, Leona Chappel, Mary A. Doyel, Nelle Duncan, Margaret B. Geddis, Emilie M. Gross, Leland E. Hammel, Alice Harper, Marion Imbs, Helen Koch, Rick Koesterer, Laura LeMoine, Geneva Patterson, Hazel S. Pearson, Marjorie Thul Steinmeyer and Lillian Thoele. H.D.

Raschi Still Off Beam But Relief Pitching Cheers Stanky

BETWEEN ROUNDS

By W. J. McGoogan

Johnny Lombardo Cynical Young Man.

HANDSOME Ralph Gonzales, whose ring name is Johnny Lombardo, is not yet 26 years of age but he's more cynical about his profession than many a beat-up veteran of twice his years.

A native of Mount Carmel, Pa., Johnny looks out of a pair of dark brown eyes at a world which he, apparently, has not found too friendly.

He has been boxing for six years and in 48 bouts has won 32, 17 by knockouts, 15 on decision. He lost 11 decisions, drew three times and was stopped twice, once by Sammy Giuliani in four rounds, Sept. 12, 1952, and by Gil Turner in seven, May 11, 1953.

Johnny's most recent match with Ray Robinson, former welterweight and middleweight champion of the world, he lost in 10 rounds at Cincinnati. It was a split decision, 2 to 1, for Robinson who weighed 162 pounds to 153 for Lombardo.

In conversation here yesterday, Johnny said that Robinson seemed to him to be improving; that he can still hit hard and while he is not so fast as he used to be, appears capable of regaining enough of his old-time form to be a threat to the top middleweights.

The talk turned on Lombardo, and when he saw the record book, showing the results of his matches, he spoke up:

"You can't pay too much attention to those records. You'll find a lot of decisions against me, but I won most of them," he said. "I won the fight with Robinson," he went on, displaying a Cincinnati newspaper with a story of the bout stating that there was considerable booing in the building when the announcement of the decisions for Robinson was announced.

"I had two fights with Rocky Castellani, lost both of them, according to the records but I won them both," he continued with some bitterness in his voice.

"But they gave the decision against me. And there were other fights the same way. I had 'em won big with everybody but the officials."

Well, now, how would Johnny go about improving the handing down of decision in boxing matches?

"Keep the judges from being bought off," he answered without hesitation.

Did he think that was done in some places?

"I know it's done all over," he said with a tone of finality.

No Proof, but Sure Decisions Are Rigged.

DID he have anything in the way of proof?

"No, I haven't," he answered "and probably couldn't prove it but I know it's true and they're always rigged against me."

He was assured that we have competent and honest judges in this city, where he is to take on Phil Kim of Honolulu at The Auditorium, Thursday night.

"Oh, you have?" he came back with a look close to unbelief in his eyes, "well, I've heard that story everywhere I went."

He was told that there was no way to know which way the decision would go, but it was a safe bet, that there could be no honest complaint about the decision.

"If everybody in the house agrees with me, except the two officials, would that be proof enough?" he asked.

You had to agree that it would be, and went on to tell Johnny that the best way to settle such arguments would be to score a knockout. With that he agreed.

In Kim, Lombardo will be meeting a somewhat older boy, as Phil was 29 last January. He has been boxing since 1947. In 48 matches he won 36, 26 by knockouts, won 10 decisions, dropped five decisions, fought three draws and was stopped four times, by Art Aragon in nine rounds, Arthur Persley in seven, Carmine Fiore in nine and Frankie Fernandez in five.

Like Lombardo, Kim started his career with a string of 12 straight victories before he was held to a draw and went on smoothly until 1952 when he was stopped the first time by Aragon.

Kim Knocked Out Akins at Chicago.

HE recovered from that setback and went on to score five knockouts in his next six bouts, including one in 10 rounds over Virgil Akins, St. Louis, in the tenth round in Chicago. Then he was knocked out again, this time by Arthur Persley in Chicago. He boxed Ralph Dupas to an eight-round draw in New Orleans but was stopped by Carmine Fiore at Washington in nine rounds.

And in 1954 his only bout of record was another K.O. at the hands of Fernandez in five rounds at Honolulu.

Lombardo has claimed that one of the reasons that his record is not better than it is, is that he has boxed too many middleweights to whom he had to give away too much weight.

In Kim, he'll probably have a slight edge in weight and perhaps he will be able to settle the result with his own fists instead of leaving it to the officials.

Bears Play Concordia.

Coach Irv Utz will send his Washington U. nine against Concordia Seminary in a baseball game today on the Preachers' diamond. The Bears, who have a 6-3 record, meet Drake U. in single games here Friday and Saturday.

Cincinnati Routs Vic In Second

By Bob Broeg

The Cardinals today were poised at .500, the takeoff point to somewhere and also brink of nowhere in baseball, and members of the high command said they would be satisfied if the youthful Redbirds still were a break-even ball club by June 1.

As the team prepared to leave after tonight's Cincinnati game for the test of a first trip around the National League, General Manager Dick Meyer estimated six weeks of unsettled play.

"It's a young club and especially a young pitching staff," said Meyer, hopefully and even cheerfully.

Vice President Bill Walsingham brought up the June 1 date.

"I'll be satisfied if we're .500 by then because of the natural mistakes and adjustments you've got to expect from young players," Walsingham said. "If we're .500 going into June, we'll really have a chance from then on."

Four Runs Off Raschi.

Manager Eddie Stanky, who needed only a curved stem on his pipe to impersonate a smug Sherlock Holmes in meditation, puffed with a reasonable facsimile of contentment in his Busch Stadium clubhouse after a 7-4 loss to Cincinnati and nodded at the gold braid's optimism.

"The way our club hits, I'd just like to be able to figure all season on the relief pitching we're starting to get, the kind we had tonight," Stanky said.

The bullpen contributed seven innings of three-run ball after 36-year-old Vic Raschi, apparently eager to find how his ailing back would fare, started and was pounded for six hits and four runs. Raschi said later he had suffered no physical discomfort, but his pride must have been bruised by Redleg bats.

Stanky reeled off the names of Paul LaPalme, Herb Moford and Bob Tiefenauer, last night's second-line trio, and Frank Smith and Barney Schultz as a medley relay of relievers who had impressed him. Moford was the best last night, mowing down the six Redlegs he faced.

When Raschi will start again is a question, one to be answered later. At the moment Stanky is feeling his way, trying to meet the difficult dual requirements of winning ball games and working untested pitchers. Because spring training isn't actually over—for instance, Brooks Lawrence has needed three appearances in five playing dates to try to sharpen his control and Raschi reported himself ready more quickly than was expected—the tryouts have had to suffer.

Wooldridge Yet to Start.

Floyd Wooldridge, who ranked with Larry Jackson as the best starting prospect in the opinion of Stanky and his coaches, hasn't appeared and won't now until at least next week. Jack Faszholz hasn't seen service, either, but because there is a shortage of lefthanded pitching on the staff, Luis Arroyo will get a starting shot tomorrow at Cincinnati.

"I've got to bring Harvey Haddix back tomorrow," Stanky said, meaning tonight's final here with Cincy, "because he's No. 1. If he didn't work here and we happened to get rained out Wednesday, he couldn't work again until Friday."

Tentatively, after Haddix and Arroyo at Cincinnati, it'll be Lawrence, Jackson and Haddix in that order over the weekend at Milwaukee. And that leaves Gordon Jones and Tom Poholsky — as well as Wooldridge — looking for work.

Jacobs Sent to Rochester.

The maddening spring pitching situation was eased a bit by the release to Rochester of little Tony Jacobs, leaving the Cardinals with 14 hurlers on a 29-man roster, which includes two catchers, eight infielders and five outfielders.

Actually there are only four outfielders, counting Stan Musial as an infielder, because Bill Virdon, bothered by a throat infection, isn't able-bodied and won't be with the Cardinals at the start of their trip. His talented glove again was missed last night. The wind shifted once more and, blowing out, appeared to handicap both Wally Moon and Harry Elliott.

It didn't disturb another Redbird outfielder, certainly not the hitting of Rip Repulski, who ripped three singles and his second 1955 homer as the Cards collected 10 hits off Lefty Joe Nuxhall and Righthander Rudy Minarcin.

The Redlegs delivered only nine blows, but they bunched five to rout Raschi in the second. Thereafter Gus Bell solved Southpaw LaPalme for two timely hits that put additional Cincinnati tallies on the scoreboard.

If All Finished, They'd Total 4160 Miles--- Plus

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

A total of 160 runners started in the Boston Marathon—26-mile, 385-yard jaunt. If all finished, they would cover 4160 miles, plus that extra 385 yards for each man. A chill rain and wind kept the competitors from becoming too warm. The event was won by the Japanese Hideo Hamamaura in the record time of 21:18,22.

Tebbetts, Too, Has Hill Problem

George (Birdie) Tebbetts, first-rate catcher and bench jockey, more recently insurance man and baseball manager, moved into Busch Stadium a reasonably blithe spirit. The cat, it developed, hadn't got the New England orator's tongue during loss off five of his first six games.

"We won the sixth," said Tebbetts (the seventh was to be a victory, too), "and we'd have taken others with a hit, just one, mind you."

The Cincinnati skipper agreed that pitching was his biggest problem, as well as Eddie Stanky's. That's why, when asked about the National League race, he spoke so glowingly of Milwaukee, deep in pitching.

"It's hard to think of anyone pulling away from the Braves . . . or Brooklyn," Tebbetts said. "There ought to be a real scramble for third place. Your club (the Cardinals) has got a world of talent."

Birdie explained that he was playing rookie Glen Gorbous, drafted from Brooklyn's Fort Worth farm club, because slugging Jim Greengrass, his Joe Palooka left fielder, owned only one hit in 18 trips. Gorbous hit two doubles in the Redlegs' 7-4 victory over the Redbirds.

"Greengrass will be back in there," said Tebbetts, "but he started slowly last year, too, and I didn't take him out. I think he tried so hard then he needed longer to come around than I hope he'll take this time.

Tebbetts gloated over the home runs his muscle man, Ted Kluszewski, could hit "with one hand" into the screenless right field pavilion here, but recalled that a former Detroit teammate, Charley Gehringer, the great second baseman, would have profited most. "He hit that screen with line drives three times a day," Birdie exaggerated, adding with a straight face.

"And even though I hit right-handed, I could hit homers if there hadn't been a screen. That way, instead of 38 in 14 years, I'd have wound up with . . .40!"

Valentine for Reds Tonight.

Pitching opponent of the Cardinals' Harvey (1-0) Haddix in tonight's final game of the home stand at 8 o'clock probably will be Corky Valentine, young Cincinnati righthander who had a 12-11 record as a rookie last year.

Ray Jablonski, hard-hitting as a third baseman with the Cardinals, has started off slowly at bat as a Redleg, though he did belt two homers Sunday. Jabbo struck out in two of three trips before Rocky Bridges replaced him for defensive purposes in the sixth inning last night.

Wally Moon, though troubled by center-field winds, did turn in a somersaulting catch of Johnny Temple's line drive to open the game. In the second he couldn't hold Ed Bailey's tremendous drive to center for a triple. Singles by Wally Post and Joe Nuxhall and a double by Gorbous routed Vic Raschi. Gus Bell singled in the fourth run before Paul LaPalme could retire the side.

Alex Grammas, hitless in 14 official trips this season, broke out with a two-run double in the second inning.

It Wasn't Del's Night.

Del Rice had a rugged night. The 10-year catcher, a master with the mitt, was charged with a passed ball, threw low to permit a stealing runner to take an extra base, dropped a difficult throw at the plate for a second error — and was plunked time and again on his arms by knucklers thrown by LaPalme and Bobby Tiefenauer. The wind blowing toward the mound offered resistance that made the non-spinning knuckle ball dance like a dervish.

Righthander Rudy Minarcin, replacing Nuxhall in the eighth with two on and two out, stopped hitless Harry Elliott on a tap to the box. An 8110 crowd was excited again in the ninth in a similar situation, but Moon's hard drive went directly to Gorbous in left center.

Lon Warneke, plate umpire, called a balk on Minarcin in the ninth, unaware the Redleg pitcher was off the rubber when he faked a throw to first base. Warneke permitted himself to be overruled by his colleagues after Tebbetts squawked, but not before he gave Birdie the heavo-ho. —B.B.

N.B.A. Club Owner to Come Here for Talk

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 19 (UP)—Milwaukee Hawks Owner Ben Kerner said today he would go to St. Louis Friday to talk to a civic group about moving the Hawks there.

Kerner said he had not definitely decided on St. Louis as the new home of the National Basketball Association team but he favored it over other sites.

"Several other cities want to buy the franchise or have me move to them," Kerner said. "I prefer St. Louis because it wouldn't change the alignment of the league and that is a major league town."

Kerner said he believed the league owners would be more apt to approve a franchise shift to St. Louis because it is a major league city.

He expressed reluctance at leaving Milwaukee, home of the Hawks the last four years, but said it was impossible to get favorable arena dates because of commitments to other type promotions.

"They've got auto shows, conventions and every other type thing lined up in our most advantageous playing time," he said. "The only way I could play there would be to have a split schedule—half the games at the beginning of the season and the other half at the end."

Ashburn Reinjures Knee; Lost To Phils for Indefinite Period

PHILADELPHIA, April 19 (AP)—Centerfielder Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies, bothered with a leg injury since the baseball season began, re-injured the leg in a pre-game warm-up last night and collapsed in the clubhouse.

Ashburn, who had a consecutive game streak of 731 going before the current season started, will be lost to the team for an indefinite period. He was taken to Temple University hospital.

The outfielder had taken batting practice just before the Phils - Brooklyn Dodgers game when he abruptly limped into trainer Frank Wiechec's room and said his knee had become very painful.

When treatment failed to relieve the pain, Wiechec called in Dr. Thomas McTear, the club physician, who gave Ashburn a sedative. The ball player then was sent to the hospital.

Ashburn first injured his knee in a collision with Del Ennis at Wilmington, Del., April 8, in an exhibition game. Richie made his first and only appearance against the New York Giants Saturday and had one hit in five attempts. He limped badly then.

Doctors said they will have to await a complete examination before reporting the full extent of his present injury.

Japanese Victor Betters Boston Marathon Mark

BOSTON, April 19 (AP)—Hideo Hamamura, a 26-year-old law student from Japan, today won the fifty-ninth annual Boston A.A. marathon in the record time of 2:18.22, cutting 29 seconds off the course mark set by fellow countryman Keizo Yamada in 1953.

Hamamura crossed the finish line in the 26 miles, 385-yard grind from rural Hopkington to downtown Boston, some 200 yards ahead of Finland's Eino Pulkkinen. The Finn's clocking was 2:19:23.

In third place was the United States's top hope for victory, Nick Costes, a Natick (Mass.) schoolteacher who comes from Farrell, Pa. His time was 2:19:57.

Fourth was Finland's Paavo Kotila, then came the top-heavy pre-race favorite, Argentina's Reinaldo Gorno. Gustaf Jansson of Sweden was sixth, Yoshitaka Uchikawa of Japan, seventh and Sadaaki Tanabe, also of Japan, eighth.

The triumph of Hamamura maintained the recent victory monopoly of foreign runners in the race. The last American to win was John A. Kelley, the now 47-year-old veteran from nearby Arlington, who led the field home in 1945.

Les Paton of the St. Louis North Side Y.M.C.A. was among the entrants.

Karsten Against Change in Bird Refuge Buying

By a Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 19—Representative Frank M. Karsten (Dem.), St. Louis, will try to block a proposed change in the way the Government buys land for migratory bird refuges, he said today.

Under the proposal, by Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay, the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission would give advance blanket approval for each proposed refuge. Under present procedure, the commission must approve the purchase of each individual tract comprising the refuge. These may be acquired over a period of many years.

"This would be much too great a grant of power," Karsten said in an interview. "I am amazed that the Secretary of the Interior would suggest such a thing. If the commission agreed to it, we would be giving up an important part of our trusteeship."

McKay, chairman of the commission, has asked for a decision at the body's next meeting, May 3. Karsten is a member of the seven-man group.

About $1,000,000 a year is spent for new bird refuge tracts under the Fish and Wildlife Service's land purchase program, he explained. The money comes from the sale of duck stamps to hunters.

Karsten expressed concern over the prices sometimes paid for this land, which is generally along streams and often is flooded. He said he felt the commission should scrutinize purchases carefully, especially when prices rise higher than $100 an acre.

The largest purchase now pending before the commission is a 970-acre tract in Texas, to be added to the Laguna Atascosa National Wildlife Refuge. It has been held up pending further study, Karsten said. The recommended price is $87 an acre, or $84,386 for the tract.

In a letter supporting the proposed changes, McKay said they would permit options for shorter terms and lead to "better public relations" and "reduction in the costs of activities incident to land acquisition."

Other members of the commission are Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, Senator A. Willis Robertson (Dem.), Virginia; Senator John W. Bricker (Rep.), Ohio, and Representative August H. Andresen (Rep.), Minnesota.

The event, to be concluded next Sunday night, has attracted 170 couples, 90 of whom have already bowled. Second in the standing are Ray and Frieda Grosswiler, with 1182, and third are C. B. and Marcella Cordes with 1180.

Champion Webster Triumphs

By John J. Archibald

Froebel Gaines, who is fairly certain of top quality at eight other positions on his Webster Groves team, made a move to strengthen his somewhat uncertain pitching staff yesterday when he made a starting pitcher out of first baseman Jerry Wolff. The Webster artillery took much of the risk out of the venture when it knocked in nine runs in the first inning to sew up the Suburban League game with Kirkwood, and after that it was just a case of studying Wolff in action.

Wolff, whose previous pitching consisted of a few brief appearances with the Maplewood Legion club, gave indication of eventually being the man Webster will need. His curve didn't often break as well as in practice and as in his Legion work, but the big lefthander had enough stuff to puzzle Kirkwood most of the time.

In the five and two-thirds innings Wolff pitched, he allowed six hits, three earned runs and two unearned, struck out eight and walked five. Two of the walks came in the sixth inning, after an infield error had prevented a third out. Gaines removed Wolff at that stage and inserted a sophomore, Blake Reed.

A hit batsman and another error permitted the two runs to score, but Reed was impressive as he got the side out 1-2-3 in the seventh. Webster won, 12-5, making the Statesmen's League record 1 and 1. They are defending champions.

Leaders Gain Victories.

Charley James, Hank Kuhlmann, Dick Hopkins and Marshall Whitecotton led the Webster attack. James cracked two triples, including one with the bases loaded in the first inning. Whitecotton and Kuhlmann each had a double and a single, and Hopkins's two singles in four times up gave him a four-game mark of 7 out of 11.

Ferguson and St. Charles both won, making their league leading records each 4 and 0. Ferguson defeated Brentwood, 5-1, as Tom Hamlin got three hits for the winners. St. Charles defeated Maplewood, 4-3, on a successful squeezed bunt by Gordon Prinster in the last of the seventh.

Normandy topped Clayton, 14-13, in eight innings. Steve Lewis batted in the winning run with his fourth hit of the game. Outfielder Tom Cooper also had four safeties, as Normandy outhit Clayton, 18 to 13. University City defeated Wellston, 6-3.

Lindsey Stops Alton.

Lindsey, who less than two months ago was accidentally shot in the face, showed no effects of the wound. He pitched out of his toughest spot in the fifth when Alton's Jim Leavell led off with a triple. Lindsey then struck out the next two batters and got the third to pop up.

Belleville Township High, the defending state champions of Illinois, scored a 6-5 victory over St. Mary's. It gave Belleville a 3-0 record for the season.

Notre Dame Welcome for Junior Bill

—By a Post-Dispatch Photographer.

PETER W. (PETE) SALSICH Jr., is congratulated by Notre Dame Football Coach TERRY BRENNAN as the 17-year-old St. Louis U. High student is awarded a full scholarship to Notre Dame. GEORGE J. CONVY, president of the Notre Dame Club, giver of the award, looks on. Pete is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter W. S. Salsich, Sr., 633 Fairview, Webster Groves.

Young Brennan Proves Old Hand, Well Shaken, Makes Irish Friends

By Jack Rice

He looked like the editor of the student newspaper, come to interview the football coach, and his name was Terry Brennan. He was the main speaker last night at the local Notre Dame Club, a group prepared to love him if he sang "Hail, Purdue." Affection was put to no such strain. Liking the man came naturally.

Brennan is head football coach at Notre Dame and he is 28, which enables him to escape, barely, the "boy wonder" label. There were more than 300 men in the ballroom at the Sheraton Hotel, and half of them were old enough to be his father. He spoke to them all with respect and authority, and spoke little as a football coach.

His remarks in the main were on a closed circuit. The dinner was part of "Universal Notre Dame night." At 144 other places, Notre Dame graduates were assembled to tell one another how great it had been, is and will be. They are believers already, and Brennan didn't have to preach.

Eight Starters Starting Out.

He spoke of the need of private educational institutions as well as state-supported ones, and the grandeur of their university, on the spiritual, educational and Knute Rockne levels. He remarked that Notre Dame football will graduate eight starters, but did it calmly, as if aware that nobody is going to panic because Notre Dame loses eight starters. It doesn't get serious to anyone except the coach until they lose 22 starters.

He entered the door and began proving immediately that he has what it takes to be a successful football coach from December through August, a stout right hand in addition to a stout last-year's record. He shook hands and neither the grip nor the grin ever became automatic.

"Yes," Carl Snavely had answered a man with a trace of amusement, "I've met Terry, at a coaches' meeting. He's a fine boy."

Across the room, the fine boy saw Snavely, and with escort in tow, came to the older man. "Frank (Leahy) talks about you," said Brennan to Snavely. "He says you gave him his start."

Snavely smiled. "That's what Frank says," the Washington U. coach said, half dismissing himself.

"It's true, I'm sure," said Brennan. If the sincere compliment makes a comeback in sports, he may be the man to coach it.

He was the prize catch of the "Universal Notre Dame night," and local alumni realized it well. Brennan didn't seem to realize it at all. "I think this program we have helped us get him," a man said.

Scholarship to Salsich.

"This program" is a full scholarship. It is raised from the proceeds of the Notre Dame club's annual trip to a college football game, of which 10 were played last year. They saw the one with Michigan. From some 30 youths screened, Pete Salsich of St. Louis University High School was awarded the scholarship.

Salsich is "a straight-A student," an alumnus said. He has had four years of Latin and three of football and if the center of the United States is South Bend, Ind., a weakness in geography is to be congratulated. He didn't go to the main table to speak to Brennan at banquet's-end. That was a route for linemen, not halfbacks. Brennan moved out easily, never looking to see how long the line stretched back, and gaining on the door in easy, graceful stages.

"The toughest game Notre Dame ever played . . .", a man was saying. "I've made quite a few appearances this winter," Brennan said. "But I don't think I'll do it as much next year."

"The toughest game Notre Dame ever played,'" the man said again, "was in 1948 when Terry Brennan . . .". Terry Brennan turned away, as if he had just become aware which way it was to the exit.

Boxing Card Friday At Fenton Legion Hall

There will be a 14-bout amateur boxing card at the American Legion hall in Fenton Friday at 8:30 p.m.

A pair of light-heavyweight matches will head the program. Roamy Wallach, D.A.A.C., will meet Allen Owens, Douglas A.C., and Ken Gerdner, D.A.A.C., will face Wardell Masses, Bangert A.C. In a welterweight bout, Vernon Crenshaw, Bangert A.C., will oppose Rich Munzslinger, D.A.A.C.

Poirer, Savage Gain Victories

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP)—The name is Gene Poirer and mark it down if you're a fight fan. You're going to hear a lot more about this 23-year-old ex-platoon sergeant from Niagara Falls, N. Y.

The angular-faced Korean war vet faintly resembles Tony Zale facially and he hits hard like the old middleweight champion. For two rounds against Johnny Busso last night Gene showed a pretty good left. Then early in the third he exploded an overhand right against the 20-year-old New Yorker's jaw and that was that at 1:16.

Busso went down on his seat. At five he staggered to his feet. Referee Mark Conn rubbed his gloves and gave him the mandatory eight count. Then Busso's mouthpiece fell out as he wobbled hands down, to Poirer who was waiting in a neutral corner.

It was Poirer's sixth straight victory debut on a television network. The bout—a pick 'em affair in the betting—drew 2415 fans and grossed $5500.

Milo Savage, a non-stop puncher from Salt Lake City, finished strong to win a unanimous 10-round decision over Chicago's Bobby Boyd in another network television bout at St. Nicholas Arena. Milo, a 3-2 favorite, laid on with the rights to sweep the last three rounds.

The votes for Savage were Judge Dave Stewart 7-3, Referee Harry Ebbetts 6-3-1, and Judge Artie Schwartz 5-4-1. The AP card had it 7-3 for Savage. Savage weighed 159½, Boyd 157¼. There were no knockdowns, but Boyd took a terrific pounding in the eighth.

Vern Stephens Draws Release From Orioles

BALTIMORE, Md., April 19 (UP)—Vern Stephens, once a slugger who terrorized American League pitchers, scanned the baseball "help wanted" ads today, hoping to pick up a job as a pinch-hitter or utility infielder.

The 34-year-old veteran of 15 seasons in the majors drew his unconditonal release from the Baltimore Orioles last night after Manager Paul Richards decided that his ailing legs would not stand up for another campaign.

It was not always that way with Stephens, although in recent years he has been out of action much of the time because of muscular trouble which gave him severe charley horses.

This season he had been in only three games and had picked up one hit in six times at bat. He played one full game at third base, part of another game there and fouled out once as a pinch-hitter.

Stephens, who is convinced he can help any major league club on part-time duty, departed with a lifetime average of .287 and a total of 244 homers, including his all-time high of 39 with the Boston Red Sox in 1950.

Rookie Second Baseman Don Leppert has been optioned to Charleston in the American Association on 24-hour recall by the Orioles.

Mahlon Wallace Dog Qualifies for National

A second-place in the trials at Lincoln, Neb., last weekend gave Beau of the Lark, a yellow Labrador, sufficient points to qualify for the national retriever trials on the West Coast in November. The dog was purchased in March by Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon B. Wallace Jr.

Beau of the Lark gained other points with a third in the Ohio Valley trials and a first in a Kansas City trial earlier this month.

Acropolis Favored.

LONDON, April 19 (AP) — Acropolis, three-year-old owned by Alice Lady Derby, was installed the 6-1 favorite for the ancient Epsom Derby in the latest callover by London's bookmakers. Queen Elizabeth's Alexander, which came into the picture when he won Kempton's 2000 Guineas Trial Stakes, was rated at 100-6.

Manager Fined Before League Season Begins

ABILENE, Tex., April 19 (UP)

MANAGER GROVER SEITZ of the Pampa (Tex.) Oilers, always a stormy figure in the West Texas-New Mexico League, was fined $10 yesterday — two days before the baseball season opens.

League President Hal Sayles fined Seitz $10 for language directed at an umpire during an exhibition game at Clovis, N.M.

U.S.L.T.A. Sets Championships For Sept. 2-11

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP)—The U.S. Lawn Tennis Association, in a tally of proxy ballots, upset an earlier maneuver by California-led delegates and voted unanimously today to hold the U.S. tennis championships at Forest Hills from Sept. 2-11.

A total of 66,600 votes from member clubs and sections was cast, all for an amendment which had the blessing of U.S. L.T.A. officials.

Western delegates, armed with a surprising number of votes at the annual January convention, forced the association to schedule the tournament from Aug. 29-Sept. 5. Those dates would free "name" players a week early to head for western tournaments.

But several groups, including Davis Cup officials, protested bitterly because the Davis Cup challenge round had been scheduled from Aug. 26-28 and leading players from the contending nations would have to go into the national tournament with no rest.

Georgia Tech, Miami Game to Begin Grid TV

NEW YORK, April 19 (UP)—An eight-game schedule of nationally-televised college football games for the coming fall, including the Army-Navy classic on Nov. 26, was announced today by the National Broadcasting Co.

In addition, the college gridiron TV program drawn up by the National Collegiate Athletic Association calls for five other football dates on which different games will be telecast in different areas.

This setup for football television was devised by the N.C.A.A.'s television committee and approved by the N.C.A.A. member colleges in a mail vote.

The schedule represents a compromise between those members who wanted a continuation of last year's setup, under which only one game per week could be televised, and those members who demanded more liberal telecasting of nationally-televised games.

The series will be carried by Post-Dispatch Station KSD-TV.

Sept. 17—Miami at Georgia Tech.

Oct. 1—Ohio State at Stanford.

Oct. 15—Notre Dame at Michigan State.

Oct. 29—Iowa at Michigan.

Nov. 19—U.C.L.A. at Southern California.

Nov. 24 (Thanksgiving day)—Texas at Texas A. and M.

Nov. 26—Army vs. Navy at Philadelphia.

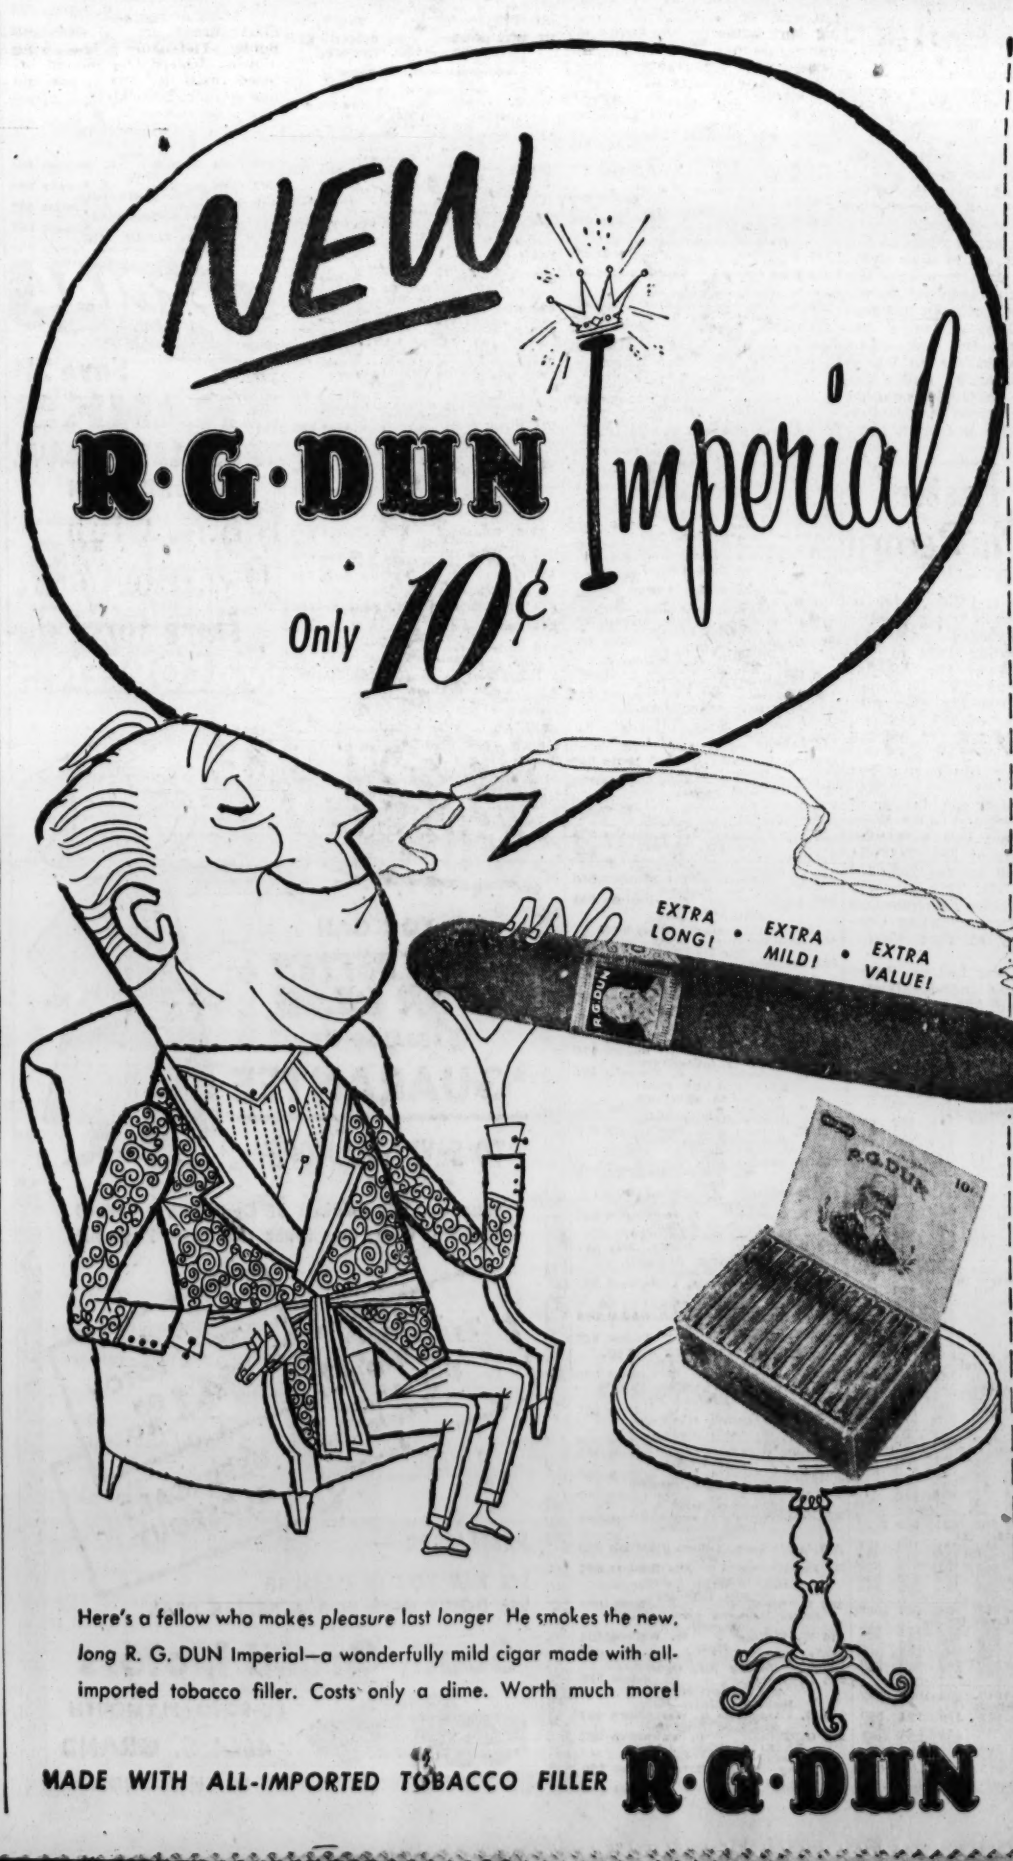

Dec. 3—North Carolina at Duke.

The dates on which regional telecasting will occur are Sept. 24, Oct. 8, Oct. 22, Nov. 5 and Nov. 12.

American Triumphs.

CHINGFORD, England, April 19 (AP) — Pablo Eisenberg of Maplewood, N.J., coasted to a 6-1, 6-2 victory over Harry Storer of England in the first round of the Connaught Club hard courts tennis tournament. Sven Davidson, Sweden's Davis Cup star, who is seeded No. 1, had a first-round bye.

Ford Off to Fast Start With Victories in His First Two Games

Southpaw Has Given One Tally

NEW YORK, April 19 (UP)—Lefty Whitey Ford of the Yankees vowed that this was the season he would get off to a fast start in the spring and go on to win 20 games for the first time in his big league career.

Today, the 26-year-old blond pitching star from Glen Cove, N.Y., has won two games in which he has given up a total of five hits and one run. If he keeps pitching that way, he'll reach that 20 victory goal easily and become the new ace of the Yankee staff in the bargain.

Last night, hot-rod Ford mowed down the Orioles in Baltimore, 6-0, with just three hits, all singles and all in different innings. Mickey Mantle hit a two-run homer and Irv Noren drilled a double and single good for three runs to make Ford's task easier. In his first start against Washington, he held the Senators to two hits.

Athletics Blow Big Lead.

At Kansas City, the Athletics took an 8-0 lead, then blew an 11-9 decision to the Indians when Larry Doby hit a three-run homer with two out in the ninth. The Athletics hit five homers, by Jim Finigan, Gus Zernial, Bill Wilson, Vic Power, and Bill Renna but their pitchers failed to hold the early margin and Ewell Blackwell served up the fatal toss to Doby which sent an overflow crowd of 31,563 home full of dismay after Kansas City's first night game.

In the National League, the unbeaten Brooklyn Dodgers made it seven victories in a row with a 5-2 triumph at Philadelphia, Cincinnati drubbed the Cardinals, 7-4, the Giants poured it on Pittsburgh 12-3, and Milwaukee edged the Cubs, 2-1. Other American League teams had open dates.

Duke Snider hit a three-run homer high over the right field wall and winning pitcher Carl Erskine kicked in with a two-run single for the Dodgers. They scored all their runs in a big sixth inning, but Erskine still had to have relief help when his control lapsed in the same frame. Rookie Ed Roebuck pitched hitless ball the rest of the way.

Mathews Drives in Pair.

Milwaukee came from behind to defeat Chicago when Eddie Mathews hit a two-run double in the eighth inning after a walk to Chuck Tanner and a single by Hank Aaron. Bob Buhl, who gave up only five hits before yielding to a pinch-hitter in the eighth gained the victory, his first.

The Giants pummeled the Pirates with the same glee as all other clubs have hammered them so far, putting over eight runs in a riotous fourth inning. The world champs made 15 hits in all coming out of their slump against the Bucs who have lost six games and have yet to win one. Whitey Lockman had four hits including a double and homer to set the pace. Don Liddle, touched for an inside-the-park homer by rookie Roberto Clemente, yielded no other runs until he tired in the ninth and required relief from Marv Grissom.

Ziern, Easter Set Pin Record

Art Ziern and Ed Easter of the Griesediecks established a new national record for the doubles, by bowling 1483 in last night's round of the All-Star Doubles League at Floriss Lanes. Easter was the big star with 766 on games of 268, 276 and 222. Ziern had 236, 233 and 248 for 717. The previous high was 1480 by Ray Bluth and Pat Patterson.

The Budweiser combination of Don McClaren and Billy Welu hit 1469. Welu was tops with 768 on counts of 279, 233 and 256. McClaren bowled 258, 224 and 219 for 701. This pair will defend its doubles championship in the American Bowling Congress tourney at Fort Wayne, April 25.

In the All-Star League, Roger Gray was the individual star with 279 and 732, while McClaren finished with 706.

Jockey Hartack Rides 5 Straight Laurels Winners

LAUREL, Md., April 19 (UP)—Willie Hartack turned in a near-record riding performance yesterday at Laurel when he won the first five races on the opening program and then finished second in the sixth and seventh events.

If the Johnstown, Pa., youth had swept seven races he would have equaled the world's record set by Albert Whittaker of New Zealand in 1910.

Numerous riders have won six races in one day, including Charlie Burr, the 1951 national champion, who had six-for-six at Gulfstream Park four years ago.

Hartack started his spree with Driving at $6.20 for $2 in the opening race. He then clicked with American Pluck ($21.20), Top Mark ($12.60), Our Danse ($8.20) and Zuyder Zee ($4.40) in successive races.

In the sixth race, the 21-year-old youth finished second with Impromptu and was second again with I Appeal in the Capitol Handicap. First Served, ridden by Tony Despirito, scored a mild upset in the feature and paid $8.80 to win.

ALBANY, Calif., April 19 (UP)—It was Ray York day at Golden Gate Fields yesterday as the veteran saddleman won four out of the five races he started.

York won the first, second and third races on Extraction, Top Performer and My Ring, bringing in a $14.10 daily double for the first two.

He skipped the fourth and fifth and then galloped home again aboard Chayotero in the sixth. His perfect record was spoiled in the eighth when his mount, Halrack, chugged in last.

Announcing — America's newest, lowest, smartest 4-door Sedan

Newest model in Mercury's Montclair Series lets you enjoy "hardtop" beauty with 4-door convenience

It's the newest Mercury of them all—the Montclair 4-door Sedan, and the photograph shows you that not one bit of the original Montclair hardtop beauty has been lost. It has the same fleet look of motion and dramatic lowness—only 58¾ inches from road to roof.

And see how convenient it is to get in and out. Everyone who admires hardtop styling, but wants the roominess and convenience of a 4-door model, can now eat his cake, and have it too!

198-HP SUPER-TORQUE V-8 WITH DUAL EXHAUSTS

Seldom has an engine caused as much enthusiastic comment from auto editors. And once you drive a Montclair, you'll see why. It gives you instant, on-the-spot pickup at every speed—from zero to super-highway limits. A four-barrel carburetor, unique new high-compression spark plugs, and dual exhausts are yours at no extra cost. Features like these are usually extra on medium-priced cars.

EXCLUSIVE NEW POWER LUBRICATION GIVES MERCURY WIDEST CHOICE OF POWER FEATURES

The Mercury Montclair offers a new optional power feature—power lubrication. And it's exclusive with Mercury in the medium-price field. You push a button on the dashboard and vital parts of your car are automatically lubricated. You can also choose optional power steering, power windows, power brakes, 4-way power seat and Merc-O-Matic Drive.

Why not come in and see this newest Mercury? It costs a lot less than you think. And—remember this, right now your present car is worth a lot more than you might think on a trade-in at your Mercury dealer's.

Borghi on Kutis Squad for Game With Nuernberg

By Dent McSkimming

With Bob Burkard still nursing an injured knee, the Kutis soccer club has borrowed Frank Borghi as a reinforcement for the match with Nuernberg (Germany) team here Thursday, May 5. Borghi is not eligible for the Simpkins' national Amateur cup match against the Eagles at Chicago, Sunday, and will thus be available to work out with Kutis.

At Chicago, Jack Menke will tend goal for Simpkins. Although he lacks Borghi's experience, his judgment has been very good and he lacks nothing in size and agility.

Whether the Kutis management invites other players to join its squad for the Neurnberg game depends entirely on how the regular players shape up in training. Three practice sessions were scheduled this week at Oakland Stadium.

Special attention is being given to physical conditioning for this match. Coach Oscar Mossmann and Manager Nick Jost know that none but the fastest players have a chance to throw the Germans' clever short passing game out of kilter. Experience has taught the St. Louisans that the heavy-footed defense man is a liability when he faces the crafty ball handlers found among the better European teams. Fullbacks easily feinted into diving the wrong way can lose such a game.

An unexpected bit of good luck befell Kutis when Tom Julius returned to St. Louis from his baseball training camp. . . . "Just didn't like it," was Tom's reply to queries about why he quit the professional baseball field. . . . He quickly jumped into the soccer routine and is certain to play against Neurnberg.

Most unfortunate part about Julius's abortive try at baseball is that he professionalized himself without any lasting compensation. . . . Now, he is ineligible for consideration as a United States Olympic team member. . . . His case parallels that of John Galimberti, Rich Meiseman and other good soccer players, who failed in their professional baseball experiment, thereby spoiling their amateur soccer careers. . . . Harry Desmuke, Frank Borghi, Glenn Schaefer, Bobby Kehoe and Bob Rooney are others among many.

Cockell Engages in First Public Workout

SAN RAFAEL, Calif., April 19 (UP)—British Heavyweight Champion Don Cockell held his first public workout yesterday as 2000 spectators looked on.

Cockell, preparing for his heavyweight clash with Rocky Marciano in San Francisco May 16, sparred three rounds with British heavyweight Ron Harmon.

Cockell worked again without a head guard or a mouth piece, to the chagrin of local promoters, who are afraid he will get cut. He also boxed rounds of three and one-half minutes each, with only a half-minute rest, compared with three minutes work and one minute rest used by American fighters.

Saturday will be "British Empire day" at the Cockell camp and it is expected many natives of England will be on hand for the workout.

Of All Things!

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 19—UP

MANAGER RED MARION of the Louisville Colonels called a special practice session for his pitchers at 5 p.m. yesterday for instruction in, of all things, how to walk a batter.

In Sunday's double-header with Minneapolis, Pitcher Jerry Casale accidentally got a pitch too close to the plate while trying to give Minneapolis Batter Bob Lennon an intentional pass. Lennon hit it into center field for a single that scored a run and started a game-winning rally.

Only Shell Premium with TCP gives you the full benefit of High Octane Gasoline

If it weren't for the fact that most of our driving is local driving—short-trip driving—any good high octane gasoline would do a fine job in today's more powerful engines.

But this kind of driving increases the formation of certain deposits within the combustion chambers. These deposits, if not neutralized, rob even the finest engines of a considerable amount of their power.

And high octane alone will not keep high compression engines delivering their full power. To overcome deposits, these engines need a gasoline with a special kind of additive.

Here's why:

As your engine warms up, these deposits warm up, too—glow red hot. And these glowing particles act like hot coals—ignite the gasoline mixture ahead of time . . . before the pistons reach proper firing position. This is called pre-firing and means that power works against you instead of for you.

In addition, these same deposits have another power-wasting effect: They foul spark plugs, causing your engine to miss.

Engineers will tell you there's nothing more wasteful of power and gasoline than pre-firing and spark plug "miss."

But there is an answer—there's one high octane gasoline that gives you all the advantages of high octane without the power-crippling effects of these deposits—Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP*.

TCP, the Shell-developed additive, fireproofs the deposits so that they no longer cause pre-firing. No longer can they glow red hot and ignite the gasoline mixture. And TCP stops spark plug "miss," too. Your spark plugs do the job they are supposed to do.

Start getting the full power built into your engine. Get Shell Premium with TCP. It's the most powerful gasoline your car can use!

SHELL

Only Shell Premium Gasoline has both TCP and High Octane!

*Shell's Trademark for the unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for. The above statements may also apply to other companies which produce high octane gasoline if they are licensed to use TCP.

Corn—1,045,440 bushels
Canned Asparagus—2,369,470 pounds
Fresh Oranges & Limes—18,236,727 pounds
Rice—5,709,740 pounds
Cotton—12,119,195 pounds

That's only part of the purchases! Every year, Switzerland spends about $68,000,000 for American food and agricultural products. Pays cash, too. For years, Switzerland has been America's best cash customer in Europe.

What else does this little watch buy? Name it, and the Swiss probably buy it in the United States. Machinery, medicines, chemicals. Movies, electrical appliances, airplanes. Lubricants, fuels, furs.

In the last nine years alone, Switzerland bought more than $1,500,000,000 worth of American products.

And where did the dollars to pay this huge bill actually come from? Most of these dollars came from the sale of Swiss watches and watch movements in America—a vital part of Switzerland's ability to do business in the U. S.

In return, America purchased approximately $1,000,000,000 worth of goods from Switzerland—gaining a profitable trade balance of something like $500,000,000 for its businessmen, farmers and workers. Almost 50% of America's purchases was in our watches and watch movements.

Even though every Swiss spends about $48 for American goods to the $1 every American spends for Swiss goods, this transatlantic shopping has been good for both our countries.

In Switzerland, it has kept 55,000 watchmakers on the job, has helped maintain the highest standard of living in Europe—a standard second only to your own.

In America, it has helped the American farmer, has provided jobs for millions of people in innumerable industries, has put about $32,000,000 a year into the U. S. Treasury from watch customs and tax collections.

And with the additional governmental actions facing Swiss watches, the future of reciprocal trade between the watchmakers of Switzerland and the people of America is dark.

Perhaps the light will come when men of goodwill sit down and talk it over.

For much has happened in the past to show that the interchange of goods between nations is the foundation of security for their people.

RAILS RISE, CROSSING INDUSTRIALS ON SALE

Latter Group Rallies From Profit-Taking After Nine-Straight-Day Upturn.

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP)—Strength in the railroads today helped to offset losses elsewhere in the stock market, and it managed to close mixed.

The market was lower most of the day under profit-taking, but late in the session it recovered some of the extreme declines. The Associated Press average closed up. All of push up came from the railroad component.

Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed up .3 of a point for a new record high. The rail index rose 1.5 points to best level since 1929. The industrial stock index lost .2 of a point as did the utilities.

(Dow-Jones average of 30 industrials stocks was .54 of a point lower at 427.88 at the close. The 20 rails made a new high since October, 1929 at 161.18, up 1.41 points on the day. The 15 utilities dropped .07 of a point to 65.15.)

(The United Press said: "Market news continued highly favorable. A number of annual stockholders meetings were held today and in most instances, the corporation head painted an optimistic business picture. Railroad shares met demand when the White House made public and long-delayed report on the transportation industry prepared by a cabinet committee headed by Commerce Secretary Weeks. Wall Street quarters interpreted the report as highly favorable fo rthe carriers. Senator Fulbright's speech last night in which he warned that the natio ins experiencing the beginning of excessive speculative activity, had little effect on the market.")

The market narrowed 19 issues. There were 542 losers, 447 gainers and 233 unchanged. There were 76 hew 1955 highs and 8 new lows.

Prices in key sections ranged from around 2 points higher to 3 points lower.

Trading simmered down as prices backed away and came to an aggregate 2,700,000 shares. That compares with 3,080,000 shares traded in yesterday's higher market.

International Paper reacted after its gain of 6 points yesterday, and also lower at times were Bethlehem Steel, American Telephone, Western Union, Amerada Petroleum, Kennecott Copper, Chrysler, International Harvester, Boeing, Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville, General Dynamics, and RCA.

Railroads held up well with the support of the White House report on transportation which proposes more latitude in fixing rail rates.

Aircrafts pursued an irregular course that resulted in a broad mixture of price changes.

91-DAY BILLS TO 1.664 PCT.; SIXTH WEEKLY RISE IN RATE

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP)—Prices were narrowly mixed in moderate trading on the bond market today.

United States Government obligations were steady to a trifle lower in a light turnover. Declines were held to 1-32 or 2-32 toward the final hour.

Corporaate bonds were a bit higher in the morning but took on a thoroughly mixed pattern near the close. Most changes either way were limited to minor fractions in all divisions.

An exception was the Florida East Coast 5s of 1974, up three points at one time.

Changes in the corporate list were mostly fractions. But bonds favored the plus column by a wide margin. There was selective demand for industrials and railroads. Utilities and convertible obligations were narrowly mixed.

The Treasury sold its latest 1½ billion dollars of 91-day bills yesterday at an average interest cost of 1.664 per cent. This compares with a similar sale last week at 1.652 per cent net interest. This is the sixth consecutive week that the Treasury's short-term borrowing costs have increased.

LONDON MARKET QUIET

LONDON, April 19 (AP)—The stock market stayed quiet today awaiting the national budget.

Some small buying however kept the undertone satisfactory.

Government bonds opened cautiously but later met some gains.

Foreign bonds were undecided though Japanese tended better.

WHEAT REGAINS LOSS, CLOSING IS HIGHER

CHICAGO, April 19 (AP)—Wheat futures, which made good gains yesterday, were unable to make headway today on the Board of Trade. Soybeans were off more than wheat, which was only fractionally lower most of the time. Feed grains also were lower mostly. A lessening in apprehension over the Far Eastern situation caused some selling in all pits. Causing some support in wheat, however, were reports of unfavorable southwestern weather and some export news. Less aggressive bidding for cash beans by processors caused some weakness in soybeans.

Japan, Israel and Turkey are expected to buy domestic wheat soon. Holland and Cubar have purchased small amounts of United States flour.

Wheat rallied slightly at the close to finish ⅛@⅜c higher, May $2.11¼@¼, corn was down ⅝@⅞c, oats were ½c lower to ¼c higher, rye was ¼@¾c higher, soybeans were 1¾c lower to ¼c higher, and lard was 7@15c a hundred pounds lower.

GEN. ELECTRIC EARNS MORE IN QUARTER THAN YEAR AGO

ALBANY, N.Y., April 19 (AP)—The General Electric Co. sales for the first three months totaled $765,907,000, a seven per cent gain over the figure for the corresponding period last year, Ralph J. Cordiner told more than 3000 shareowners at the company's annual meeting in the Schenectady Armory.

This year's total was within two per cent of the all-time sales record established in the first quarter of 1953.

First-quarter earnings totaled $50,569,000—five per cent greater than in the comparable 1954 period. The earnings represented 58 cents a share as against last year's 56 cents a share on first-quarter earnings of $48,029,000.

Sales of consumer products in the first quarter of 1955 showed a "substantial improvement" over the first three months of 1954, Cordiner said. He reported that sales of heavy apparatus and industrial products were "about the same" as in the corresponding 1954 period.

He said that sales of heavy apparatus and industrial products for the 1955 first quarter did not yet reflect the benefit of a substantial upsurge in orders and commitments obtained during this period.

"These new orders, enabling us to utilize fully the company's new and modern facilities, will represent profitable business," Cordiner said.

source of friction are held to be a direct result of the pretence that Communist China could be successfully invaded. America's allies feel, therefore, that they are being challenged to stand with America on the basis of a diplomatic blunder of America's own making."

Threat to Conservatives.

Mrs. Jackson points out that public opinion in the English-speaking world outside of America is strongly opposed to war over Quemoy and Matsu, and she says the risk of such a war is possibly the only issue which could turn out the Conservative party at the British election May 26 and restore the anti-American influence of Aneurin Bevan, radical Laborite.

If there is concern and uncertainty among America's allies, Mrs. Jackson continues, it can be imagined what concern there is among the uncommitted nations, especially in Asia.

The most hopeful outcome the advocates of war can put forward, Mrs. Jackson goes on, is that, barring Russian intervention, the Communist regime in China would be destroyed by massive atomic attack. Such a war would have to be "brutal and ferociously destructive," she observes, because of the great size of China.

Mrs. Jackson questions what would happen after "total victory" in such a war. Would the western powers undertake the administration and rehabilitation of 500,000,000 or more Chinese who would survive or would the power vacuum be filled by Soviet Communism?

At any rate, she says, "The rest of Asia would have rejected, decisively and finally, all links, all sympathy with the West."

In the event of a local indecisive atomic contest on the shores of China, it is "virtually certain that Asian opinion would be turned away from the Free Nations to look with new sympathy at Communism."

Mrs. Jackson asserts that colonialism still is the most vivid collective experience of Asia and that fear of its re-imposition is probably "Asia's deepest subconscious terror." She argues that America is suspected of turning to the "traditional western game" because of this country's support of the Nationalists in the Chinese civil war.

Suggested Solution.

Rather than a retreat in ignominy or a war, Mrs. Jackson suggests a third course offers "hope of substituting the isolation of Communist China for the present isolation of the United States and of fastening the label of potential aggressor where in fact it belongs—upon the Peiping regime. With skillful diplomacy the United States can mobilize the pacifism of Asia and the world's deep longing for peace behind its own proposals and leave Communist China in the exposed position of preferring immediate violence to the offer of negotiation and long-term settlement."

The first task, Mrs. Jackson continues, is to establish at once the atmosphere of negotiation. She suggests the 48 powers who signed the Japanese peace treaty be invited to a conference before the United Nations. American negotiators could there announce their readiness to submit the entire Formosa issue to peaceful settlement. This would involve recognition by the United States that the future of Formosa can legally be decided only by the U.N.

Having offered to negotiate, the Americans could place on Peiping the responsibility for war, Mrs. Jackson says, and they could make clear that if a guarantee of peaceful action were given by Peiping, the evacuation of the offshore islands would logically follow. The Americans could call on Russia to say whether it would support or restrain Peiping in the use of force, and could invite other Asian governments to associate themselves with the United States.

At the same time, Mrs. Jackson adds, the Americans could reaffirm their intention of standing by Formosa and repelling any Communist attempt to settle the issue there by force. She suggests it might be possible to station on Formosa an international contingent drawn from the armies of the nations that signed the Japanese treaty, as a symbol of this resolve.

"In any event," she writes, "if, in the face of unequivocal offers of negotiation and peaceful settlement, Communist China launches the attack, the outcome would be its complete isolation. And the United States would go into the struggle with its allies once more united behind its policies and the Asian world in no doubt that Peiping, not Washington, was the source of aggression.

"But there would be a high degree of probability that, rather than be exposed to the charge of aggression and isolated from the sympathy of peace-loving nations, the Chinese Communists would prefer to negotiate."

activities." Total cost of the new pallets, $539,696.

Unneeded Crane.

"An expensive locomotive crane is kept but used only a few hours a year. In emergencies a crane could be rented from the Chesapeake & Ohio railway and would be available on two to three hours notice." The Navy crane was used only 49 hours in two years. It cost $1030.22 to service.

A civilian cafeteria operated at Cheatham Annex owed the Government $10,723.77 for electricity, water, and other utilities. It was also found that Government employes using the cafeteria owed $4469.90.

The Navy had installed a fancy mahogany bar in the commanding officer's residence, equipped with running water, sink, and electric refrigeration. The bar cost Uncle Sam $1316.82.

The officers' mess at Cheatham Annex had a total membership of only seven officers. To accommodate them, the kitchen in the officers' mess was redecorated at a cost of $1285.89. Wood cabinets, apparently in good condition, were replaced with steel cabinets. Two new kitchen ranges were purchased, though the old ranges appear to have been in satisfactory condition.

On top of this, the officers' mess was found to owe the Government $465.59 for electricity and other utilities, plus $305 for janitor service.

"Equipment purchased for the officers' mess was charged to other activities," stated the confidential Government report.

9-Hole Golf Course.

GAO investigators were mystified over a nine-hole golf course maintained by naval officers. No records could be found explaining how the officers financed the construction of the course, yet it obviously had not been dropped by parachute.

Comdr. Nichol told the investigators that the golf course was watered with hoses, but when Government inspectors checked, they found an efficient sprinkler system had been installed, not unlike that which had been installed for President Eisenhower by friends at the Burning Tree Club at a cost of $80,000.

"Expensive storm windows and screens were purchased for married officers' quarters," stated the GAO report. "Two hundred wood frame storm windows, apparently new, were found in storage. No work request for making the storm windows was found nor could anything be learned of their intended use.

"Aluminum awnings costing $900 were purchased for the building used as bachelor officers' quarters. That building does not have aluminum awnings.

"Five electric ranges and a refrigerator, apparently in good condition, were removed from quarters and placed in storage.

"A small building, formerly a guest house, was moved twice and altered at a cost of $2326.96. The cost was charged to maintenance of active buildings, although the intended use was as a recreation facility. After the job was completed, the building was redesignated as a recreation facility.

"Ten small boats were built, apparently for recreational use. Six were charged to maintenance of piers and related equipment. Four were built on a work request which did not show job order number or appropriation to be charged."

Those few Defense Department officials who know about the GAO report say the Navy should change its recruiting posters to read: "Join the Navy and Eat Oysters."

2 'NATUROPATHS' ARRESTED ON NO-LICENSE CHARGES

Two men who describe themselves at "naturopaths" were under charges today of practicing medicine in Missouri without a license.

They are Michael J. O'Flynn, 5622 Delmar boulevard, and Oscar Henry Jett, 451 Heman drive, Kirkwood. A warrant against O'Flynn was issued today by Associate Prosecuting Attorney Jasper R. Vettori. Jett was charged in a warrant issued yesterlay by Magistrate Leslie T. Lewis at Clayton.

O'Flynn and Jett were arrested on complaints by an investigator for the State Board of Medical Examiners. Under Missouri law, only licensed physicians may practice medicine.

MINOR FIRE DISCOVERED, STUDENTS EVACUATE SCHOOL

Pupils of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran School, 859 East Prairie avenue, left the building quickly today, using the procedure taught them in weekly fire drills, after a blaze was discovered beneath the kindergarten room window.

Miss Joan Auselmann, teacher for the first and second grades, said that by the time she put in a telephone call for the Fire Department, the school was empty of its 130 pupils from kindergarten through the sixth grade. Students in the seventh and eighth grades had no classes because of the Clean-up parade.

The fire, confined to a wood door leading to a coal bin in the basement, was quickly extinguished by firemen. Origin of the blaze was undetermined.

CROSSING GATES INSTALLED BY MO. PAC. AT 3 STREETS

Automatic crossing gates with flashing lights have been installed at Missouri Pacific Railroad grade crossings at Delor street, Bates street and Wilmington avenue by the railroad, it was announced today.

The Missouri Public Service Commission ordered the railroad to provide better protection at the three crossings last Nov. 4. The new gates are actuated by moving trains. They replace manual gates at Bates and Delor and flashing lights at Wilmington.

Television in Review

CBS Programs Lag In the Big Parade

By John Crosby

NEW YORK, April 19.

WHEN I first undertook this job some nine years ago, CBS was the most exciting, the most imaginative, the most daring network. The place teemed with ideas and with youth and with integrity.

JOHN CROSBY

Today it teems with money and advertising men. Commercial television is now eight years old and in all that time — apart from its public affairs department which is superb—CBS has done not one single thing that is particularly memorable. While NBC has created "Today" and "Home" and done the spectaculars and kept making this a bigger medium, CBS has been doing radio shows poorly fashioned in the image of television.

Television is the biggest medium that was ever invented. There's nothing like it. It's gone through more major changes in eight years than the movies in 50 years. In fact, David O. Selznick, after his one and only brush with television, declared that the movies were 50 years behind the times and needed a complete retooling.

★ ★ ★

AND WHERE is CBS? While NBC is producing "Peter Pan," CBS is coming up with "December Bride" or "Willy" or "The Millionaire"—conceivably the worst shows on television. Mediocrity has got to be the hallmark at CBS.

While you have to make allowances for errors in judgment, these things are much worse than that. I refuse to believe that anyone in CBS is stupid enough not to recognize how cliche-ridden these shows are. The only conclusion I can reach is that the higher brass in CBS is operating with complete contempt for the public. "Sure, it's lousy. But the people like it. Look at the rating." (If you believe ratings—and I don't.)

★ ★ ★

I'M NOT SAYING that NBC's big ventures have been uniformly successful. Some of them like "Satin and Spurs" have been pretty close to a disaster. But at least they try. There is a recognition at NBC that this is a big, new, tremendously important medium. And what comes out of CBS? Burns and Allen, who have been on radio since the Ice Age. I admire Burns and Allen tremendously. But what else is new?

The program department at CBS seems to be sound asleep. This is a medium that can grab the whole country by the scruff of the neck in a single evening. By the next morning, the whole country is talking. It's not necessarily flattering talk—as in the case of "Satin and Spurs"—but at least, they're talking. When was the last time you woke up chattering about "December Bride?"

★ ★ ★

I AGAIN EXEMPT the public affairs department at CBS. "The Search" is one of the finest programs that has ever been on television. So is "Adventure." So is "See It Now." But I'm tired of looking at half-hour comic strips, turned out in Hollywood, with CBS canned laughter. I think every CBS executive ought to be condemned for a week to looking at their own shows.

They remind me of a line in "Once in a Lifetime," the hilarious satire on the early talking pictures by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart. One character who has blundered into success by his own stupidity proudly boasts: "I have led the industry back to where it was 10 years ago."

Authority in the Field of Fine Food

G. William Becker, New Noonday Club Manager, Puts Quality First

By Clarissa Start

COOKING in the average home has been revolutionized in the past decade, but not in the hotels where fine foods are a specialty. The clientele that chooses breast of guinea hen under glass and beluga caviar with blinis still demands and gets the same painstaking culinary craftsmanship that was customary in the days of the gay nineties gourmets. The frozen foods, quick tricks, and ready mixes that are such a boon to the housewife are less adaptable to the squab and kabob circuit.

So says G. William Becker, an authority in the field of fine food. Recently retained to manage the exclusive Noonday Club in the Security Building. Becker has spent the last eight years at the Ambassador East and West hotels in Chicago where he directed the serving of food in the Pump Room and Buttery, those oases of cafe society between New York and Los Angeles.

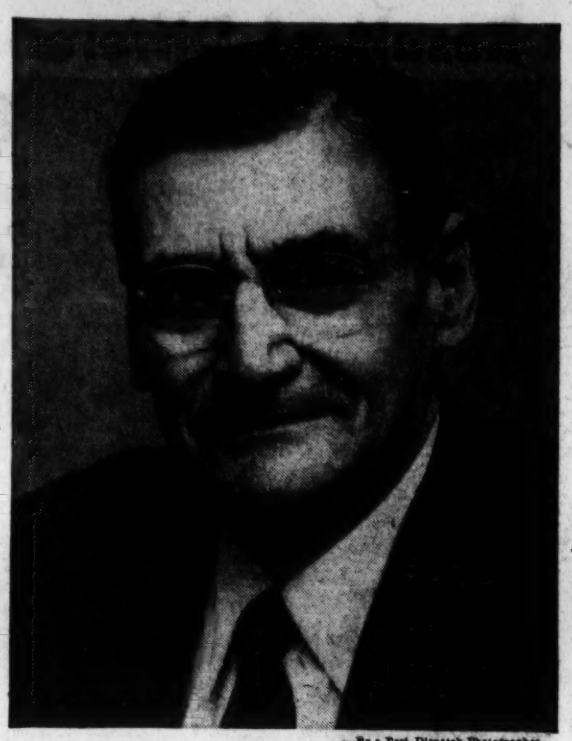

"The preparation of fine food has always been the same," Becker says. "Chicken a la king, lobster Newburg, roast capon are prepared now as they were when I started in this business. There are some new things that come along—pizza, for instance, which is popular now. There are some changes—we serve more wine than we once did. But the basic good things remain the same."

Purchasing agent as well as supervisor at the Ambassador, Becker followed a pattern of personal marketing that he expects to use here.

"I personally selected the meats, always fresh, from the stockyards," he relates. "I'd pick out perhaps 60 ribs and strips, then let them age three weeks, not at our place but at the yards, and then bring them in to use. We always used fresh chickens, fresh fruits and vegetables. And, of course, we did our own baking."

We mentioned cake mixes. Becker swallowed and shuddered.

While celebrities were as common as champagne at the Pump Room, and every day saw half a dozen stars of stage, screen, and video on hand, Becker paid little attention to their tastes. Other minor historians have recorded the fact that Joseph Cotten ordered Crab Louis at the Pump Room, that George Jessel are chicken salad, and Tallulah Bankhead adores the ham and chicken sandwiches with roquefort cheese sauce, but Becker's pride was in the entire menu and the completeness of its choice from soup to nuts, pate de foie gras to strawberries Romanoff.

G. WILLIAM BECKER . . . AT HOME, AFTER A DAY OF PURVEYING FINE FOODS AND RARE DELICACIES, HE LIKES STEW.

FOOD served on a flaming sword he regards as mere showmanship. This act, incidentally, was the innovation of Ernest Byfield, late president of the hotel, who once remarked, "It doesn't seem to hurt the food much and the customers seem to like it."

"But no matter how much attention is paid to the service and to the elaborate display," Becker emphasizes, "the important thing about the Ambassador the outstanding food of first class quality. We were supposed to lose money, if necessary, in order to have the best that was available, and we never skimped on anything. Cherries from South America in midwinter, always the best of food in and out of season."

Becker had had more than 20 years experience when he went to the Ambassador Hotels. A native of Germany, Becker—full name Guenther William Becker—comes from Thuringen, which is now in the Russian zone. His mother and sister still live there and recently he had his first letter from them in 15 years.

He came to this country in 1914 more or less by accident. He was working on a steamship line at the time and had the idea he'd like to go to South America. From Rio de Janiero, the boat went to New Orleans and docked there the day before war broke out in Europe. Becker by this time was feeling homesick and decided to wanted to go back but it was too late; he couldn't leave.

"I'd been a purser's assistant and was a little familiar with the food line so I thought I'd get a job in that and maybe it wouldn't matter that I didn't know much English," he says. "So I went to work at the old Grunewald Hotel, now the Roosevelt."

★ ★ ★

AFTER he had served his apprenticeship there, he went to the Adolphus Hotel in Dallas, Tex., where he started out in the meat rooms and worked his way up to the position of banquet chef. He met Adolphus Busch, founder of the Anheuser-Busch brewery for whom the hotel had been named and recalls him as a "short, round-faced, very pleasant fellow." Busch tried to persuade him to come to St. Louis and he said he would some time.

In 1920 he left Dallas and spent several years in Menominee, Mich., where he owned his own place. He was at Eitel's Black Forest Inn during the Chicago World's Fair in 1934, then at the Elgin Country Club in Elgin, Ill., and from there went to the Ambassador.

At the Ambassador he was in charge of 125 kitchen employes including 50 cooks. Since the two Ambassadors and the Sherman are owned by the same company, much of their food purchases were co-operative. The rolls served at the Ambassador, for instance, come from the Sherman, and the wine buyer who spends his time in Europe selecting the best vintages, buys for both hotels.

Becker came to St. Louis through the recommendation of a man he knew and in his first weeks here has been impressed very well.

"The air seems cleaner than that of Chicago," he says, "and the traffic is regulated better."

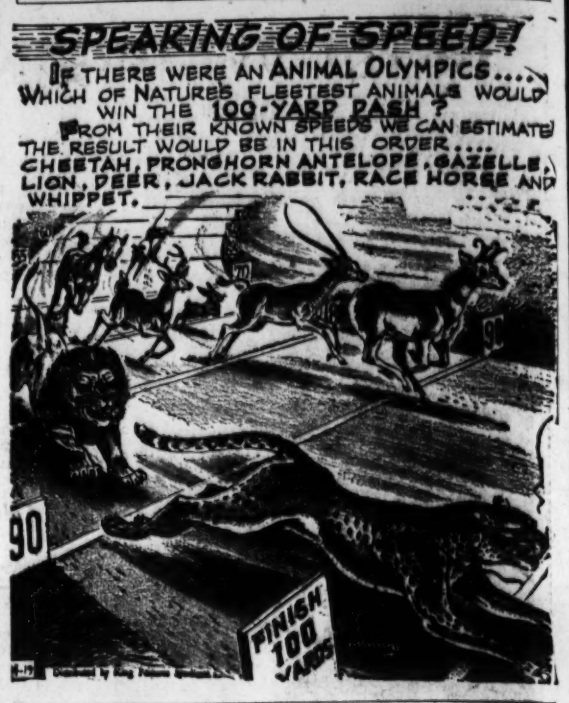

He is obviously pleased, too, with the Noonday Club itself, a dignified establishment with much of the Old World atmosphere of some of the historic restaurants which are no longer in existence. The club has 500 members and usually 250 to 320 of them are there for luncheon. Only noon day meals are served and women are never invited. There is a large dining room, a grill, and a number of smaller dining rooms, lounges, and reading rooms, all of them lined with fine pictures of early frontier days, most of them collectors' items loaned by members.

Becker has not yet moved his family here, as his three children, Billy, 19, Carna, 17, and Barbara, 15 are still in school His wife is of Swedish descent and "a good manager at home," he says.

Words, Wit and Wisdom—By William Morris

A READER writes: "I have a client who has two children, one a son and the other a daughter. The son has been given the same name as the father, and is called 'Junior.' The daughter has been given the same name as the mother. Would it be correct to use 'Junior' for the daughter in the same manner as for the son?"

The use of "Junior" to designate a daughter bearing the same name as her mother is almost never used. Indeed the only instance that has ever come to my attention is that of a supper-club entertainer named Cobina Wright Jr. In this case "Junior" was used to make clear to prospective customers that it was not the mother—a distinguished society leader in her own right—who was making her night club debut.

Actually there is no compelling reason why Junior—which merely means "younger"—could not apply to girls as well as boys. Indeed from the existence of such organizations as the Junior League and from the recent popularity of the phrase "junior miss," you might even make a case for applying the label to similarly named daughters. But the fact is that it is virtually never done, unless one deliberately seeks an eye-catching name for publicity purposes, I should advise against it.

Let's Explore Your Mind

By Dr. Albert E. Wiggam

Answer to Question 1.

YES. The Vicary Research Co. asked 1200 men and women to speak the first word they thought of when they heard the word "marriage." Decidedly more women than men said "love" and "happiness"; while more men said "divorce." However, men are not completely frightened away, as equal numbers of men and women said "wedding," "family," and "children." Keep optimistic, girls—85 people in 100 who have been married five years or more say their marriages have been "successful."

Answer to Question 2.

Either that you are an egotist with inferiority feelings, or that you have inferiority feelings without egotism. Egotism is one form of inferiority and usually indicates stupidity. One apologizer is seeking self-confidence and importance by gaining your favor through sympathy; the other—the egotist—by boasting of his virtues.

Answer to Question 3.

Both. Wilfred Funk, publisher, tells me that in ancient Greece the people built pillars, painted pictures on them in spirals, and spun the spirals around by a rope—producing movies. He adds that the historian Petronius speaks of a man who "being drunk enjoyed the resonance of his bathroom and murdered some songs." Had he sung near the pillars, they might have had singing movies. Nothing new under the sun.

Spring Trend

The shirtwaist dress that is pleated from shoulders to hemline is typical of a trend for spring. Printed silks in flower tones are liked for this style of dress although the solid-colored shantungs also are appearing in the stores. Box pleating predominates. Sometimes the pleating starts below a deep yoke and is stitched down to the hipline to give additional fullness at the skirt hemline.

Fix It Yourself

By Hubbard Cobb

Getting It Down in Pictures.

THE other day we had lunch with a character who was so clever and knew he was so clever that if he hadn't been buying the lunch—we would have got up and gone out for a long walk.

It seems that a few years ago this character had a fire in his home. Didn't do too much damage to the house but it did destroy or ruin a lot of his possessions.

Was he worried about being able to prove to the insurance company that the amount of money he put in for his claim was just. Not this guy because besides having a complete inventory of everything he had purchased since the age of 10 he had pictures as well. Seems that he had taken a picture of every darn thing of value he had—even a 29-cent pencil—which he sent to his insurance broker. What with the inventory and a stack of pictures a mile high, the insurance company had just about all they needed to settle his claim in a hurry.

Well then, about a year ago something happened to the drainage system inside his house. Plumber came over, looked the situation over and figured he'd have to pull out a piece of the wall to find where two pipes came together. Before he had time to grab a wrecking bar our friend was showing him a mess of pictures showing the wall before it was plastered over with all the pipes and wiring in place. The plumber, after he caught his breath, was able to find from the pictures the exact spot he wanted and so the wall stayed intact.

Seems that our friend had taken a set of pictures during the construction of the house just in case something like this should happen and just to make any remodeling or expansion in the future as inexpensive as possible. Clever guy all right but hard to take at lunch.

Happiness Test

By Dr. Paul Popenoe

SO you want to be happy? The first thing to do is to find out, right now, just how happy you are. Try yourself out on this little happiness quiz:

1. Are you glad that you are a woman? 0 1 2

2. Do you wake up in the morning with pleasant anticipation of the day's activities, feeling that life is good? 0 1 2

3. Do you feel pleasantly busy, neither tense from having too much to do or bored from having too little to do? 0 1 2

4. Do you have interests other than your regular work? 0 1 2

5. Are new ideas stimulating to you, and do you find pleasure in using your brain? 0 1 2

★ ★ ★

6. DO YOU HAVE REALISTIC GOALS toward which you are making progress, functioning near the level of your ability? 0 1 2

7. Are you reasonably free of a sense of guilt, feeling that you usually do pretty well what you should when you should? 0 1 2

8. Do you understand and appreciate men, especially your husband? 0 1 2

9. Is your attitude toward sex a sound one, and if you are married, do sex relations with your husband contribute to your happiness? 0 1 2

10. Do you feel allegiance to a cause or ideal greater than yourself? 0 1 2

A WOMAN CAN SCORE HERSELF by letting "No" be equivalent to zero, crediting herself with 1 if she answers "sometimes," and 2 if she can say flatly "Yes." A normal score should be above 15, and a score of 12 or less indicates that your mode of life is probably due for some overhauling.

How will you go about this? Helen Sherman and Marjorie Coe, from whom I have borrowed and adapted this rating scale have a book on the subject. Ask your public library for "The Challenge of Being a Woman" (Harper & Brothers). Happiness, they point out, "seems to depend on our (1) being worthy of your own and others' respect; (2) loving and being loved and feeling a sense of belonging; (3) having satisfying interests and activities; and (4) facing life with positive attitudes. That is, happiness depends on your liking yourself, others and life."

Try and Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

IN his foreword to "The Benchley Roundup," a selection of Robert Benchley's funniest pieces, his son Nathaniel recalls: "One time, during World War II, an Air Force sergeant accosted my father in a bar and announced, 'I might as well tell you I don't like your work.' Benchley replied that he had moments of doubt himself. The sergeant then explained that he had hitched a ride from Africa to Italy on a cargo plane, and that the only available sleeping space had been loaded with copies of Benchley's books. By the time they'd passed Sicily, he said, he was so stiff and sore he hoped never to hear even the name of Benchley again. 'Try it yourself sometime,' he concluded. 'That stuff isn't so hilarious when you have to sleep on it.'"

Secret Writers

By Stan Delaplane

SAN FRANCISCO.

MR. KEYES BEECH, the Far East correspondent, reports that he was flattered when a publisher first asked him to write a book. Until he found out that publishers want everybody to write a book. On the off chance that one of them will sell.

STAN DELAPLANE

The business of writing books is man's touch with the Arts. I have never met anybody who did not figure on writing a book sometime.

It is for this reason that I have organized Authors Anonymous. A sympathetic organization for people who can't let well enough alone.

Authors Anonymous will visit you in your home. Especially if you are a secret writer. Diary writers are the ones who should never touch a pencil.

Some of us can take it and it never seems to hurt us. We can make a note and quit. A diary writer is a secret book writer. A nipper. He intends to put down just a paragraph. I don't know why I say he, most of them are she's.

"Dear Diary: Went to lunch and had fruit salad with gooey marshmallow all over it. Must remind myself to cut down on sweets. Saw divine man. Remind myself to get new hat on sale, $19.95. George called for date."

★ ★ ★

THIS SEEMS harmless. The point is that this dolly is on the way to authorship without knowing it.

By and by, she marries George. She putters around with the biscuits. She services the washing machine. She broods about whether she is really fulfilling herself. One day she gets out the old diary.

"Y'know," she says over the pork chops, "I had a very interesting life."

"Say what?" says George.

"My life. Interesting. Sometimes I feel I should set it all down on paper. In a book. You remember the night you took me to the dance?"

"Nope."

"Oh, George. The night we drove over by the lake? You told me all your dreams about us?"

"Good heavens," says George, "you aren't going to write that down?"

"Why not? It's my life. I slave and slave——."

"Well, baby, what I mean, that stuff is personal. OK to write down but not to show anybody."

★ ★ ★

AUTHORS ANONYMOUS should avoid literary teas. Literary teas are frequented by ladies who say: "You really ought to see my analyst. He's divine." That should show you what I mean. Also they don't serve tea. They serve booze. Everybody needs it.

Publishers are regarded by us the dangerous enemy. Pushers. Stay away from publishers and you stay away from trouble.

It is mighty insidious, this writing thing. One word after another. A few old verbs, some used adjectives. My goodness, pretty soon you are telling everybody.

In the meantime what happens to you? Before long you have written a book, a play, a short story. Blowing your money on typewriter ribbons. The pity of it all.

Pre-School Visit

By Frances Ilg, M.D., and Louise Ames, Ph.D.
Of the Gesell Institute of Child Development

TWO things can be accomplished when the child and his mother make a preliminary visit to the nursery school, before school actually starts and thus before the child needs to adjust to the group.

On such a visit the child can have the freedom to meet this new situation in the way that is most congenial to him. And the teacher can observe how he adjusts to this fairly simple situation, and can thus make tentative plans for his first day in school. If the child can thus have a chance to play in a situation where he is neither urged to start or stop activities, he will more likely be ready for his next big step—coming to school with the other children.

This preliminary visit should not be closely planned, but should rather be allowed to develop more or less spontaneously. The conversation between the teacher and parent at this first interview must grow from the situation. The teacher wants to find out as much as possible about the child. But if he chooses to stay close to his mother, or is self-conscious and attentive to the conversation of the adults, the teacher must divert her comments to subjects of a general, informal nature.

IF THE MOTHER PERSISTS, as she may, in making remarks that seem unsuitable, the teacher can tactfully suggest that this interview has been arranged only for the child to become acquainted with the head teacher and the school before the other children are there, and that very soon another interview will be arranged with the parent alone to talk about the child. (Because it is wise not to discuss a child—even a very young child—within his hearing.)

When a child separates easily from his mother to explore the school, the teacher then will have a chance to question the parent about routines of eating, sleeping and toilet training, about the nature of the child's play, or about any problems the mother may care to bring up.

WHAT GENERAL IMPRESSIONS the teacher may gain of the parent, at this time, are helpful in effecting the child's adjustment to school. The teacher will not try to force a mother to any kind of conformity during this interview, any more than she attempts to push the child into any special kind of behavior. She will realize that parents will approach nursery school in quite different ways, according to their own personalities and the attitudes they take toward their children. She must work with them as they are, just as she must accept each child as an important individual whose personal needs must be understood and met.

It is good for the child to see all the rooms of the nursery school on this first visit, to look at the outside as well as the inside equipment, even if he must do this from his mother's arms. The teacher can describe the usual routine of the day to the parent, and can predict what she thinks will be the child's reaction on his first day at school.

Dr. Salk's Big Role in War on Polio

By Edwin Diamond

This is the second of two articles describing the long dramatic battle against polio that preceded the announcement last week that the Salk vaccine is safe and effective.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., April 19 (INS)

A BRILLIANT scientific experiment has been completed, leading to a workable vaccine against crippling polio and making the man responsible a celebrity overnight. How did it happen? Why did this researcher succeed where others before him had failed?

The researcher is Dr. Jonas E. Salk, the 40-year-old scientist who developed the polio vaccine that bears his name. In 1953, less than two years after he became interested in the challenging problems presented by polio, he succeeded in producing a vaccine believed capable of bringing crippling polio under complete control.

One explanation of Dr. Salk's success is that he is a "good technician." The phrase carries the implication that all he did was build from someone else's "blueprint."

While Dr. Salk himself would be the last person to quarrel with this somewhat slighting description, he nevertheless was the first to develop a vaccine judged good enough to be used in medical history's greatest mass experiment.

His friends and colleagues at the University of Pittsburgh's virus research laboratory shrug off the "technician" tag. Dr. P. L. Bazely says:

"Certainly Dr. Salk built on the knowledge and experience of others. But he was the one who combined their advances with his own background. He was the one who had the insight and drive to organize and carry out the project."

Exactly what was the state of polio knowledge when this young and intensely determined researcher became interested in the complicated problem of an immunity-granting vaccine?

First, three main polio virus strains had been identified—Brunhilde, Lansing and Leon.

These viruses were found in the bloodstream of polio victims. This indicated that the virus was taken in through the mouth (food, drink, air, dirty hands—any number of ways) before making its way to the nerves, where the damage is done.

It also was generally accepted by then that every person in the world is subject sooner or later to infection by one or another of the three known types of polio virus. In most of us, there may be no sign of the infection at all. For others it may be a passing sore throat, but for a proportionately small number of persons the infection develops into tell-tale paralysis.

The explanation—most of us get infections mild enough to throw off. As a result we build up our antibodies—the elements that fight disease—until we have enough to be immune for life. But others may never be exposed to mild doses; when a strong virus dose hits them, there are not enough infection-fighting antibodies to help them.

THANKS to Dr. John F. Enders and his associates, there was a safe way to "build" large numbers of viruses. Thanks to Dr. William McD. Hammon, there was knowledge that antibodies in the blood could stop the virus. Thanks to Drs. Howard A. Howe and Isabel Morgan, there was a technique for "killing" potent virus without ruining its ability to stimulate antibodies.

Here then was Dr. Salk's task as he set it for himself: Make a vaccine usable against all three polio types; make it good enough to stimulate sufficient antibodies and safe enough to administer without bringing on polio or "side effects."

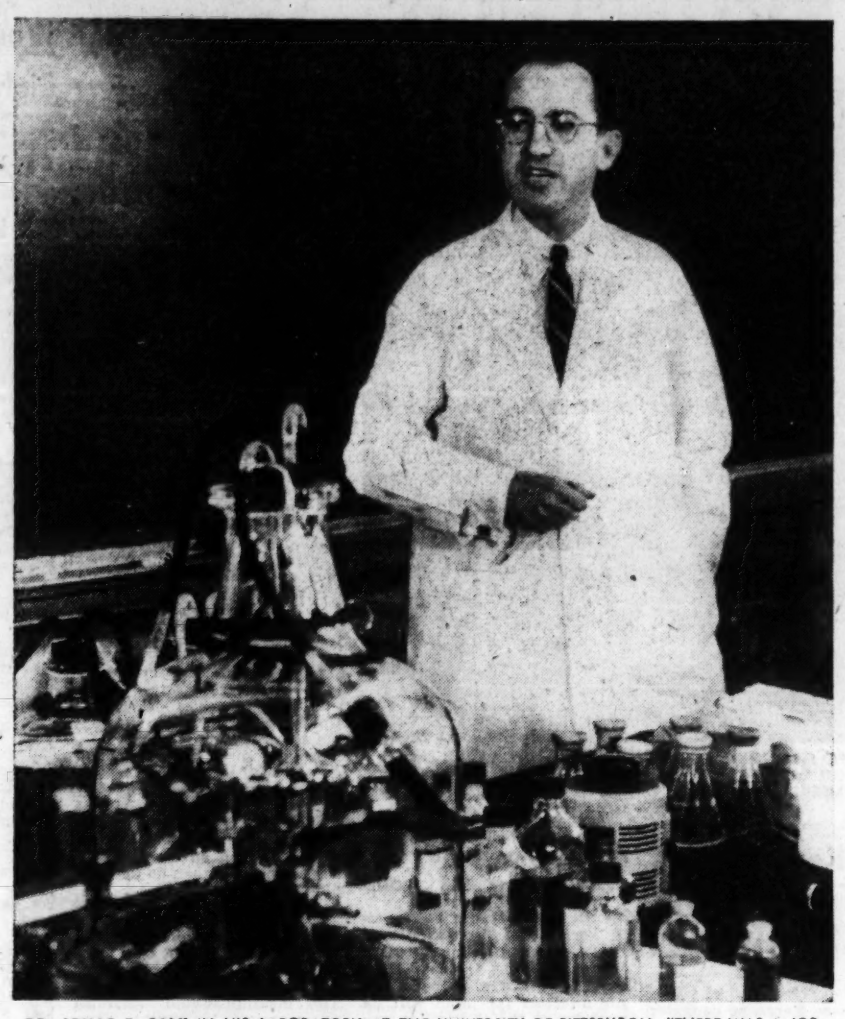

How did he do it? Under Dr. Salk's procedures, the way to make a suitable vaccine to protect children from polio requires first of all a large number of monkeys, which are expensive.

"The monkey is indispensable for making polio vaccine. We will need a continuing supply of them for both testing and serum production."

The monkeys are obtained for $42 postpaid from India, Burma or the Philippines. After tests, their kidney tissue is used for the "food" upon which the polio virus feeds.

Dr. Lewis estimates one set of monkey kidneys produces enough "food" to make vaccine in sufficient quantities to immunize 500 children. Here is what happens then:

DR. JONAS E. SALK IN HIS LABORATORY AT THE UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH. "THERE WAS A JOB TO DO," AND HE DROVE HIMSELF UNCEASINGLY UNTIL HE HAD DEVELOPED A SAFE AND EFFECTIVE POLIO VACCINE.

1. The kidney is ground up, chemically treated with tripsin and placed in a test tube.

2. Polio virus is placed in the tube to feed and grow at the tissue's expense. Also added is a "soup" of nutrient materials called "Mixture 199."

3. The chemical formalin is added to the live and feeding virus to destroy its polio-causing potency.

5. After being checked and approved for human use, an inoculation is given and blood tests are taken to determine how effective the vaccine was.

Again the ease of explanation does not do justice to the many hours of careful preparation and calculations that must be made in the expensive, time-consuming and demanding job. Dr. Salk, a devoted husband and the affectionate father of three small boys, drove himself unceasingly because, he says, "There was a job to do."

Asked how many hours a week he worked, he replied:

It seems likely that history will single out two scientists in particular from the scores who contributed to the prospective conquest of polio—Dr. Enders and Dr. Salk. But neither Dr. Enders nor Dr. Salk is resting on his laurels.

At this moment, they are working on new and improved techniques to combat disease.

★ ★ ★

MEANTIME, the questions arise: What is ahead in the polio fight? Is the disease definitely and finally defeated?

Even before the announcement that the Salk vaccine is safe and effective in preventing all three types of paralytic polio, there was general agreement that polio could and would be controlled by a vaccine granting prolonged immunity.

Several other vaccine methods were being developed at the same time Dr. Salk was working with his "killed" virus. The licensing of the Salk vaccine and its use before the onset of the "polio season" in June does not mean that this polio research will stop now.

Dr. Salk himself has no intention of stopping. Ever since last summer's mass field trials involving his vaccine, he has been working with his associates to improve its effectiveness.

There are other projects going forward with vaccines.

One of the most important is at Michael Reese Hospital in Chicago. There doctors are treating polio virus with ultraviolet irradiation instead of the formalin chemical used by Dr. Salk in making his vaccine. It might be a better process.

The Michael Reese Research Foundation, under Dr. Albert M. Wolf, is co-operating with the Illinois Department of Health on an inoculation program using this radiation-killed virus. Dr. Wolf reports that initial results are encouraging.

Also in Chicago, Dr. George Le Roy, associate dean of the Division of Biological Sciences at the Univerity of Chicago, has offered an explanation for some of the "paradoxes of polio"—the apparent increase in cases in the more advanced countries and the rise in the "age-incidence" of polio.

Dr. Le Roy points out it is maintained now by infectious disease specialists that polio is caused by a virus which may be produced in the human body and excreted in the body wastes. In a society such as ours, Dr. Le Roy says, with our modern plumbing and sanitary conditions, there is not the constant exposure to polio virus doctors find in such "out door plumbing areas" as the Middle East and Asia.

This also explains why the average age of polio victims continues to increase. In the countries with high standards of living, infections occur increasingly later in life; in the under-developed countries early mild infection gives natural life immunity.

One of the most experienced workers in the polio vaccine field is Dr. Albert B. Sabin, professor of research pediatrics at the University of Cincinnati. Dr. Sabin has for some time been working on the theory that a "live" virus might grant better and longer immunity than the "killed" virus used by Dr. Salk.

★ ★ ★

IT is Dr. Sabin's theory that there are both good and bad polio viruses occurring in nature. He explained:

"The bad virus causes paralytic polio; the good virus gives us infection without dangerous consequences and hence grants us immunity from later bad virus. Where there are epidemics, you can be sure there are these bad virusus."

He hopes to isolate the natural good virus or alternatively, to produce it in the laboratory. He believes a vaccine made from such a virus would be the best possible protection against polio.

Dr. Sabin describes his efforts to produce a "live" virus vaccine as an "attempt to imitate what happens in nature."

The "live" virus, sufficiently treated to prevent paralytic polio, would be capable of stimulating into protection a high level of antibodies as they multiplied.

Dr. Sabin has experimented with the "live" virus on volunteers from an Ohio prison (the Chillicothe reformatory). He is convinced that his goal in research—the development of a vaccine giving "solid immunization that lasts a lifetime to everyone in the world"—is realistic.

"It would be a drop of liquid which could be put into the formulas of babies when they are three or four months old. It would be so effective that we would never have to worry about polio again."

Doctor's Notebook

A-Bomb Damage to Eyes

By Glen R. Shepherd, M.D.

IF an atomic bomb explodes, don't watch it even though you are 40 miles away. The retina, the seeing lining of the back of your eye, can be burned by a bomb explosion so far away it doesn't produce any other damage.

This advice is the result of experiments by doctors of the School of Aviation Medicine, Randolph Field, Tex. They are Col. Victor A. Byrnes, Capt. David V. L. Brown, Dr. Henrich W. Rose, and Dr. Paul A. Cibis. They speculated that the energy released by a distant atomic bomb explosion was high enough to cause eye burns.

THIS WAS BASED on the amount of light and heat energy needed to burn the retina versus the amount given off by the A-bomb. These figures indicated that an atomic bomb equivalent to 20,000 tons of dynamite could burn the retina 40 miles away on a clear night. The fireball of such a bomb is 100 times brighter than the sun. Daytime burns are less likely. In daylight your eye pupil constricts, admitting only 1-50 as much light and heat.

Their figures are conservative considering the military strategists now commonly speak of H-bombs having explosive power thousands of times that of a 20-kiloton atomic bomb. So if you can see an H-bomb at any distance, don't look.

The military doctors tested their slide-rule calculations by using rabbits. Rabbits' eyes are a little more susceptible to burn but absorb light in a manner similar to human eyes.

Rabbits were exposed at night during atomic bomb detonations at the Nevada proving ground. Retinal burns occurred at distances of 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 12, 13, 14, 27, 28 and 42.5 miles.

★ ★ ★

THE WHOLE RETINA wasn't destroyed, just the part on which the intense light rays were focused. The victim wouldn't be completely blinded unless the main nerve trunks were injured. Blind spots or pie-shaped blind areas in the field of vision would most likely be the permanent result of such A-bomb eye burns.

The trouble is that blinking the eyes or shutting them as quickly as possible does not prevent such eye burn. Most of the damage occurs in the first one-thousandth of a second. You can't blink in less than one-tenth second. Closing the eyes this quickly can shut out an additional half of the total burning energy that might further damage the eye.

Facing away or having a building wall between you and the explosion when the bomb went off seems the only way of preventing eye burns even at distances of many miles. However, eye burns occur at the greatest distances only at night. You're more likely to be indoors then. So are the kids.

If the armed "peace" with the possibility of attack without warning continues for decades, as has been predicted, perhaps we had better start training ourselves and our children in elementary bomb-survival techniques. One of these might well be rigid and repeated training against turning to look at a sudden extremely bright light in the night. Just how to practice this presents problems.

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

THE following hand was the subject of considerable conversation (and some rather bitter conflicting opinions) in a prominent New York bridge club.

	♠QJ ♥AJ653 ♦AJ7542 ♣—
♠K754 ♥1082 ♦K9 ♣8652	NORTH WEST EAST SOUTH	♠862 ♥Q94 ♦Q1083 ♣K73
	♠A1093 ♥K7 ♦6 ♣AQJ1094

South	West	North	East
1♣	Pass	1♦	Pass
1♠	Pass	2♥	Pass
5♣	Pass	5♦	Pass
6♣	Pass	Pass	Pass

Taking first things first—who was to blame, South or North, for reaching such a speculative slam contract?

North, and some of the expert kibitzers, put the responsibility on South, arguing that he should have bid no more than four clubs over North's two hearts. Then, they said, South could have persisted with clubs over North's next bid of four hearts or four diamonds, and on that sequence North would have been glad to retire at the five-club level.

South, and his cohorts, disagreed. They insisted that with North announcing a strong hand by first mentioning diamonds, then reversing with the heart bid, South had good reason to envisage a possible slam, and that he consequently was right in sending the message that his club suit needed no support. This group felt that North, with an obvious misfit, should have been only too glad to retire from the field and let South play five clubs.

The next chapter in the debate revolved around the play. West, after long indecision, opened a spade, and the fact that this gave South a chance was, in a sense, unfortunate for him, because he was faced with a baffling guess and nothing short of a peek could set him straight. He probably would have won out by leading to the heart king at Trick 2, cashing the trump ace and knocking out the trump king. East probably would not have returned a diamond, and if he didn't, South could draw trumps, lead to the heart ace and ruff a heart. But this would amount to double-dummy play and would also depend on imperfect defense; hence South deserved no discredit for the actual result, which was down one.

New York in the Spring Attracts St. Louisans

By Martha Strickler Kieffer

NEW YORK, April 19.

NEW YORK in the spring has always been appealing to St. Louisans and this year proves to be no exception. However, after an elegant treat, weatherwise, for the Easter weekend, Tuesday and Wednesday of last week were enough to send any enthusiastic visitor back home. Those brave enough to battle the elements were confronted with piercing winds and rain, both quite unreminiscent of spring.

Mrs. Andrew W. Johnson arrived in town about 10 days ago and has been a guest at the Mayfair House. Undaunted by the weather, she and her daughter, Jane Johnson Heminway, were bustling about last week accomplishing all the necessary errands of a shopping expedition. Easter Sunday several members of the Johnson clan gathered for luncheon at the Park avenue apartment of Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Forgan. The family party included Mrs. Johnson, Jane and John Heminway and the Heminway children, Hilary, Jay and John Jr. The Forgans—she was Ada Johnson of St. Louis—recently returned from a late winter sojourn at Nassau.

Mrs. Johnson's schedule also included several dinner and theater engagements. A week ago last night she and the John L. Johnstons, who live here at the Sulgrave, saw the musical show, "Fanny." The next evening the Heminways joined her for dinner and a viewing of "Desperate Hours." Later they stopped at 21 for an after-theater refresher. "Anastasia" was the attraction for Thursday and Mrs. Johnson invited her granddaughter, Hilary, to see this exciting play with her. Plans for the weekend involved a trip to the Heminway summer home at Watch Hill R.I. Mrs. Johnson will return to St. Louis today.

Mrs. Gerard Allen Among New York Guests.

ANOTHER St. Louisan here for a spring visit is Mrs. Gerard B. Allen, who is a guest at the St. Regis Hotel. Her grandson, Gerry Papin, came by plane Easter Monday with an extra day to spare before he was due to report for classes at Williams. In a manner befitting fond grandmothers, Mrs. Allen treated Gerry to a bit of New York entertainment.

First stop was at 21 where they had dinner. Seated only a few tables away were Mrs. Joseph Werner and her son-in-law and daughter, Harry and Claire Henriques. Both groups chose the downstairs room for dining. A bit less formal than the upper chambers, this room is made especially attractive by red and white checked table cloths and an interesting collection of pewter steins. Later Mrs. Papin and Gerry took in the 8:30 performance of "Pajama Game." After attending church services Easter Sunday, Mrs. Allen went to the Ambassador for luncheon and a fashion show. Chic and sumptuous styles and a high tone of gaiety were the keynotes for the show, for which Adele Astaire was one of the judges.

The John Langenbergs were also at the St. Regis last week. On their first night here they went to the Henry Miller Theater to see "Witness for the Prosecution." Window shopping and leisurely dinners consumed much of their time during their five-day visit. They entrained for home on Friday.

Visit in the East for Many St. Louisans.

ARDATH STARKLOFF, her sister, Mrs. John Earl (Marya Starkloff) and Mrs. Charles A. Niekamp went back to St. Louis by plane Thursday. Ardath arrived in New York some 10 days ago and stayed at the Beverly. Last Tuesday she and Mr. Earl's mother, Mrs. Edgerton Vinson, took the ferry to Staten Island for the docking of a Navy transport ship. On board were John and Marya and their 3-month-old son, John Jr., back from John's European stint with the Navy. After a frantic flurry with baby formula problems and the like, Marya and John and the baby also settled at the Beverly. Wednesday evening they went to the Vinson apartment for dinner and to catch up on family news. John will remain here for a few days more, then join Marya in St. Louis to spend a week or so with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Max Starkloff.

MISS STARKLOFF . . . VISITED IN NEW YORK.

Mrs. Niekamp came East several weeks ago to help her son-in-law and daughter, Gil and Susie Cox, move. The Coxes live in Madison, Conn., and have just completed the shifting of their furniture from Madison avenue to their new abode on Maple street. With accessories for the new house in mind, Susie and her mother came in town and were up and out at the shops early Monday and Tuesday mornings. Before returning to Madison Tuesday evening they joined Gil's father, James W. Cox, and Mrs. Cox for cocktails and dinner at the University Club. Gil has been away on business for several weeks and at last check was due in St. Louis late this week.

In Madison on Wednesday Mrs. Niekamp collected suitcases and said hello and goodby to her son, Charles A. Niekamp Jr. Charlie returned that morning from a spring vacation in Bermuda to resume his sophomore studies at Yale, a few miles from Madison.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Goessling were here for a few days last week. They stopped quite briefly, en route to St. Louis after an early spring holiday in Bermuda. They were at the islands for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. R. Schuster also have returned to St. Louis. They came here by plane for an Easter visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lewis Klotz (Ann Schuster). Headquarters was the Klotz apartment on Christopher street, in Greenwich Village.

Social Problems

A READER asks: "Would it be proper for two men and two women (all in their thirties) to go on a cruise together? The four of us have known each other for a very long time and often go out together although there is no romantic interest between any of us. We two girls will naturally occupy a cabin together and the two men another cabin. Would it add to the propriety any if the cabins were on different decks? Your opinion will be greatly appreciated."

Unless your behavior invites it, I do not think there will be any criticism of you four going on a cruise under the circumstances you describe particularly that of occupying cabins on different decks.

Mr. O'Toole is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. O'Toole, 1245 Orchid avenue. A junior at St. Louis University, he is a graduate of St. Louis University High School. He is the brother of Miss Julienne O'Toole and a nephew of Sister Frances Jane, dean of women at Webster College. His grandparents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Annual Dinner May 4 For Historical Group

THE annual dinner for members of the Missouri Historical Society will take place Wednesday, May 4, on the Starlight roof of the Chase Hotel. An informal reception will be held during the 45 minutes preceding the dinner which is scheduled to begin at 7:30 o'clock.

Charles van Ravenswaay, the society's director, will report on the organization's accomplishments of the past year and will outline plans for the coming 12 months. He will introduce Roger Place Butterfield, nationally-known journalist, author and historian, who will speak on "The Folklore of American Politics." The talk is to be concerned chiefly with folk stories, legends and traditions which have originated with the country's two-party system.

The speaker, who is currently a free lance writer, has received many awards such as the Freedom award in 1949 for his articles on the United States Constitution which ran in the Saturday Evening Post. A descendant of an early New England family, Mr. Butterfield now lives in The White House, built in 1792 by a Revolutionary War ancestor, near Hartwick, N. Y.

Perfume That Clings

Q.—Dear Penny: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.—Mrs. A. W.

A.—A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a Liquid Skin Sachet. It smooths on the skin very easily, and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. Try this Houbigant Chantilly Liquid Skin Sachet. Only $1.85 plus tax at better stores.

My Day

Busy Day at New Jersey U.N. Session

By Eleanor Roosevelt

BOULDER, Colo.

THE New Jersey chapters of the American Association for the United Nations held a whole day of meetings in Trenton last Friday. I went down in the morning and spoke at the morning session, went to a small buffet luncheon, and was interviewed on the radio after lunch before returning to New York.

Since coming back from my trip abroad I am very proud of every evidence I have seen of the activity of our branches. On the whole I had found little activity on a national basis in the countries I had visited. In the foreign countries whatever was planned would be purely a headquarters matter, a meeting on a high level, but nothing that reached out to the masses of the people so far as I could see.

* * *

I REALIZE that in nearly every country, the work of the specialized agencies brings the United Nations closer to the people as a whole.

We are so fortunate that we do not need to ask for the help of any specialized agencies. But that is not true of the people of other countries, so they are more apt to know about the field work that is carried on from day to day by the U.N. than do the people of our own country.

* * *

I HAVE just received from Congressman Frank Thompson Jr. of New Jersey a copy of a bill that he has introduced in the House of Representatives. This measure would "establish a program of cultural interchange with foreign countries to meet the challenge of competitive coexistence with Communism, to establish a Federal advisory commission to advise the Federal Government on ways to encourage artistic and cultural endeavor and appreciation, to provide awards of merit and for other purposes."

I am always glad to see interest being aroused in cultural interchanges because that is one of the ways, and an important way, to combat Communism.

I am glad, for instance, that we have sent very good exhibitions of our theater, of our paintings, and of our music to appear in the Paris Festival this summer.

Martha Carr's OPINION

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

Dear Martha:

HOW would you describe a man who is good to his children but never has a kind word for their mother? That is my husband! No matter what I do, he finds fault. He never treats me with any kindness, yet he expects the children to respect and mind me when he isn't around. If I correct them, he corrects me. Even the children wonder why "Daddy doesn't love Mama." I try everything to keep peace in the family, try to be neat and pleasant but it just seems that my husband isn't happy unless he is belittling me. Can I ever make our children respect me?

WONDERING.

It is hard, I know, and it's humiliating. I think first of all you and he are going to have to have a pretty serious talk about how to rear the children, and understand each other on the matter of discipline. Let him see that he is only undermining anything you do if he comes to their defense, but if he feels you are being too hard on them, perhaps you can work out a compromise that both can agree on. Also, point out to him that if he must find fault with you, to talk over the matter in private. You'll have to take your stand on this, because meek subservience won't help.

Dear Martha:

MY HUSBAND'S MOTHER has been living with us since we were married. She even went on our honeymoon because she was afraid of being alone for a week. She doesn't allow our two children to call her grandma because it makes her sound too old. Instead, they have to call her by her first name. She's always telling me what to do. She will not go out with women her own age but insists on going with my friends and me. When my husband and I are invited to parties she insists on going, and consequently we are being left off invitation lists. If I say anything to her my husband and I end up in an argument. Martha, what shall I do? I don't mind her living with us if she'll just let me run my own affairs.

DESPERATE.

It's women like this who give mothers-in-law the reputation for being possessive, bossy and selfish—a reputation many of them do not deserve in the least. But young people must remember that it isn't always easy for older men and women to be dependent on someone else for a home, and they are inclined to be possessive because they are lonely and feel insecure and need someone to whom they can cling. Howver, I think you and your husband should talk this over seriously and come to some agreement on it. Perhaps you can take her out yourself to a movie or lunch once a week, or invite her with several other women her age to your home for bridge. If she is made to feel a welcome guest at some of the parties, it won't be so hard to exclude her from others which are planned for young couples.

Springtime is picnic time. Send for Martha Carr's free list of picnic games. Please inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Plenty of Time

By Ruth Millett

A WIFE wants justification for her stand that there will be plenty of time for her and her husband to do things together after the children are grown. Her husband would like to have her go on an occasional business trip with him. He has even tried to get her to go fishing. And he can't understand why she won't get a baby sitter and go out in the evening once a week with other couples.

RUTH MILLETT

But she always turns him down because she says she would worry about the children every minute she was away from them. And she asks, "Don't you think I'm right? After all, there will be plenty of time for all those things once the children are grown."

★ ★ ★

HOW CAN any woman be sure there will be plenty of time for her husband later, when she looks around and sees how many middle-aged widows there are leading lonely lives? And how can any wife fail to understand that if a husband and wife are going to be companionable in their later years and happy with just each other, that they have to start building that kind of companionship while they are still young. .

And there is also this to consider. It is not only good for parents to get away by themselves once in a while, it is also good for children to have their parents get away now and then, so that the children can learn to adjust to being cared for by someone other than "Mom." And if a woman can never bring herself to leave her children when they are small, what makes her think she will be able to turn them loose to lead their own lives when they are old enough to break away?

Beauty After 40

By Edyth Thornton McLeod

WHEN your hair has no "body" and won't even hold a curl for 24 hours and when dampness makes it floppy, you need a new permanent. The experts who design home permanents say that you need at least three permanents a year to keep your hair looking its best. Of course, you may need more if you have your hair cut or thinned often. If you wear eyeglasses all the time, keep away from bangs, forward curls and flat tops. Avoid width-at-the-sides hair styles and beware of a "hooded" look in both hats and hairdos.

The After-forty woman looks best with an upswept line at the sides and it is especially becoming at the back of the neck. The new opera-length in bead ropes is filled in by shorter and shorter strings of beads. Your dress should be a plain, untrimmed affair which will act as a backdrop for the glittering shower of beads. Of course, if you have an "important" bosom, this style is not for you.

★ ★ ★

COATS WITH the short or three-quarter length sleeves need the eight-button length gloves. White hats look smartest with pale beige veiling, never white. Button earrings in the exact color of your hat is a new idea and very flattering. Velvet hats, which will be worn all summer, have velvet button earrings to match.

Pale blue and beige-pink is a charming combination for the After-forty woman. This isn't a "sweet" combination but it is very fashionable.

Hints for Overcoming Shyness

IF you're shy yourself, try putting another shy person at ease. This means so much to the other person — but it means even more to you. In thinking of someone else, you forget yourself. And there's no better way than that to make your own shyness disappear.

Approach the shy person armed with a subject to talk about, a subject you're sure he is interested in and knows something about.

IT'S AMAZING how often a person who had so little to say before turns out to be quite a conversationalist when the right subject comes up. Start the subject, then listen with real interest. The compliment of your attention does wonders. Of course it does, because the true reason for shyness is the fear of being unable to attract and hold the attention of others.

To the shy person, you suddenly realize, you have the appearance of confidence. Now take the next step. Turn the appearance into the real thing. Try the same approach on someone else, someone you never thought shy at all. You'll be delighted to find it works just as well this time.

★ ★ ★

ACTUALLY, everyone has a certain amount of shyness by nature.

Some people are merely better at concealing it than others. There are times when the sure aren't quite so sure. Remember this, and your own shyness diminishes rapidly.

The Little Woman

A Singing Lesson for the Husband

By Clarissa Start

I WAS sitting in bed nursing a cold the other evening and the man of the house, to keep me company, was sitting on the velveteen boudoir chair listening to the bedside clock radio. One of those sister teams was singing.

Clarissa Start.

"I can't understand a word they've said so far," he complained after a couple of bars of music.

"They're singing, 'It may sound silly but I still love you although you broke my heart'," I explained, "and the reason you don't understand it is because they sing it, 'It may so-hound si-hilly but I sti-hill lo-hove yo-hoo.'"

"It so-hounds si-hilly to me," he said. "Is that those De-Something sisters?"

★ ★ ★

"THIS HAPPENS to be the McGuire sisters," I said, "but it doesn't matter. They all sound alike. It's the pattern. Either singers put those extra syllables in or they sing things that don't make any sense like Sshboom and Tweedledeedee or they sing with themselves."

"They what?"

"Double and triple recording processes. A trio but it's all the same gal, or like Rosemary Clooney in 'Hey There'."

"Oh." He sounded gloomy. "Whatever happened to Benny Goodman?"

"I have it on good authority that he sits in his bedroom listening to the radio and asking his wife, 'Whatever happened to Artie Shaw?'"

The disc jockey announced, "Don't Be Angry," which came out, "Do-lo-lo-hon't bea angrea." Next was "Hearts and Flowers" ("ju-hust le-het me-he cry-hy.") Then, "Si-hincerely," and "The do-oor is sti-hill o-hopen in my hea-heart."

"At least it's confusing to the Communists," he grumbled.

"You should listen to the radio more often," I said. "These things grow on you. Have you heard 'Cherry Pink and Apple Blossom White' or is it 'Apple Pink and Cherry Blossom White?' Do you know the difference between 'Rock Love' and 'Mambo Rock?'"

★ ★ ★

THE DeCASTRO singers were chanting, "My-hy ba-haby do-hon't ca-hare no-ho mo-ore." He brightened.

"I've heard that one."

"You're late, bud. It's gone off the top pops. How do you expect to keep up with the boy when he grows up?"

"By then they'll have a new set of nonsense. Maybe they'll do something radical and revive good jazz again."

We listened to something called "Ouig Ouich," and Nat "King" Cole doing, "Darling, Je Vous Aime Beaucoup." The man muttered something about it being good to hear someone singing in English.

"I remember when my parents couldn't understand those songs you thought were hot stuff. Remember, 'You push the middle valve down?' Remember, 'It's delightful-delicious-delovely?' Remember, 'Hey nonny nonny and a ha-cha-cha?'"

Womanlike, I had the last word.

"Hey, Kokomo."

Finish Off Diet With Exercise

By Josephine Lowman

TOMORROW will be the last day of your Nine-Day Reducing Diet and I want to give you three exercises today which you can take with you, along with your lighter poundage, into the days to come.

1. Lie on the floor on your back, arms resting on the floor a little out from your sides. Make large circles with your left leg. Keep your knees stiff throughout this exercise. Bring the leg forward-upward and as close to the floor as possible on the sideward downward swing back to place. Make the circle large. After circling a while with the left leg do the same thing with the right leg.

2. Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor, extending straight out from your armpits. Your palms are toward the floor. Keep your heels on the floor as you roll from side to side, as far in each direction as possible. Cling to the floor with your finger tips.

3. Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor overhead and your legs straight. Bend the left knee up close to your abdomen. As you straighten the left leg, bend the right. Continue, with one leg straightening as the other bends. The feet do not touch the floor after you start this exercise but you should bring the heels as close to the floor as you can without touching.

(Ninth Day.)

BREAKFAST

One poached egg.
One thin slice whole wheat toast.
One cup coffee.

LUNCHEON

Two tablespoons cottage cheese.
One-half grapefruit.

DINNER

Broiled liver.
One portion spinach.
One portion beets.
One glass skimmed milk.
One orange.

If you lost out on my Nine-Day Diet, which gives you a loss of from 5 to 10 pounds in nine days' time, and would like to have it, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for my Nine-Day Reducing Diet booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of the Post-Dispatch.

Set a Striking Table

By Elizabeth Hillyer

CHINA, a while back, was always patterned. Every piece on the table matched every other piece. Dinnerware of lesser quality came in first in plain colors, but china followed, every piece with no pattern at all.

Then pattern returned, simple contemporary motifs often quite unlike anything that had been seen on china before.

Now there's another idea and a good one, the combination of patterned and plain china. The sketch shows a dessert setting with china in an excellent new quality designed by Raymond Loewy. The plate, cup and saucer are white with a harlequin design in shades of blue and brown and bright engraved gold; and the coffee pot, sugar and creamer are a new luminous, somewhat metallic crystalline taupe or blue.

The plain and the pattern bring out the best in each other and set a handsome table.

MISS M. O. "My kitchen wallpaper is a soft, medium green, with wavy gold lines enclosing leaves in several shapes, in lighter greens, yellow, black, and white. The floor is two-tone green, and the cabinets are white. What can I choose that will be a bit different for curtains for the two windows almost two yards wide, and one about a yard high? The room needs something for accent."

Yellow curtains, with some novel trim in green to match the paper, would accent this color scheme. A look at the many interesting trimmings by the yard in the stores will give you inspiration.

Now's a good time to make plans—before you begin to shop for new furniture. Send for Elizabeth Hillyer's leaflet "Seven Point Plan for Home Furnishings Buying" and profit by expert advice. The leaflet is yours for the asking and a stamped, self-addressed envelope sent with your request to Miss Hillyer at the Post-Dispatch.

Glistening Shoe Leathers

Glistening leathers in pretty pastels are featured for shoes for festive occasions. The bare type of sandal is noteworthy and often is trimmed with embroidered designs or flower-like appliques. Both the high heels and medium heels are liked this season.

Bright Colored Hats

Bright colored hats are advocated for wear with black or navy costumes. The ensembles in black or navy are exceptionally popular now and are brightened by hats of poppy red, Kelly green, and orchid tones. Pink shades also are liked for hats to wear with the dark colored costumes.

Water-Thinned Wax

It's not a good idea to use a water-thinned wax on a shellacked floor because the water in the way may turn the shellac white in spots.

Today's Pattern

713
SIZES S10—12, M14—16, L18—20

Pattern 713: Tissue pattern, transfers, directions for making a long or short wrap-around apron. Sizes Small (10, 12); Medium (14, 16); Large (18, 20). State size.

Hat Trends

Deep-brimmed bonnets are among the larger hats arriving in the stores. Linen-like straw models are especially new-looking. The natural colored straw is accented in these bonnets with a cloche emphasis. Facing of a bright colored silk, such as royal blue or Kelly green, is characteristic. Some of the bonnets are trimmed with garlands of flowers that give a little-girl accent to the silhouette.

Board and battan doors often warp unless they are properly braced. A good brace for this type of door consists of an X made on the inside of the door out of two 1 by 2 inch boards screwed into place.

280 HORSEPOWER PACKARD "FOUR-HUNDRED"

the New PACKARD
with Torsion-Level Ride

Smooths the Road
...Levels the Load
Automatically

Here's comfort you've dreamed of . . . and a ride to set you dreaming! It's the new Packard Torsion-Level Ride—a new system of suspension eliminating conventional coil and leaf springs to give you comfort unequaled by any car . . . whether the road be super-smooth concrete or rugged, rutted gravel.

In other cars, twisting forces due to wheel shocks are transmitted to the frame. You submit to the resulting pitch and bounce . . . the car is subjected to wracking of frame and body. But with Packard Torsion-Level Suspension, these same twisting forces are transmitted along the new torsion bar system, and absorbed before they can reach either frame or passengers. And an ingenious power-controlled levelizer automatically compensates for changes in passenger and luggage load.

All this is yours in the new Packard . . . all this, plus the tremendous power of the new "free-breathing" V-8 engine developing 275 horsepower in the Caribbean and 260 in the Patrician and Four Hundred models. Plus, too, the smooth response of the new Packard Twin Ultramatic—actually two transmissions in one. All this in a setting of magnificent luxury and beauty. See and drive this one new car in the fine car field. "Ask The Man Who Owns One."

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE

THE room was pulsating with music and the laughter of the after-theater crowd. "We've got to get out of here," Nate Cox said, looking around for their waiter. "If Anton Spivak is in Washington there's not a minute to lose."

He and Susan went out into the February night. There was no snow, but a full moon shone with icy impartiality on the buildings, gleaming wanly on the capitol dome. It was cold. Susan shivered.

"We'll go to the FBI first," Nate continued, as the attendant brought his car from the parking lot, "and see what plans are to be formulated. I want you with me. It won't be safe for you to be alone from here on out."

From the tension in his voice she knew that the climax of the investigation was close at hand. The office of the FBI was brilliantly lighted, teeming with activity even at this hour. "Wait in my office," Nate said, snapping on the lights. "I'll be right with you."

Susan sat on the edge of the desk, looking out of place in her velvet skirt and frilly blouse. On the wall she noticed Nate's diploma from the University; his discharge from the armed forces, pictures of his parents now deceased. More than ever she had a feeling of belonging to this man she loved and she was afraid, too. For tonight spelled danger for the one who was responsible for tracking down the leak of information from Los Alamos.

It was half an hour before Nate returned. The tenderness had vanished from his manner. He was once again Nathanial Cox, a Federal agent. "It's a good thing we had this tip-off from Havana, Susan. Because according to our information tonight is the big meeting we've been waiting for. Spivak is in Washington now and we have every reason to believe he is the head of the Communist cell. The one which has been assigned to espionage at Los Alamos."

* * *

SUSAN shuddered. "You mean Anton Spivak is the leader of the group which Ricky Martinez belongs to? And Sonia?"

"Yes. And as you know they've been trying to meet secretly but without much success. Apparently they wish to transfer something important. Probably to Spivak to smuggle back behind the iron curtain. The latest A-bomb information, no doubt."

"Then Spivak was the one who was supposed to appear at the New Mexico meeting? The one we intercepted?"

"I'm sure of it.

"And you remember the latest broadcast from Havana said the meeting would be held again in New Mexico? That was an obvious ruse to focus our attention out there and away from Washington. Actually the meeting is to be here and tonight. Spivak cannot afford a delay."

Too nervous to sit down, Susan paced the floor. "But why did this man go to Havana to see Angela?"

"Probably to find out how much she knew. He wasn't worried about her identifying him because he has many disguises. In any case by the time she could do it, he would be out of the country again. If Angela had actually known what Ricky was doing Spivak would have killed her. The fact that he didn't shows better than anything else that Angela was not actually involved."

He had to smile. "Darling, the FBI is not run by grade school detectives. We have ways to find out things. We're big boys, remember?"

For a moment the warm intimacy was re-established between them, then the phone rang.

* * *

"What are we going to do?" Susan asked.

The harsh light in the office revealed the lines of anxiety in the FBI agent's face. Anxiety which was foreign to most faces so young. Susan again realized the tremendous sacrifice he had made to continue his Government work.

"We are not going to do anything. I'm sending you back to your apartment and a guard is going with you to sit outside your door all night. Another man will watch from the street."

"No." Susan cried, alarmed. "I'm going with you. I haven't been through all these months of investigation only to be shoved aside when the case finally breaks." She put her arms around him. "Nate, I'm afraid. . . . You must let me go with you. I'll be safer with you, no matter where you are, than in that apartment even with two Federal men. Nate, please . . ."

In the end he yielded, realizing the truth of her words. Other witnesses had disappeared or been killed even though they were guarded by Federal agents. At least if Susan were with him he could be responsible for her physical safety.

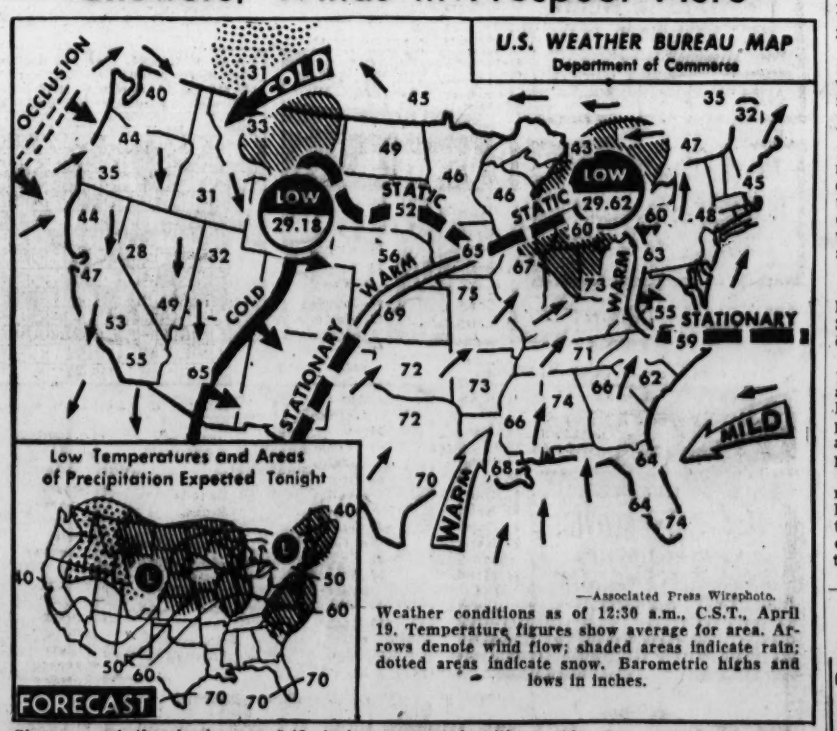

He glanced at his watch. "The meeting will be at 2 a.m. The place is an old house converted into apartments near the railroad station. We'll have the place surrounded. All we have to do is let them walk into the trap."

Showers, Winds in Prospect Here

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

Weather conditions as of 12:30 a.m., C.S.T., April 19. Temperature figures show average for area. Arrows denote wind flow; shaded areas indicate rain; dotted areas indicate snow. Barometric highs and lows in inches.

Showers and thundershowers accompanied by strong winds can be expected again tonight and tomorrow, Weatherman Harry F. Wahlgren said today. A total of .08 of an inch of rain fell downtown in yesterday's brief but hard shower.

Only a trace of rain was recorded at Lambert-St. Louis Field as the wet weather confined itself to the downtown area. Total rainfall this year is 8.49 inches compared with a normal of 10.31. Last year at this time only 5.30 inches had fallen.

High temperature yesterday was 86 degrees, recorded at 3 p.m. While Wahlgren agreed that was hot weather for this time of year he pointed out it was far short of the record for April 18—99 degrees. That mark was set 100 years ago.

Highest temperature in the country yesterday was at Presidio, Tex., where the mercury climbed to 100 for the second consecutive day. At Burns, Ore., this morning the temperature was 15, the nation's low.

Hot weather continued in the southern states, where temperatures were generally in the low 90s. Birmingham, Ala., with 90 yesterday tied its record high for this early in the year. The record was set Sunday. Macon, Ga., and Montgomery, Ala., also reported highs of 90.

Uncle Ray's Column

By Ramon Coffman

TWENTY-EIGHT years ago Charles Lindbergh made his lone-eagle flight across the Atlantic, from New York to Paris.

As if to show what they could do, a flock of lapwings crossed the Atlantic during the same year. They flew from Europe to Canada, landing on the Labrador coast.

Only a little public notice greeted the flight of the lapwings, but there was reason to make a note of the event. Lapwings are birds of the Old World. They migrate between Europe and Africa, but seem never to cross the Atlantic except in case of accident. At the time of which I speak, they were driven westward by strong winds, and once they were well started they kept going.

* * *

LAPWINGS may soar to a height of a mile or a bit more. Sometimes they fly at the rate of 50 miles an hour.

These birds belong to the plover family, and sometimes are called green plovers. They have green feathers on their upper parts, along with some blue and purple feathers. The lower parts are white.

The common lapwings of Europe are from 11 to 13 inches long. They make their nests on the ground, and place pointed eggs inside, usually four eggs to a nest.

A LAPWING.

When people come near their nests, the adult birds try to lead them away. Like a mother killdeer plover, the mother lapwing may pretend to be lame while hopping from the nest. This action is meant to lead an enemy in the wrong direction.

LAPWINGS of Europe, including the British Isles, utter the cry of "pee-weet." In India, on the other hand, there are lapwings which call out something close to the words "pity to do it."

Egypt has lapwings, and they are known as blackheaded plovers, also as spur-winged lapwings. Some of them have the special name of crocodile birds, because they stay near crocodiles in upper parts of the Nile river. They are daring enough to walk on crocodiles while looking for leeches, skin bugs and other pests.

THE PILGRIMS' BIG MISTAKE

Probably the biggest mistake made by the Plymouth colony was their failure to include cattle for the colony. It was three years before the first cattle arrived. During that time dietary ills caused many deaths.
